Schlafly would go it alone in run for Percy's seat

by STEVE BROWN
Of our Springfield bureau

The candidacy of conservative Phyllis Schlafly of Alton for the U.S. Senate will be an uphill fight and will not be buoyed by support from fellow conservative leader U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, the congressman said Tuesday.

Schlafly, 52, will decide by Dec. 1 whether to oppose Sen. Charles Percy for Republican support in the primary next year, and speculation about her candidacy has touched off a flurry of private speculation about the "unbeatability" of Percy.

Mrs. Schlafly said the ratification of the Panama Canal treaties is the No. 1 issue. Crane said the treaties' issue could make Percy vulnerable but that he (Crane) stays out of Republican primary fights, and he will in this one.

PERCY, WHO HAS not curried favor of conservative Republicans in Illinois, publicly is undecided on canal treaty ratification, but has been rated as one of a handful of Republican senators who might back the Carter administration.

Several observers said Mrs. Schlafly has told supporters that unless Percy opposes the treaty, she would enter the race.

A recent statewide public opinion poll showed that 58 per cent of the GOP voters questioned were not strong Percy supporters. Percy was not opposed in the 1972 primary.

U.S. Senate action on the canal treaties is not expected until next year. The filing deadline for the March 1978 primary is in mid-December.

Mrs. Schlafly also identified Percy's support for the $5 million federal appropriation for the controversial International Women's Year program as another issue.

MOST REPUBLICAN officials contacted declined to make any flat-out endorsement of Mrs. Schlafly, but some suggested a primary race between the pair might divide the party.

"A good primary fight is always good for the party," said State Rep. Donald L. Totten, R-Hoffman Estates. Totten said he had heard talk of Mrs. Schlafly's candidacy, but had no firm commitment she would make the race.

Mrs. Schlafly, a vocal opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment and a frequent critic of abortion, was honored Sept. 14 in Evanston. A group of about 200 persons raised $10,000 to fund campaign efforts for state legislators opposed to ERA ratification.

MRS. SCHLAFLY said many people have been calling and writing, asking her to make the race.

"They asked me not to say no for the time being and I told them that is what I would do," she said.

Mrs. Schlafly said she would not consider running as an independent candidate, bypassing the Republican primary. She ran unsuccessfully for Congress in 1970.

Currently a law student, Mrs. Schlafly also is known as a newspaper columnist and a commentator for the CBS radio network.

A Schlafly candidacy also could be expected to draw financial support from outside of Illinois because she frequently makes speaking appearances across the country.

SST ruling expected

by KURT BAER

President Carter will decide this week whether the supersonic jet Concorde will be permitted to land at O'Hare or other major U.S. Airports, a White House spokesman said Tuesday.

Carter is expected to make the announcement before Saturday when a 16-month trial of the Concord approved by former Dept. of Transportation Sec. William T. Coleman Jr. expires.

But Carter has not made a decision yet, U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, said Tuesday following a meeting with Carter, U.S. Transportation Sec. Brock Adams and several other congressmen opposed to Concorde landings in the United States.

"Mr. Mikva got the feeling that Carter really hasn't made up his mind yet," Sandy Horwitt, legislative aid to Mikva, said Tuesday.

"UP UNTIL RECENTLY, most of the input to Carter has been from state department people concerned with the foreign policy implications if the SST is banned in this country," Horwitt said. "But in the past several days Carter has heard complaints that millions of people are opposed to the Concorde landing at U.S. Airports."

Horwitt said Carter may extend the trial period at Dulles Airport until more evidence is gathered about the impact of the Concorde landing at other airports.

Today, a group of congressmen who support Concorde will meet with the President and lobby for the controversial aircraft.

The President spoke only twice during Tuesday's meeting, sources said. At one point he said local airport officials would have the final decision over Concorde operations if he approves expanded landing rights.

SUBURBAN RESIDENTS opposed to the plane using O'Hare fear Chicago officials will approve the Concorde if given the chance because studies by the Federal Aviation Administration show the added jet noise would be directed over the Northwest and west suburbs, not the city.

Suburban residents who live under O'Hare's flight patterns are "victims of an unusual absentee landlord relationship," Mikva has said. "Chicago owns and operates O'Hare but is connected to it only by a mythical one-inch strip."

Noise measurements taken at Washington, D.C.'s Dulles Airport show the Concorde is twice as loud as conventional jets on takeoff with about the same noise level as subsonic jets on approaches.

Vietnam 149th member of U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. General Assembly opened its 1977 session Tuesday and admitted a unified Vietnam as its 149th member, symbolizing worldwide recognition of the end of the conflict that cost more than 50,000 American lives.

The start of the 32nd General Assembly was delayed two hours because Vietnam's sister Communist nation in Southeast Asia, Cambodia, insisted on the right to vote without paying $36,984 on its overdue membership fees.

Wednesday morning, the Communist Vietnamese flag — gold star on red field — will be raised over the United Nations to flutter on an American skyline officially for the first time.

ON HAND TO welcome the world body's newest member was U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young as representative of the host country. It was exactly two months ago that Washington, confronted by the wrath of dozens of nations, decided to give up opposing Security Council endorsement of Vietnam's membership.

Tuesday's admission of Vietnam and Djibouti, a former French colony squeezed between wartorn Ethiopia and Somalia on the Horn of Africa, was a formality — albeit a lengthy one. Some 50 nations stood in line to extend their welcome, mostly to Hanoi.

As one U.N. source put it, the presence of Vietnam "adds an element of glamor which has not always attended admissions."

Vietnam and Djibouti were admitted by acclamation, part of the deal that ended — at least temporarily — the squabble over the Cambodian dues. The United Nations and Cambodia reached an understanding that the first three votes in the Assembly would be by acclamation, thus Phnom Penh would not cast an individual vote.

TWO OF THE THREE votes were on the admissions. The third was on the election of Yugoslav's Lazar Mojsov as the Assembly's new president.

At 6:03 p.m. EDT, Mojsov announced, "I declare the Socialist Republic of Vietnam admitted to membersip in the United Nations."

Andrew Young did not smile but did join the round of applause that greeted Mojsov's pronouncement.

The admissions were virtually the only piece of real business on the opening day of the 32nd General Assembly.

Businessmen express opposition to underpass

by BILL HILL

Heavy opposition to plans for an underpass at Arlington Heights Road and the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks was registered Monday night at a public hearing attended by some 150 persons.

About 20 persons voiced objections to the proposal, including the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and three financial institutions.

No support was offered by members of the audience for the underpass plan recommended by the engineering consultant firm of Metcalf & Eddy Inc., Des Plaines. The project is expected to cost $8.6 million.

"You asked for it and I think you are hearing the will of the people tonight," said Edmund Pawelko, president of the chamber of commerce.

"WE ARE AWARE that the situation at Arlington Heights Road and the railroad crossing needs to be improved and we agree that the sooner this happens the better it will be," Pawelko said. "However, we do not want to see the CBD (central business district) crippled in order to move traffic on one street more rapidly. We feel that several of the recommended alternative plans will do just that," he said.

Of the five alternatives described by Gary Alstot of Metcalf & Eddy, the plan they recommended was the "least acceptable," Pawelko said.

The recommended plan calls for Arlington Heights Road to run under the railway tracks and also for the depression of Northwest Highway to the same level as Arlington Heights Road.

THAT PLAN WOULD cause the relocation of nine businesses and the closing of the Evergreen Avenue railroad crossing. It also would eliminate the access of Davis and Wing streets to Arlington Heights Road.

First Arlington National Bank and Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Assn., both located at the intersection of Evergreen and Davis streets, would be greatly affected by the underpass and its related improvements, said the presidents of the two financial institutions. They asked that economic impact and traffic studies be conducted before proceeding with plans for an underpass.

A final decision by the village board on the underpass proposal is not likely before the end of the year.

Federal financing to cover 70 per cent of the $8.6 million project has been obtained, with the state and village expected to divide the remaining 30 per cent.

RTA gas tax delayed for at least 30 days

Motorists will get a 30-day reprieve from the Regional Transportation Authority's 5 per cent gas tax that will soon be adding about 2.8 cents to the price of a gallon of gas.

Originally scheduled to take effect Oct. 1, the gas tax now is estimated to start Nov. 1, and even that date is tentative.

"There is no really firm date," said Alan Pegg, accounting manager for the RTA. "We're aiming for Nov. 1, but there are details yet to be worked out between us and the Dept. of Revenue."

Approved in June after lengthy board battle, the gas tax is designed to bail the RTA out of a $55.5 million deficit. Without the tax, the RTA would have been forced to cut service throughout the region.

THE TAX IS estimated to produce $72-80 million a year with the suburbs bearing the brunt of the tax. Suburban residents, who use their cars more often, would pay about 66 per cent of the tax, while city residents would pay an estimated 34 per cent.

The RTA ordinance authorizing the tax sets Nov. 1 for the target date, but agency officials had wanted to implement the tax by Oct. 1.

Confusion over who was to collect the tax — the RTA or the revenue department — has caused some delay. And a court battle over the legality of the gas tax is an additional obstacle.

A lawsuit challenging the RTA tax has been dismissed by a Lake County Circuit Court judge. The suit by three suburban RTA directors alleged that RTA director Patrick L. O'Malley acted improperly in voting for the gas tax on June 30 because he previously had submitted his resignation.

The first Christians to go, Jill said, will just disappear.

That was Aug. 23. The whispering started almost immediately.

It started at an assembly line in Carol Stream where Jill had worked for about three weeks inserting circuits into Motorola products.

JOYCE BATEMAN, 21, of Hanover Park, had worked on that line too. Joyce Bateman also disappeared without warning.

But she had been found — dead — along a rural road in Grundy County in July. Her nude body was so badly decomposed that authorities never were able to determine how she died.

"It's too much of a coincidence," the whisperers said.

The coincidence was not lost on the Grundy County Sheriff's Dept., which had been grasping at straws in search of Joyce Bateman's killer. They began investigating to see if there could be a link.

ON SEPT. 6, the whispers grew louder.

That was the day that Schiller Park police found a woman lying near death in a wooded area off Irving Park Road. She had been beaten severely.

When no one claimed her, her description was broadcast nationwide: white female, late teens or early 20s, 5-foot-5, 110 pounds, reddish blonde hair, hazel eyes, freckles across the nose.

Jill's acquaintances were eager to report her description: white female, age 19, 5-foot-4, 130 pounds, sandy hair, hazel eyes, freckles.

They also saw the photographs on television and in the newspapers of the beaten girl waking unconscious at Resurrection Hospital in Chicago to

A captive audience for one-liners

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Comr. H. Keith Byram looked out over Division 60 of the Los Angeles traffic courts from his bench one recent Monday morning.

The basketball court-sized room was wall to wall with people — 508 of them — waiting to enter pleas to offenses ranging from jaywalking to speeding.

The Los Angeles traffic courts are the busiest in the world. Last year, including parking violations, they took in $37 million in fines. More than 70,000 motorists showed up with moving violation tickets.

AND IN BYRAM'S court the sessions are not only the busiest, they are the funniest. It is one of the best shows in town, even if you are one of the culprits.

Byram sighed and plunged into the day's work. First he read them their legal rights and within minutes the apprehensive crowd began to relax as they realized the judge was no ogre, but more a would-be comedian who seemed to have found his niche with one-liners from the bench.

You are presumed innocent until proved guilty, Byram said. You can plead not guilty and have a trial. You can plead guilty with an explanation and hope it's good enough to get you off. Or you can plead guilty and go to traffic school. OK, let's go.

Then he got down to business:

TO A MAN charged with speeding who argued no one obeyed the 55 mph limit — "I know that everybody in this town is going 63. But 80? Fifty dollars."

A teen-ager charged with drag racing — "Maybe this will teach you not to pop your weenies in front of the local gendarmes."

An elderly man, claiming his speedometer was off, who said "I think the car is guilty" — "I like your story, sir. Case dismissed."

A woman who had failed to pay the remaining $5 of a fine and said she would have to go to jail because she didn't have the rest — "You'd rather go to jail than pay $5? You ever been in that place? Oh, for Pete's sake. Case dismissed. Get out of here."

A MAN WHO had failed repeatedly to pay his fine — "Next time bring the money or bring a toothbrush."

Most of those in the courtroom chose to plead guilty and go to traffic school. Their cases took less than 10 seconds.

During a brief recess, Byram relaxed in his chambers. He himself is a former police officer, an investigator for the state attorney general's office and a lawyer until his appointment as commissioner three years ago.

He was asked about his apparently unflappable good nature and whether he could keep it up year after year.

"Well, I've done so pretty well for three years," he said. "Why not a little levity in the court? Hell, these people aren't criminals. They feel bad enough without a judge chewing them out."

Mideast tenses; Begin offers cease fire

Israeli jets streaked over South Lebanon Tuesday and PLO leader Yasser Arafat accused Israel of "barbaric bombardment" of Palestinian positions inside Lebanon. Israeli Premier Menahem Begin offered to negotiate a cease-fire.

Israel ordered its troops along the border on alert against possible Syrian intervention and sealed off all roads leading to the frontier area.

Witnesses reported seeing Israeli jets over the Biblical port cities of Tyre and Sidon and said Israeli armored vehicles were seen crossing the border.

ARAFAT SENT urgent appeals to Arab leaders.

"I call upon you to stand by the Palestinian revolution, which stands alone in the face of the Israeli enemy," Arafat said in telegrams to Arab leaders. He said the situation along the border was "aggravating hour by hour" and needed a "quick remedy by all possible means."

Lebanese Christian leader Pierre Gemayel countered by accusing Arafat of trying to "lead the Arabs into another war with Israel."

Syria, whose 30,000 troops comprise the bulk of the Arab league peacekeeping force in Lebanon, warned Israel against any escalation of the fighting which has raged for five days over strategic hill positions near the Israeli frontier.

IN TEL AVIV, the state-run radio announced that Israel had warned Syria through the United States not to intervene.

Begin, speaking to reporters in Tel Aviv, said, "We are prepared at any time to start negotiations for a general cease-fire in southern Lebanon.

"I think we shall make it possible, if there is a serious proposal," he said. "We are prepared to negotiate a cease-fire immediately."

Begin's statement was the first official acknowledgement of the Jewish state's role in the fighting between Christian and Palestinian-leftist forces.

AS BEGIN spoke, UPI correspondent Richard C. Gross reported from the Israeli frontier settlement of Misgav-Am that sporadic artillery fire hit targets in the Palestinian-held village of El Khaim, 10 miles to the northwest.

Columns of thick gray smoke piled into the sky from within the town as each shell hit.

In Washington, the State Department Tuesday described the Lebanon situation as "extremely complicated" and urged restraint on all sides.

A State Department spokesman said President Carter discussed the increased fighting with Isaeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan during meetings today with President Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, but gave no details.

Power failure blacks out Quebec

MONTREAL (UPI) — A massive power failure caused by transformer trouble in the far north Tuesday blacked out Quebec, Canada's largest province, halting air traffic, trapping hundreds of people in elevators and causing a rash of accidents in the vehicle-snarled city streets.

Police reported only a small increase in attempted robberies at downtown Montreal stores and offices, but feared a surge of petty crime in the still-darkened residential suburbs as a rain-swept night fell.

Traffic accidents in downtown Montreal and in the provincial capital, Quebec City, 170 miles to the north, almost doubled at the peak of the blackout as homegoing crowds snarled the streets.

HYDRO-QUEBEC, the government-owned power company, said electricity had been restored to much of the province within three hours of the 2:25 p.m. failure but Montreal and Quebec City still had darkened sections after five hours.

Despite the increase in attempted breakins, Police Constable Norm Couillard said there had been no reports of looting.

A fire department spokesman said, "There were certainly hundreds of people caught in elevators, mostly in office and apartment buildings," but no injuries were reported and most of those trapped were rescued promptly.

Dorval airport, the busy traffic center handling flights in Canada and to-and-from the United States, was closed as a safety precaution when the radar system failed.

Many aircraft were ordered into a holding pattern pending restoration of radar and runway landing lights, and others were diverted to Ottawa some 120 miles to the west until service was restored at Dorval.

HOSPITALS SWITCHED to private emergency generators immediately and authorities reported no interruption of patient care.

The power failure apparently was caused by a malfrunction in a transformer located at Montagnais, about 350 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The power blackout struck while most available police and firefighters were struggling to contain a general alarm fire which swept through the province's largest psychiatric hospital, the Lafontaine Hospital, in Montreal's east end. More than 600 patients were rescued unharmed although much of the hospital complex was destroyed. Four persons including three firemen received minor injuries.

The city's many bars, particularly those in the hotels which could function under emergency power, did a roaring business. Many shops closed down and employes with flashlights directed would-be shoppers to the exits.

Those stores that remained open, by candlelight or generator power, sold large numbers of flashlights, candles and even small transistor radios.

Citizens organizing noise protest

by THOMAS LEE

More than 4,000 Northwest suburban residents are expected to join a protest against airplane noise from O'Hare Airport — and against proposed use of O'Hare by the Concorde supersonic jetliner.

Neighbors of O'Hare are organizing a letter-writing campaign to President Carter and other high-level federal officials to lodge the protest.

The campaign is centered in Orchard Place, a neighborhood south of Touhy Avenue and east of Mannheim Road. But sponsors predict it will spread to other nearby communities also affected by airport noise.

Each letter will carry only one signature, thus creating what sponsors hope will be a flood of mail to Carter and four other officials. The others are Langhorne Bond, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration; Douglas M. Costle, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; Brock Adams, secretary of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation; and U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

VOLUNTEERS ARE going door-to-door in Des Plaines to woo support. So far, sponsors say, the campaign has met no resistance.

The letter is addressed to Carter and states:

"As a resident of the Orchard Place community of the City of Des Plaines, Ill., I feel it is a top priority that the ever-increasing excessive airplane noise be curtailed immediately.

"Facts are that the hearing and health of our children and community as a whole are greatly affected by the excessive noise, causing hearing loss, stress, headaches, frayed nerves, and invasion of domestic tranquility and our general welfare. It is also detrimental to the education and study habits of our children both at home and in our local schools.

"SINCE OUR government is supposed to be for and by the people, . . . I support immediate regulations curtailing noise pollution caused by the airplanes at O'Hare Airport as well as any other airport.

"I further am thoroughly against the Concorde coming to our area as well as the United States of America as a whole, because of opposition to excessive noise levels . . ."

The campaign was spawned by Patricia Galla, 2720 Scott St., Des Plaines, legislative chairman of the Orchard Place PTA.

Mrs. Galla said her PTA chapter is the impetus behind the drive. She said it has had offers of support from other local PTA chapters and from the Des Plaines League of Women Voters.

KATHLEEN LUCKRITZ, voter-service chairman of the Des Plaines league, said the league agreed to publish the letter in the organization's upcoming bulletin. Individual league members then may reproduce the letter in whole or in part and mail it to whomever they wish, Mrs. Luckritz said.

Mrs. Galla said the campaign is only 10 days old but already has won overwhelming support from volunteers and residents who have been asked to sign letters.

"I have some volunteers who have taken 500 letters and come back and asked for more," Mrs. Galla said.

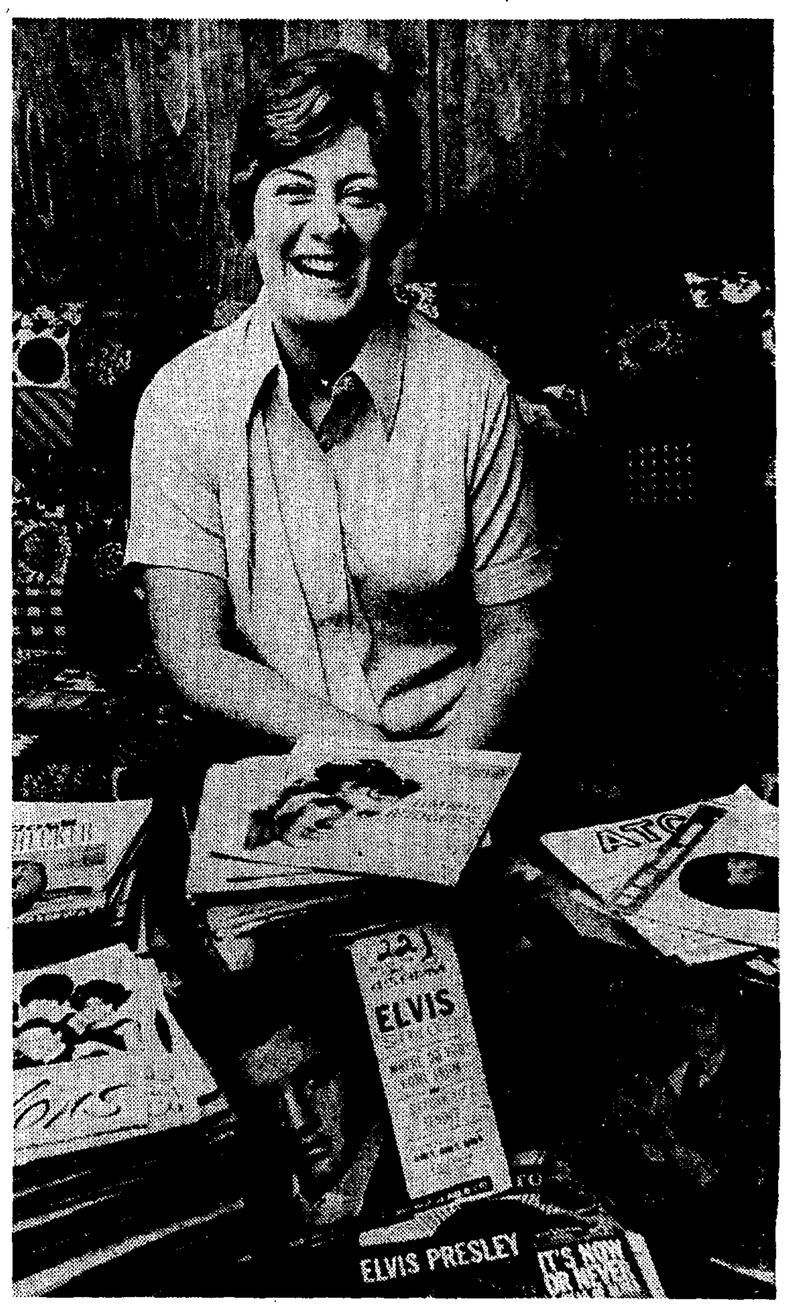
She said she fervently believes the campaign will have an effect in Washington. "If I didn't, I wouldn't be doing this."

MRS. GALLA said a letter-writing campaign on the same subject last year failed to generate much support. She suspects its fatal flaw was reliance upon individuals to draft their own letters, she said.

This campaign, on the contrary, uses a form letter and merely asks for a signature to indicate support. Mrs. Galla said she believes the difference will mean support for this campaign where last year's campaign failed.

She said she expects to get 4,000 supporters in the Orchard Place neighborhood alone. The neighborhood has roughly 40 small blocks.

"We have not had one negative response yet," she said. "I have had people calling me, strangers, asking for letters and volunteering support."



CAROL McCLUNG, 5720 Tiburon Ct., Hanover Park, now a mother of two, plans to sell all those 45s that she bought for 49 cents as a child. There might be quite a profit in them. She says last year, original Elvis Presley records were selling for $150 to $200 in California.

Evel Knievel to receive money for car repairs

• Universal Studios will pay Evel Knievel $9,588 to repair his Stutz automobile damaged when it was stolen during the filming of a "Bionic Woman" episode last month. The whie car, valued at more than $100,000, was taken by a man who told Knievel he had been asked to move the car because it was blocking traffic. Knievel reportedly gave him the keys and the man tried to drive the car away, panicking when stopped by a security guard and crashing into a gate.

Evel Knievel

• Webb A. Everett, 82, a former secretary of the Arington Park Race Track, will be buried today in California. He died Sunday in his Beverly Hills home. A veteran horse racing official, Everett was responsible for developing the system of classifying horses now used throughout the United States. In 1957, he married Marjorie Lindheimer, whose father, Benjamin Lindheimer, owned Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises, which operated Arlington and Washington parks. Everett served as racing secretary to both parks from 1942 to 1944. Mrs. Everett, who by the mid-1960s was the dominant race track owner in the state, was a key prosecution witness in the race track stock fraud trial of former Gov. Otto Kerner. In 1969, the Everetts sold the tracks and moved to the West Coast, where Everett retired a year later.

• Farrah Fawcett-Majors wore a gold faucet-shaped pendant Monday night at a reception introducing a new line of jewelry reportedly inspired by a piece designed for her at the request of her husband, actor Lee Majors. The most expensive item, selling for $2,500, features a diamond drop at the end of an inch-long faucet. Other pendants, without the diamond, will go on sale around the country next week at prices ranging from $15 for a gold-plated faucet to $100 for a silver one.

• Former United Mine Workers President W. A. (Tony) Boyle was removed Tuesday from the coronary care unit of Crozer-Chester Medical Center, where he had been taken after complaining of chest pains. A hospital spokesman said there was still no diagnosis as to the exact nature of Boyle's illness.

Carter to rule on SST this week

carefully guarded secret Tuesday, sources said. "The President is a very good poker player," said U.S. Rep. Thomas J. Downey, D-New York, who attended Tuesday's meeting at the White House.

Downey said the congressmen were "strident" in their opposition to the plane.

Congressmen may have been left guessing about the plane's landing. But Aviation News Digest, published by the Exxon Corp., predicted earlier this month that the Carter administration will approve the plane for 10 U.S. cities—Chicago, Miami, Boston, Anchorage, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Honolulu, Los Angeles, Seattle and San Francisco.

Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase is among those who have pledged to fight any approval of the SST at O'Hare. Opposition groups also exist in Miami and Boston. In New York, the jet service has so far been blocked in federal courts.

THE CITIES OF Dallas-Fort Worth, however, would welcome the aircraft and have in fact applied to the Federal Aviation Administration for landing rights in cooperation with Braniff International Airlines.

Fabulous 50s up for sale as mom puts 45s on market

by JOHN LAMPINEN

When Carol McClung was 7, she got a record player for Christmas.

Soon after, she talked her mother into giving he a weekly allowance of 50 cents. She took her first half-dollar down to the store and spent 49 cents on a record of Jimmie Rodgers singing "Honeycomb."

It was 1955, and everybody who was anybody was buying 45s, those little records the deejays played and the rock 'n' roll singers made.

And Mrs. McClung never tired of buying them. Each week, she took her change down to add to her collection; when the size of the allowance increased, so did the number of 45s she bought.

"IT WAS THE idea," she recalls, "of who could have the most records by the most popular singers."

She was the easy winner. She collected about 450 of them, tunes like "Lipstick on Your Collar" by Connie Francis, "Rubber Ball" by Bobby Vee, "Teen Angel" by Mark Dinning and "It's My Party" by Lesley Gore.

They were a part of her childhood, a part of growing up in California during the Fabulous 50s, and Mrs. McClung cherished them, even into adulthood when she didn't listen to them any more.

But now, she is a mother of two children and living in Hanover Park, and she plans to sell them.

"We move around too much," she says, "and I was just afraid they are going to get broken."

AND WHEN SHE does, she expects to be able to make some good money. "Knowing what I've got, I can't let it go for pennies," she says.

In an advertisement she placed in a local newspaper last week, she highlighted her original copy of Elvis Presley's "Love Me Tender."

She has had no offers for it yet, Mrs. McClung says, but last year, her mother noticed that original 45s of Presley's songs were selling for $150 to $200.

She concedes that the Elvis record was highlighted in an attempt to take advantage of the surge in popularity of Elvis memorabilia following his death last month.

"I WASN'T EVEN that big a fan of his," Mrs. McClung says. "That's why I only got four (of his records). It just so happened that he came out with four songs I liked.

"He was one of those people that I couldn't watch perform. I was never one of those who went much for those performers who got the girls screaming."

Still, she said, she felt a certain sadness when Presley died. He had been someone "we all grew up knowing," and when he died, a certain part of her childhood died with him.

The feeling was similar this week when Mrs. McClung took her 45s out of the cartons that had gone unopened during family moves from California to three different towns in Virginia and finally to her home at 5720 Tiburon Ct.

SHE AND HER husband Michael played them for the first time in five years as they went through the records in preparation for the sale.

And it reminded Mrs. McClung of the dances she used to go to during junior high and high school and when she and a girl friend would go to the dance clubs and end up staying past dawn.

It reminded her of the summer when she had nothing to do, so she painstakingly organized her collection, logging and numbering each record according to title in alphabetical order, with "Allegheny Moon" by Patti Page first.

It reminded her of the times, when she got a little older, that she saw the Temptations and the Supremes and Tom Jones in concert and that "Boy, if you ever get a chance to see Tom Jones perform, do it; he's fantastic."

IT REMINDED her of the parties she had at her house where all those records got played, usually starting with the top of her log and progressing down the list but always with the novelty songs, "Purple People Eater" and "Does Your Chewing Gum Lose Its Flavor" her favorites.

And it reminded her that she is not a child any more.

She doesn't play records that often; she's too busy taking care of the kids. In fact, she rarely even listens to the radio.

"About the only time I really listen to it is when I'm in the car," Mrs. McClung observes. "Now, my God, I don't know any of the songs."

Lance asked lift of bank penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bert Lance personally asked a federal banking official to lift a disciplinary action against his family-owned bank last November so he would have a "clear record" when he became budget director, according to new testimony revealed Tuesday.

The written testimony from an attorney in the comptroller of the currency's office conflicted with sworn statements by Lance and Donald Tarleton, the banking official who lifted the disciplinary action 11 days before Lance's appointment was announced last Dec. 3.

In the testimony — given under oath to the Internal Revenue Service — attorney Michael Patriarca said Tarleton recalled Lance saying: "Jimmy (Carter) wants me to be the head of the OMB and I want to go into it with a clear record so, I just wondered if you could see your way clear to lift the agreement on Calhoun (First National Bank)."

PATRIARCA'S statement also indicated that Lance — after making a request on behalf of his bank — told Tarleton to come to him if he ever found anything in government that was not "right."

Patriarca said he did not hear Lance's comments personally, but was informed of them by Tarleton during a dinner conversation in February.

The attorney's testimony was made public by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, which said it received the document from the IRS Tuesday morning. The committee completed nine days of public hearings on the Lance affair Monday.

PATRIARCA TOLD IRS agents he and Tarleton discussed Lance on Feb. 23 in Cye's Rivergate Restaurant in Miami.

He quoted Tarleton saying Lance requested a meeting for Nov. 22, 1976, just 11 days before his appointment as director of the Office of Management and Budget was announced.

A year earlier, in December, 1975, Lance's Calhoun bank had signed an agreement with the comptroller's office. The agreement — a disciplinary action — barred the bank from allowing Lance and his family to continue their practice of overdrawing bank accounts.

The disciplinary order was lifted by Tarleton Nov. 22, 1976. Lance was nominated by President-elect Carter to be budget director on Dec. 3, 1976.

DURING TESTIMONY last week before the Governmental Affairs Committee, Lance testified: "I did not ask or tell Mr. Tarleton to remove the agreement between the Calhoun First National Bank and the office of the comptroller nor did I suggest or imply in any way that the agreement should be rescinded."

When Tarleton testified before the committee on Sept. 12, he said: "I wish to state my belief and recollection that at no time on November 22 or otherwise, was I ever requested to rescind the agreement by Mr. Lance."

Patriarca said he had not come forward with his information sooner because Tarleton had asked him in February to keep the conversation private.

Mideast tenses; Begin offers cease fire

Israeli jets streaked over South Lebanon Tuesday and PLO leader Yasser Arafat accused Israel of "barbaric bombardment" of Palestinian positions inside Lebanon. Israeli Premier Menahem Begin offered to negotiate a cease-fire.

Israel ordered its troops along the border on alert against possible Syrian intervention and sealed off all roads leading to the frontier area.

Witnesses reported seeing Israeli jets over the Biblical port cities of Tyre and Sidon and said Israeli armored vehicles were seen crossing the border.

ARAFAT SENT urgent appeals to Arab leaders.

"I call upon you to stand by the Palestinian revolution, which stands alone in the face of the Israeli enemy," Arafat said in telegrams to Arab leaders. He said the situation along the border was "aggravating hour by hour" and needed a "quick remedy by all possible means."

Lebanese Christian leader Pierre Gemayel countered by accusing Arafat of trying to "lead the Arabs into another war with Israel."

Syria, whose 30,000 troops comprise the bulk of the Arab league peacekeeping force in Lebanon, warned Israel against any escalation of the fighting which has raged for five days over strategic hill positions near the Israeli frontier.

IN TEL AVIV, the state-run radio announced that Israel had warned Syria through the United States not to intervene.

Begin, speaking to reporters in Tel Aviv, said, "We are prepared at any time to start negotiations for a general cease-fire in southern Lebanon.

"I think we shall make it possible, if there is a serious proposal," he said. "We are prepared to negotiate a cease-fire immediately."

Begin's statement was the first official acknowledgement of the Jewish state's role in the fighting between Christian and Palestinian-leftist forces.

AS BEGIN spoke, UPI correspondent Richard C. Gross reported from the Israeli frontier settlement of Misgav-Am that sporadic artillery fire hit targets in the Palestinian-held village of El Khaim, 10 miles to the northwest.

Columns of thick gray smoke piled into the sky from within the town as each shell hit.

In Washington, the State Department Tuesday described the Lebanon situation as "extremely complicated" and urged restraint on all sides.

A State Department spokesman said President Carter discussed the increased fighting with Isaeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan during meetings today with President Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, but gave no details.

Power failure blacks out Quebec

MONTREAL (UPI) — A massive power failure caused by transformer trouble in the far north Tuesday blacked out Quebec, Canada's largest province, halting air traffic, trapping hundreds of people in elevators and causing a rash of accidents in the vehicle-snarled city streets.

Police reported only a small increase in attempted robberies at downtown Montreal stores and offices, but feared a surge of petty crime in the still-darkened residential suburbs as a rain-swept night fell.

Traffic accidents in downtown Montreal and in the provincial capital, Quebec City, 170 miles to the north, almost doubled at the peak of the blackout as homegoing crowds snarled the streets.

HYDRO-QUEBEC, the government-owned power company, said electricity had been restored to much of the province within three hours of the 2:25 p.m. failure but Montreal and Quebec City still had darkened sections after five hours.

Despite the increase in attempted breakins, Police Constable Norm Couillard said there had been no reports of looting.

A fire department spokesman said, "There were certainly hundreds of people caught in elevators, mostly in office and apartment buildings," but no injuries were reported and most of those trapped were rescued promptly.

Dorval airport, the busy traffic center handling flights in Canada and to-and-from the United States, was closed as a safety precaution when the radar system failed.

Many aircraft were ordered into a holding pattern pending restoration of radar and runway landing lights, and others were diverted to Ottawa some 120 miles to the west until service was restored at Dorval.

HOSPITALS SWITCHED to private emergency generators immediately and authorities reported no interruption of patient care.

The power failure apparently was caused by a malfrunction in a transformer located at Montagnais, about 350 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The power blackout struck while most available police and firefighters were struggling to contain a general alarm fire which swept through the province's largest psychiatric hospital, the Lafontaine Hospital, in Montreal's east end. More than 600 patients were rescued unharmed although much of the hospital complex was destroyed. Four persons including three firemen received minor injuries.

The city's many bars, particularly those in the hotels which could function under emergency power, did a roaring business. Many shops closed down and employes with flashlights directed would-be shoppers to the exits.

Those stores that remained open, by candlelight or generator power, sold large numbers of flashlights, candles and even small transistor radios.

by THOMAS LEE

More than 4,000 Northwest suburban residents are expected to join a protest against airplane noise from O'Hare Airport — and against proposed use of O'Hare by the Concorde supersonic jetliner.

Neighbors of O'Hare are organizing a letter-writing campaign to President Carter and other high-level federal officials to lodge the protest.

The campaign is centered in Orchard Place, a neighborhood south of Touhy Avenue and east of Mannheim Road. But sponsors predict it will spread to other nearby communities also affected by airport noise.

Each letter will carry only one signature, thus creating what sponsors hope will be a flood of mail to Carter and four other officials. The others are Langhorne Bond, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration; Douglas M. Costle, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; Brock Adams, secretary of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation; and U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

VOLUNTEERS ARE going door-to-door in Des Plaines to woo support. So far, sponsors say, the campaign has met no resistance.

The letter is addressed to Carter and states:

"As a resident of the Orchard Place community of the City of Des Plaines, Ill., I feel it is a top priority that the ever-increasing excessive airplane noise be curtailed immediately.

"Facts are that the hearing and health of our children and community as a whole are greatly affected by the excessive noise, causing hearing loss, stress, headaches, frayed nerves, and invasion of domestic tranquility and our general welfare. It is also detrimental to the education and study habits of our children both at home and in our local schools.

"SINCE OUR government is supposed to be for and by the people, . . . I support immediate regulations curtailing noise pollution caused by the airplanes at O'Hare Airport as well as any other airport.

"I further am thoroughly against the Concorde coming to our area as well as the United States of America as a whole, because of opposition to excessive noise levels . . ."

The campaign was spawned by Patricia Galla, 2720 Scott St., Des Plaines, legislative chairman of the Orchard Place PTA.

Mrs. Galla said her PTA chapter is the impetus behind the drive. She said it has had offers of support from other local PTA chapters and from the Des Plaines League of Women Voters.

KATHLEEN LUCKRITZ, voter-service chairman of the Des Plaines league, said the league agreed to publish the letter in the organization's upcoming bulletin. Individual league members then may reproduce the letter in whole or in part and mail it to whomever they wish, Mrs. Luckritz said.

Mrs. Galla said the campaign is only 10 days old but already has won overwhelming support from volunteers and residents who have been asked to sign letters.

"I have some volunteers who have taken 500 letters and come back and asked for more," Mrs. Galla said.

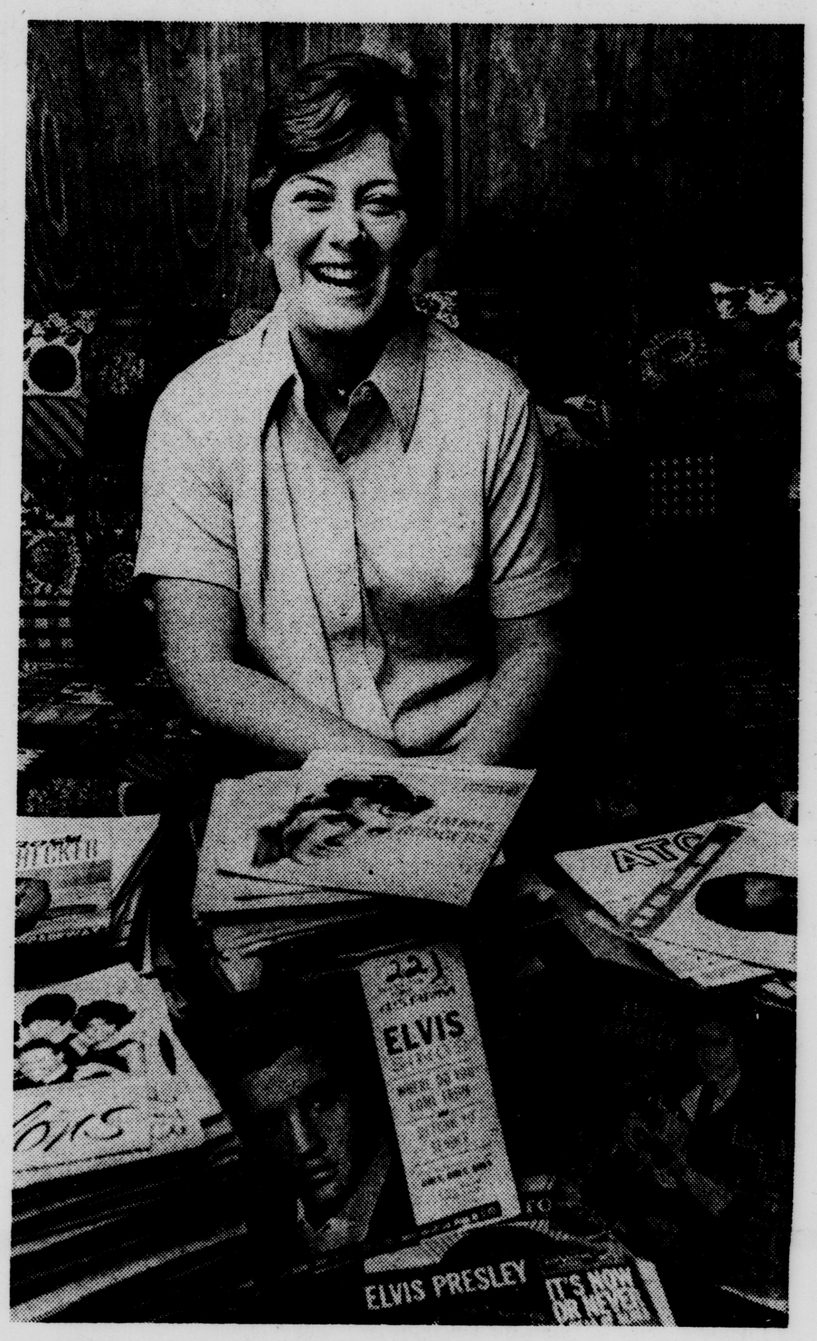
She said she fervently believes the campaign will have an effect in Washington. "If I didn't, I wouldn't be doing this."

MRS. GALLA said a letter-writing campaign on the same subject last year failed to generate much support. She suspects its fatal flaw was reliance upon individuals to draft their own letters, she said.

This campaign, on the contrary, uses a form letter and merely asks for a signature to indicate support. Mrs. Galla said she believes the difference will mean support for this campaign where last year's campaign failed.

She said she expects to get 4,000 supporters in the Orchard Place neighborhood alone. The neighborhood has roughly 40 small blocks.

"We have not had one negative response yet," she said. "I have had people calling me, strangers, asking for letters and volunteering support."



CAROL McCLUNG, 5720 Tiburon Ct., Hanover Park, now a mother of two, plans to sell all those 45s that she bought for 49 cents as a child. There might be quite a profit in them. She says last year, original Elvis Presley records were selling for $150 to $200 in California.

Evel Knievel to receive money for car repairs

• Universal Studios will pay Evel Knievel $9,588 to repair his Stutz automobile damaged when it was stolen during the filming of a "Bionic Woman" episode last month. The whie car, valued at more than $100,000, was taken by a man who told Knievel he had been asked to move the car because it was blocking traffic. Knievel reportedly gave him the keys and the man tried to drive the car away, panicking when stopped by a security guard and crashing into a gate.

Evel Knievel

• Webb A. Everett, 82, a former secretary of the Arington Park Race Track, will be buried today in California. He died Sunday in his Beverly Hills home. A veteran horse racing official, Everett was responsible for developing the system of classifying horses now used throughout the United States. In 1957, he married Marjorie Lindheimer, whose father, Benjamin Lindheimer, owned Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises, which operated Arlington and Washington parks. Everett served as racing secretary to both parks from 1942 to 1944. Mrs. Everett, who by the mid-1960s was the dominant race track owner in the state, was a key prosecution witness in the race track stock fraud trial of former Gov. Otto Kerner. In 1969, the Everetts sold the tracks and moved to the West Coast, where Everett retired a year later.

• Farrah Fawcett-Majors wore a gold faucet-shaped pendant Monday night at a reception introducing a new line of jewelry reportedly inspired by a piece designed for her at the request of her husband, actor Lee Majors. The most expensive item, selling for $2,500, features a diamond drop at the end of an inch-long faucet. Other pendants, without the diamond, will go on sale around the country next week at prices ranging from $15 for a gold-plated faucet to $100 for a silver one.

• Former United Mine Workers President W. A. (Tony) Boyle was removed Tuesday from the coronary care unit of Crozer-Chester Medical Center, where he had been taken after complaining of chest pains. A hospital spokesman said there was still no diagnosis as to the exact nature of Boyle's illness.

Carter to rule on SST this week

carefully guarded secret Tuesday, sources said. "The President is a very good poker player," said U.S. Rep. Thomas J. Downey, D-New York, who attended Tuesday's meeting at the White House.

Downey said the congressmen were "strident" in their opposition to the plane.

Congressmen may have been left guessing about the plane's landing. But Aviation News Digest, published by the Exxon Corp., predicted earlier this month that the Carter administration will approve the plane for 10 U.S. cities—Chicago, Miami, Boston, Anchorage, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Honolulu, Los Angeles, Seattle and San Francisco.

Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase is among those who have pledged to fight any approval of the SST at O'Hare. Opposition groups also exist in Miami and Boston. In New York, the jet service has so far been blocked in federal courts.

THE CITIES OF Dallas-Fort Worth, however, would welcome the aircraft and have in fact applied to the Federal Aviation Administration for landing rights in cooperation with Braniff International Airlines.

Fabulous 50s up for sale as mom puts 45s on market

by JOHN LAMPINEN

When Carol McClung was 7, she got a record player for Christmas.

Soon after, she talked her mother into giving he a weekly allowance of 50 cents. She took her first half-dollar down to the store and spent 49 cents on a record of Jimmie Rodgers singing "Honeycomb."

It was 1955, and everybody who was anybody was buying 45s, those little records the deejays played and the rock 'n' roll singers made.

And Mrs. McClung never tired of buying them. Each week, she took her change down to add to her collection; when the size of the allowance increased, so did the number of 45s she bought.

"IT WAS THE idea," she recalls, "of who could have the most records by the most popular singers."

She was the easy winner. She collected about 450 of them, tunes like "Lipstick on Your Collar" by Connie Francis, "Rubber Ball" by Bobby Vee, "Teen Angel" by Mark Dinning and "It's My Party" by Lesley Gore.

They were a part of her childhood, a part of growing up in California during the Fabulous 50s, and Mrs. McClung cherished them, even into adulthood when she didn't listen to them any more.

But now, she is a mother of two children and living in Hanover Park, and she plans to sell them.

"We move around too much," she says, "and I was just afraid they are going to get broken."

AND WHEN SHE does, she expects to be able to make some good money. "Knowing what I've got, I can't let it go for pennies," she says.

In an advertisement she placed in a local newspaper last week, she highlighted her original copy of Elvis Presley's "Love Me Tender."

She has had no offers for it yet, Mrs. McClung says, but last year, her mother noticed that original 45s of Presley's songs were selling for $150 to $200.

She concedes that the Elvis record was highlighted in an attempt to take advantage of the surge in popularity of Elvis memorabilia following his death last month.

"I WASN'T EVEN that big a fan of his," Mrs. McClung says. "That's why I only got four (of his records). It just so happened that he came out with four songs I liked.

"He was one of those people that I couldn't watch perform. I was never one of those who went much for those performers who got the girls screaming."

Still, she said, she felt a certain sadness when Presley died. He had been someone "we all grew up knowing," and when he died, a certain part of her childhood died with him.

The feeling was similar this week when Mrs. McClung took her 45s out of the cartons that had gone unopened during family moves from California to three different towns in Virginia and finally to her home at 5720 Tiburon Ct.

SHE AND HER husband Michael played them for the first time in five years as they went through the records in preparation for the sale.

And it reminded Mrs. McClung of the dances she used to go to during junior high and high school and when she and a girl friend would go to the dance clubs and end up staying past dawn.

It reminded her of the summer when she had nothing to do, so she painstakingly organized her collection, logging and numbering each record according to title in alphabetical order, with "Allegheny Moon" by Patti Page first.

It reminded her of the times, when she got a little older, that she saw the Temptations and the Supremes and Tom Jones in concert and that "Boy, if you ever get a chance to see Tom Jones perform, do it; he's fantastic."

IT REMINDED her of the parties she had at her house where all those records got played, usually starting with the top of her log and progressing down the list but always with the novelty songs, "Purple People Eater" and "Does Your Chewing Gum Lose Its Flavor" her favorites.

And it reminded her that she is not a child any more.

She doesn't play records that often; she's too busy taking care of the kids. In fact, she rarely even listens to the radio.

"About the only time I really listen to it is when I'm in the car," Mrs. McClung observes. "Now, my God, I don't know any of the songs."

Lance asked lift of bank penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bert Lance personally asked a federal banking official to lift a disciplinary action against his family-owned bank last November so he would have a "clear record" when he became budget director, according to new testimony revealed Tuesday.

The written testimony from an attorney in the comptroller of the currency's office conflicted with sworn statements by Lance and Donald Tarleton, the banking official who lifted the disciplinary action 11 days before Lance's appointment was announced last Dec. 3.

In the testimony — given under oath to the Internal Revenue Service — attorney Michael Patriarca said Tarleton recalled Lance saying: "Jimmy (Carter) wants me to be the head of the OMB and I want to go into it with a clear record so, I just wondered if you could see your way clear to lift the agreement on Calhoun (First National Bank)."

PATRIARCA'S statement also indicated that Lance — after making a request on behalf of his bank — told Tarleton to come to him if he ever found anything in government that was not "right."

Patriarca said he did not hear Lance's comments personally, but was informed of them by Tarleton during a dinner conversation in February.

The attorney's testimony was made public by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, which said it received the document from the IRS Tuesday morning. The committee completed nine days of public hearings on the Lance affair Monday.

PATRIARCA TOLD IRS agents he and Tarleton discussed Lance on Feb. 23 in Cye's Rivergate Restaurant in Miami.

He quoted Tarleton saying Lance requested a meeting for Nov. 22, 1976, just 11 days before his appointment as director of the Office of Management and Budget was announced.

A year earlier, in December, 1975, Lance's Calhoun bank had signed an agreement with the comptroller's office. The agreement — a disciplinary action — barred the bank from allowing Lance and his family to continue their practice of overdrawing bank accounts.

The disciplinary order was lifted by Tarleton Nov. 22, 1976. Lance was nominated by President-elect Carter to be budget director on Dec. 3, 1976.

DURING TESTIMONY last week before the Governmental Affairs Committee, Lance testified: "I did not ask or tell Mr. Tarleton to remove the agreement between the Calhoun First National Bank and the office of the comptroller nor did I suggest or imply in any way that the agreement should be rescinded."

When Tarleton testified before the committee on Sept. 12, he said: "I wish to state my belief and recollection that at no time on November 22 or otherwise, was I ever requested to rescind the agreement by Mr. Lance."

Patriarca said he had not come forward with his information sooner because Tarleton had asked him in February to keep the conversation private.

Unit school backers dealt setback by new state law

If unit school districts are to be formed in the Northwest suburbs, it will definitely be an uphill battle.

A new bill signed into law by Gov. James R. Thompson allows all residents affected by the creation of a unit district to vote on it and requires a separate majority vote from residents inside and outside the proposed district's boundaries.

Had this law been in effect last April, all residents of High School Dist. 214 would have been allowed to vote in the Elk Grove Township unit district referendum. As it was, only Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 residents were eligible to vote.

"YOU'RE STARTING out in a hole with this kind of legislation in effect," Thomas Guy, chairman of the committee of 10 Dist. 59 residents who filed the petition seeking formation of the unit district, said Tuesday. "There's no chance at all to form a unit district in this area."

The voters in the northern portion of Dist. 214 greatly outnumber those in the south and they won't allow the Dist. 59 residents to pull out unless the northern area's tax base is considerably increased, he said.

The high school district receives 42 per cent of its tax base, but only 27 per cent of its students from the Dist. 59 area.

Elk Grove Village Trustee Nanci Vanderweel disagrees with Guy and said the new legislation does not mean the end of school district reorganization in this area.

"THE BILL SAYS yes you can have unit districts, but first everyone affected must sit down and ask what is reasonable for all parties," said Mrs. Vanderweel, a member of Citizens Opposed to the Elk Grove Township Unit District. "There must be a proper dissection and not indiscriminate amputations."

Dist. 214 Supt. Edward Gilbert said the bill is merely a safeguard to see that any unit districts formed will be beneficial for all concerned and will not be financial boom for some and financial disaster for others.

"This is a school insurance bill against inequitable or emotional action taken without full and due consideration," said State Rep. Virginia Macdonald, R-Arlington Heights, a chief cosponsor of the legislation.

THE LAW guarantees "that all people affected wil have representation in taxation," she said.

Among the coalition of Northwest suburban state representatives who cosponsored the bill are Mrs. Macdonald; Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights; Donald Totten, R-Hoffman Estates; and Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights. State Sen. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, sponsored the Senate Bill.

Defeated by better than a 2 to 1 margin last April, the Elk Grove Township unit district referendum would have combined 21 Dist. 59 elementary and junior high schools, Forest View High School in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove High School in Elk Grove Village.

Dems got bribes, Ingram chief says

A former Ingram Corp. official testified Tuesday he was told $450,000 in bribes paid in 1971 to obtain sludge-hauling contracts from the Metropolitan Sanitary District were for the late Mayor Richard J. Daley and his Democratic organization. William J. Benton, 55, a former senior vice president of Ingram, a New Orleans-based barge company, testified under a grant of immunity before U.S. District Court Judge John F. Grady. Under cross examination by James F. Neal, an attorney for defendant E. Bronson Ingram, Benton said he never spoke with Daley personally about the matter. Benton testified that in the spring and summer of 1971, he was certain some troublesome contract clauses involving damages could not be enforced. He said the Chicago contacts he dealt with referred to Daley in giving this assurance. "They said that Mayor Daley controlled the whole thing . . . and that the liquidated damages clause . . . simply would not be imposed?" Neal asked. "Yes sir," Benton replied. Benton said the demands for payoffs were increased from $80,000 to $250,000 to $300,000 and then to $450,000.

Engineer sentenced in payoff case

Robert H. Liles, former chief engineer of DuPage County, was sentenced Tuesday to six months in prison for allegedly failing to report thousands of dollars in payoffs on his federal income tax returns. Liles, 49, West Chicago, pleaded guilty Aug. 25 to understating his 1972 and 1973 tax returns by about $25,000. Liles was accused of collecting payoffs from four engineering firms in connection with work done on a county power plant in Wheaton. U.S. District Court Judge Joel M. Flaum ordered Liles to serve his term at the Metropolitan Correction Center on a work-release program. He is under orders to serve the following 2½ years on probation.

Rape bill sent back to legislature

Gov. James R. Thompson announced Tuesday he has approved legislation to increase marriage license fees from $10 to $15, rename the Kankakee Developmental Center after former Gov. Samuel Shapiro and lower by half the amount of heroin or morphine needed to convict a drug pusher. Thompson sent back to the legislature with suggested changes a bill (H760) to keep a rape victim's prior sexual conduct from being used as trial evidence unless the defendant was involved. Under Thompson's changes, which must be approved by the legislature, prior sexual encounters between a victim and defendant could be introduced as evidence only if a judge consents.

2 judges refuse DeKalb case

Two DeKalb County Circuit Court judges disqualified themselves Tuesday from hearing the trial of Northern Illinois University Pres. Richard Nelson, charged with a hit-and-run accident. Judge Carl Swanson, who had been presiding over the pretrial hearings, and Judge Rex Meilinger both disqualified themselves, saying they had gone to law school with Nelson. Swanson said Circuit Court Judge Wilson Burnell, who normally sits in Kendall County, has been appointed to hear Nelson's trial.

Suspect arson in Hilton fires

Arson is suspected in two fires Monday that caused $120,000 damage in a laundry building used by the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel.

Ted Loesch, Rolling Meadows acting fire chief, confirmed Tuesday the fires probably were set deliberately.

Thirty firefighters from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows were called to fight the blaze in the building at Rohlwing Road and Industrial Avenue.

"I couldn't tell from the pictures," said Debbie Lee, who worked with Jill on the line. "They did look an awful lot like her."

AND THE WHISPERS continued, growing louder. Some versions saying that, like Joyce Bateman, Jill had been last seen talking to someone in a van. A few saying that she was dead. Most saying that she and the Schiller Park woman were one and the same.

"As far as I know, she's in the hospital," said David Nelson, an engineer at Motorola. "Everybody just assumes she's the girl in the hospital."

Schiller Park police heard about Jill too, but they were in no position to give it special attention.

"We must have checked out 10,000 leads already," one policeman said, and the rumor was placed at the end of a growing list.

GALE TRIPLETT also had heard the whispers. He was personnel manager for Motorola. Management people have a natural aversion to ugly rumors being spread about their factories, and Triplett began his own investigation, saying only, "We have cause to believe that that is not true."

Indeed, there were inconsistencies.

In the first place, Jill had a reputation as a wanderer.

Friends say that she ran away from home twice as a child. In the past few years, she had lived for short times in places like Kewanee, Ill., Texas and Georgia, they say.

"She's just picked up and left for Kewanee before," said a former boyfriend, Michael Cartee of Aurora.

MANY AT MOTOROLA, however, found such simple explanations hard to believe. "From what I know of her," Ms. Lee said, "I would never expect her to just take off without a word."

And then Mrs. Wiles went to Resurrection Hospital and said the Schiller Park girl was not Jill. The woman looked a lot like Jill, Mrs. Wiles said, but her hair was too long.

That woman died Sunday without ever regaining consciousness. No one knows her name.

BUT MOTOROLA'S Triplett knows that the dead girl is not Jill Johnson. He has a letter to prove it.

It is from Jill. She had moved to the South to stay temporarily with relatives. There was no explanation of her unusual departure.

"She just left the area and told us after the fact," Triplett said.

She was not, as had been widely believed, dead.

But now, finally, the rumors were.

Daley and his Democratic organization. William J. Benton, 55, a former senior vice president of Ingram, a New Orleans-based barge company, testified under a grant of immunity before U.S. District Court Judge John F. Grady. Under cross examination by James F. Neal, an attorney for defendant E. Bronson Ingram, Benton said he never spoke with Daley personally about the matter. Benton testified that in the spring and summer of 1971, he was certain some troublesome contract clauses involving damages could not be enforced. He said the Chicago contacts he dealt with referred to Daley in giving this assurance. "They said that Mayor Daley controlled the whole thing . . . and that the liquidated damages clause . . . simply would not be imposed?" Neal asked. "Yes sir," Benton replied. Benton said the demands for payoffs were increased from $80,000 to $250,000 to $300,000 and then to $450,000.

Engineer sentenced in payoff case

Robert H. Liles, former chief engineer of DuPage County, was sentenced Tuesday to six months in prison for allegedly failing to report thousands of dollars in payoffs on his federal income tax returns. Liles, 49, West Chicago, pleaded guilty Aug. 25 to understating his 1972 and 1973 tax returns by about $25,000. Liles was accused of collecting payoffs from four engineering firms in connection with work done on a county power plant in Wheaton. U.S. District Court Judge Joel M. Flaum ordered Liles to serve his term at the Metropolitan Correction Center on a work-release program. He is under orders to serve the following 2½ years on probation.

Rape bill sent back to legislature

Gov. James R. Thompson announced Tuesday he has approved legislation to increase marriage license fees from $10 to $15, rename the Kankakee Developmental Center after former Gov. Samuel Shapiro and lower by half the amount of heroin or morphine needed to convict a drug pusher. Thompson sent back to the legislature with suggested changes a bill (H760) to keep a rape victim's prior sexual conduct from being used as trial evidence unless the defendant was involved. Under Thompson's changes, which must be approved by the legislature, prior sexual encounters between a victim and defendant could be introduced as evidence only if a judge consents.

2 judges refuse DeKalb case

Two DeKalb County Circuit Court judges disqualified themselves Tuesday from hearing the trial of Northern Illinois University Pres. Richard Nelson, charged with a hit-and-run accident. Judge Carl Swanson, who had been presiding over the pretrial hearings, and Judge Rex Meilinger both disqualified themselves, saying they had gone to law school with Nelson. Swanson said Circuit Court Judge Wilson Burnell, who normally sits in Kendall County, has been appointed to hear Nelson's trial.

Suspect arson in Hilton fires

Arson is suspected in two fires Monday that caused $120,000 damage in a laundry building used by the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel.

Ted Loesch, Rolling Meadows acting fire chief, confirmed Tuesday the fires probably were set deliberately.

Thirty firefighters from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows were called to fight the blaze in the building at Rohlwing Road and Industrial Avenue.

"I couldn't tell from the pictures," said Debbie Lee, who worked with Jill on the line. "They did look an awful lot like her."

AND THE WHISPERS continued, growing louder. Some versions saying that, like Joyce Bateman, Jill had been last seen talking to someone in a van. A few saying that she was dead. Most saying that she and the Schiller Park woman were one and the same.

"As far as I know, she's in the hospital," said David Nelson, an engineer at Motorola. "Everybody just assumes she's the girl in the hospital."

Schiller Park police heard about Jill too, but they were in no position to give it special attention.

"We must have checked out 10,000 leads already," one policeman said, and the rumor was placed at the end of a growing list.

GALE TRIPLETT also had heard the whispers. He was personnel manager for Motorola. Management people have a natural aversion to ugly rumors being spread about their factories, and Triplett began his own investigation, saying only, "We have cause to believe that that is not true."

Indeed, there were inconsistencies.

In the first place, Jill had a reputation as a wanderer.

Friends say that she ran away from home twice as a child. In the past few years, she had lived for short times in places like Kewanee, Ill., Texas and Georgia, they say.

"She's just picked up and left for Kewanee before," said a former boyfriend, Michael Cartee of Aurora.

MANY AT MOTOROLA, however, found such simple explanations hard to believe. "From what I know of her," Ms. Lee said, "I would never expect her to just take off without a word."

And then Mrs. Wiles went to Resurrection Hospital and said the Schiller Park girl was not Jill. The woman looked a lot like Jill, Mrs. Wiles said, but her hair was too long.

That woman died Sunday without ever regaining consciousness. No one knows her name.

BUT MOTOROLA'S Triplett knows that the dead girl is not Jill Johnson. He has a letter to prove it.

It is from Jill. She had moved to the South to stay temporarily with relatives. There was no explanation of her unusual departure.

"She just left the area and told us after the fact," Triplett said.

She was not, as had been widely believed, dead.

But now, finally, the rumors were.

Backpacking at library

A lecture and demonstration on backpacking will be offered for junior high students at 7:30 p.m. today in the Dunton Room of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton Ave.

Richard Dunlop, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 333, will discuss preparation and techniques for backpacking. He will be assisted by members of a junior backpack team.

Dunlop has hiked on all continents, except Antarctica, and is the author of several books and articles on the subject.

Members of troop 333 have backpacked in Alaska, the Yukon, the Canadian Rockies, Wyoming and many other wilderness areas.

Wednesday's lecture is free.

Flower arranging class

A four-week class in flower arranging presented by the Arlington Heights Garden Club will be from 1 to 3 p.m. starting Thursday at Hasbrook Park, 333 W. Maude St.

The fee for the class is $10 and babysitting will be available if requested. Persons may register at Frontier Park, 1933 N. Kennicott Ave., from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information, call 640-2581.

Correction

The Daily Herald incorrectly reported Tuesday that the average homeowner in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 with a home assessed at $10,000 will save $40 on his tax bill if the tax rate drops as expected. The savings will be $4 if the tax rate drops 4 cents to $2.56 per $100 of equalized assessed valuation as Business Mgr. Arthur Perry is projecting.

Tenants woes running hot and cold

by BILL HILL

Sandra Lynch's final months of pregnancy weren't made any easier this summer by the broken air conditioning system in her building at Candlewood Apartments.

On a few of the muggier days, she moved in with a friend in Wheeling to get some relief.

Her baby is now about 6 weeks old and with the cool weather the lack of air conditioning is no longer a problem.

BUT, TODAY she plans on moving out of the apartment again. The problem this time is that the apartment building has been without hot water since Sunday, she said.

Also today, she and about a dozen of her neighbors in Building 8 expect to be sued for deducting $2 from their rent checks for every day there was no air conditioning. Draper & Kramer Inc., managers of the apartment complex at Rand Road and Thomas Avenue in Arlington Heights, refuse to allow deductions of more than $1 per day for the inconvenience of no air conditioning this summer.

"For a week or so you can live without it, but three months is a little too much," said Mrs. Lynch, who counted just four days in mid-July the air conditioning worked.

It also caused problems for several of her neighbors, especially those with allergies. For Susan Michels, doctors say her uncooled, unventilated apartment helped irritate an infection to the point that her eyelid could not cover her swollen eye.

Her 6-year-old son, Scott, who is "allergic to almost everything in the air," was miserable without the air conditioning because apartment windows had to be left open, allowing the unfiltered air in.

A TENANTS' UNION formed in June because of the air conditioner problems, originally asked for a $3 per day deduction, but finally settled on $2 per day compensation.

About 15 families are involved in the tenants union, Mrs. Michels said. Their first action was to submit a petition asking for a $3 deduction. When they were ignored, she said, they sent in rent checks deducting $2 for every day the air conditioning didn't work. The first time they were accepted, but when they did it again in their September rent checks, the payments were returned by the management and followed by letters threatening legal action against them if they did not pay by Sept. 20 the full rent, minus $1 for each day of the month.

A $1 deduction is not enough, the tenants insist, when the inconvenience of not having the air conditioning is considered along with the cost of running electric fans.

Electric bills for June and July were $15 higher than last year, Mrs. Lynch said, because of the constant use of fans.

WHAT UPSETS Mrs. Lynch further is the fact that managers of the apartment buildings have promised for three years to replace the air conditioning system in Building 8.

The hot, muggy weather of summer now is past but now the lack of hot water is causing the tenants problems.

"The hot water has been off the past two Sundays. It went off again this Sunday and they promised it would be fixed by Tuesday," Mrs. Lynch said. "But now they say they can't get the parts they need and the pipe system is corroded.

"You can't function without hot water; it's impossible," she said. "You can't wash clothes. My husband takes showers at work."

WHEN THE TENANTS complain, they are ignored, Mrs. Lynch said. "Their attitude seems to be, 'if you don't like it here, get out.' "

Lowell Nelson, manager of Candlewood Apartments since July 18, said hot water will be restored to Building 8 as soon as a replacement unit is found and that a new air conditioning unit should be installed by the end of the month.

Margie Hetzel hopes that's true since the air conditioning unit also controls heat in the building and her first baby is due in January.

Panel kills Carter gas-guzzler tax

The Senate Finance Committee Tuesday killed President Carter's tax on gas-guzzling automobiles and then considered creating a multibillion dollar federal corporation to finance energy development. The committee's action apparently marks the begining of a shift in emphasis on energy legislation — from conservation to increased production. Defeat of the gas-guzzler tax — by a surprisingly lopsided 11-5 vote — came on an amendment by Sen. Robert Dole, —R-Kan., to strike the tax from a House-passed bill, The administration argued to no avail that the tax was the key part of Carter's energy program.

Carter news conference today

President Carter will hold a news conference today, but his spokesman warned against "presuppositions" that Carter will announce his decision on the future of Budget Director Bert Lance. The news conference will be Carter's first since Aug. 23.

Flynt would pay for sex study

Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt offered Tuesday to give the government all his profits — $20 million and up annually — so it can study human sexuality and find out why child pornography is a turn-on to "millions of dirty old men." He speculated that sexual repression, not permissiveness, is at fault. Flynt, free on $50,000 bond while appealing on Ohio conviction for obscenity, said he tried in March to give President Carter a check for $1 million to set up a government commission on human sexuality, but it was refused. He told the House Criminal Justice subcommittee he is "opposed to child abuse and the exploitation of children in any manner" and favors legislation to stop depiction of children's sexual behavior.

But he urged Congress to deal with the growing kid porn problem through specific child abuse laws rather than seeking to repress it by legislation that might jeopardize First Amendment freedoms. Flynt said a thorough study of human sexuality is needed to determine why so many individuals are excited by child pornography and are engaging in sexual acts with children. Flynt said Hustler profits, estimated at $20 million "in a bad year" to $30 million, should be used to study the subject. Flynt said he would not initiate his own study because only a government effort would be accepted.

Uganda bans 27 religious groups

Acting on orders from President Idi Amin, Uganda Tuesday banned effective immediately 27 religious groups, including Baptists, Seventh-day Adventists and the Salvation Army, as security risks. A radio broadcast said Ugandans were free to worship any of four religions allowed to remain in the country. The broadcast said the activities of all other organizations, mostly Christian and many of which operate orphanages, hospitals and schools in Uganda "are not conducive to the security of Uganda."

The religions described as "recognized" are Islam, the Anglican church of Uganda, whose archbishop was killed after being named in an alleged coup plot against Amin last February, the Roman Catholic church and the Uganda Orthodox church, which has ties to the Greek Orthodox religion. Most of the banned groups are Christian. One group is Jewish, one a Moslem offshoot and another, the Bahai Faith, has a temple ouside Kampala and describes itself as a "universal" religion which incorporates teachings from all the world's major faiths. Maj. Stella Bywaters, an Australian who has been with the Salvation Army in Uganda for the past 15 years, said she had not been informed directly of the ban.

CANCER DETECTION HEART ATTACK PREVENTION

A resting electrocardiogram is taken at the Northwest Center for Early Disease Detection, Inc. to detect any heart abnormalities.

Of every six people who get cancer today, two will be saved and four will die. Of the four who would otherwise die, one might be saved with earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment. (According to American Cancer Society publication '76 Cancer Facts and Figures.)

The health examination services available at the Northwest Center for Early Disease Detection include all cancer detection procedures recommended by the American Cancer Society, Illinois Division.

Heart Disease accounts for nearly half of all deaths each year. Unlike most Cancer, Heart Attack can be postponed through reducing one's risk factors such as diet, exercise, blood pressure, smoking, etc. Dr. Morris Collen, a well-known specialist in preventive medicine, was quoted in the January, 1977 Issue of FORTUNE "if one has a checkup every year or two at age thirty-five and thereafter, directed at postponable diseases, the mortality rate from those diseases after seven years is approximately 50 percent of what it would have been without exams."

The Northwest Center for Early Disease Detection, Inc. offers a preventive health screening examination designed for three purposes:

1. To establish a health profile for each individual to be used as a baseline for future care.
2. To analyze an individual's risk factors for heart disease and cancer and statistically forecast probable life expectancy and suggest ways it might actually be increased by reducing the risk factors found.
3. Screen for treatable disease. Early detection and prompt treatment increase the probability of a favorable outcome.

This meticulous 3 hour, low cost examination includes a computerized medical history, health risk analysis, physical examination, proctosigmoidoscopy, chest x-ray, electrocardiogram, blood pressure, over 30 chemical determinations on blood and urine, vision, audiometry, spirometry, glaucoma test, body measurements. Women also receive a pap smear and instruction in breast self-examination. Exercise stress test, 24 hour holter monitor, and echocardiography are available as options.

Give yourself the best protection available today against cancer and heart disease by calling your physician or the Northwest Center for Early Disease Detection, Inc. located at 1000 Grand Canyon Parkway, Hoffman Estates, Illinois (Near Woodfield Mall.) Panel kills Carter gas-guzzler tax

The Senate Finance Committee Tuesday killed President Carter's tax on gas-guzzling automobiles and then considered creating a multibillion dollar federal corporation to finance energy development. The committee's action apparently marks the begining of a shift in emphasis on energy legislation — from conservation to increased production. Defeat of the gas-guzzler tax — by a surprisingly lopsided 11-5 vote — came on an amendment by Sen. Robert Dole, —R-Kan., to strike the tax from a House-passed bill, The administration argued to no avail that the tax was the key part of Carter's energy program.

Carter news conference today

President Carter will hold a news conference today, but his spokesman warned against "presuppositions" that Carter will announce his decision on the future of Budget Director Bert Lance. The news conference will be Carter's first since Aug. 23.

Flynt would pay for sex study

Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt offered Tuesday to give the government all his profits — $20 million and up annually — so it can study human sexuality and find out why child pornography is a turn-on to "millions of dirty old men." He speculated that sexual repression, not permissiveness, is at fault. Flynt, free on $50,000 bond while appealing on Ohio conviction for obscenity, said he tried in March to give President Carter a check for $1 million to set up a government commission on human sexuality, but it was refused. He told the House Criminal Justice subcommittee he is "opposed to child abuse and the exploitation of children in any manner" and favors legislation to stop depiction of children's sexual behavior.

But he urged Congress to deal with the growing kid porn problem through specific child abuse laws rather than seeking to repress it by legislation that might jeopardize First Amendment freedoms. Flynt said a thorough study of human sexuality is needed to determine why so many individuals are excited by child pornography and are engaging in sexual acts with children. Flynt said Hustler profits, estimated at $20 million "in a bad year" to $30 million, should be used to study the subject. Flynt said he would not initiate his own study because only a government effort would be accepted.

Uganda bans 27 religious groups

Acting on orders from President Idi Amin, Uganda Tuesday banned effective immediately 27 religious groups, including Baptists, Seventh-day Adventists and the Salvation Army, as security risks. A radio broadcast said Ugandans were free to worship any of four religions allowed to remain in the country. The broadcast said the activities of all other organizations, mostly Christian and many of which operate orphanages, hospitals and schools in Uganda "are not conducive to the security of Uganda."

The religions described as "recognized" are Islam, the Anglican church of Uganda, whose archbishop was killed after being named in an alleged coup plot against Amin last February, the Roman Catholic church and the Uganda Orthodox church, which has ties to the Greek Orthodox religion. Most of the banned groups are Christian. One group is Jewish, one a Moslem offshoot and another, the Bahai Faith, has a temple ouside Kampala and describes itself as a "universal" religion which incorporates teachings from all the world's major faiths. Maj. Stella Bywaters, an Australian who has been with the Salvation Army in Uganda for the past 15 years, said she had not been informed directly of the ban.

CCPA's Flood acquitted on three driving charges

by DANN GIRE

John Flood, president of the Combined Counties Police Assn., Tuesday was acquitted of charges of speeding, improper lane usage and driving while intoxicated in connection with a traffic stop in Buffalo Grove May 8.

Flood, 36, of Mundelein, was fined $350 and placed on one-year supervision on a charge of battery against Buffalo Grove Police Sgt. Peter Lippert the same night.

Associate Judge Jack G. Stein of Cook County Circuit Court discharged the speeding count against Flood because it could not be determined when radar equipment operated by Patrolman Walter Grochowski was certified and checked for accuracy.

Stein also threw out the charge of improper lane usage after hearing testimony from Flood and Grouchowski of poor lighting and road conditions on Arlington Heights Road between Lake-Cook and Checker roads, where Flood's car was stopped.

FLOOD ADMITTED in court he had taken "about five glasses of wine" at a dinner meeting from 11 p.m. May 7 to 2 a.m. the next morning, but denied being drunk.

Stein said, "Alcohol had a great deal to do with what happened on that night, but there is not sufficient evidence to prove that he was driving under the influence."

Flood was stopped at 4 a.m. on Arlington Heights Road for allegedly going 43 m.p.h. in a 35 zone, then arrested and brought back to the police station by Grochowski. Flood was charged with battery after he allegedly grabbed Lippert around the neck during processing procedures.

Lippert testified Flood later apologized for choking him, which Flood did not deny in his testimony. Stein cited this as the reason he did not throw out the battery charge.

Both Lippert and Grochowski testified Flood staggered when he walked, had glassy and blood-shot eyes, and seemed to have trouble speaking clearly enough to be heard well.

FLOOD'S ATTORNEY, James Simpson, lashed out at the policemen's testimony and explained Flood's behavior by saying that Flood hadn't had any sleep for a 24-hour period proceeding his arrest. Simpson also told the court Flood wears contact lenses, which after several hours would cause blood-shot and glassy eyes.

Simpson also said Flood's stagger was caused by a back injury he received earlier in his career as a policeman for the Cook County Sheriff's Dept. Simpson also said an ear problem of Flood's was in part responsible for apparent loss of balance and loud speech.

Following the hearing, Lippert said that both "defense and prosecution attorneys handled everything very well. They did a good job," but would not comment further.

Flood after the case said, "Supervision is a not-guilty as far as I'm concerned."

Earlier this year Flood was convicted of drunken driving and refusing to take a breathalyzer test, stemming from an incident in Mundelein.

Race track killing suspects sought

Police are searching for Jules A. Sider, 25, of Metraire, La., and Dennis Lee Frost, 26, of Columbus, Ohio, for the stabbing murder of Robert R. Scroggins last Friday. All were employes of the Arlington Heights race track.

Police said Sider is wanted for murder and Forst is being sought as an accomplice.

"We have an armory of witnesses," said Capt. Paul Buckholz of Arlington Heights. "We're sure we've got the right men."

Buckholz said Sider and Scroggins had a fist fight at the track a couple of months ago and that vengeance may have been the motive.

"Witnesses have told us that Scroggins had been waiting in his room with a friend for his brother John to arrive," Buckholz said. "He (Scroggins) heard a knock on the door, opened it, and Sider supposedly rushed in, saying, 'I'm going to kill you.' "

Sider and Forst allegedly fled in a red Pacer that they borrowed from a girl friend. The car was found abandoned on Rand Road near Ill. Rte. 22, Lake Zurich.

CCPA's Flood acquitted on three driving charges

by DANN GIRE

John Flood, president of the Combined Counties Police Assn., Tuesday was acquitted of charges of speeding, improper lane usage and driving while intoxicated in connection with a traffic stop in Buffalo Grove May 8.

Flood, 36, of Mundelein, was fined $350 and placed on one-year supervision on a charge of battery against Buffalo Grove Police Sgt. Peter Lippert the same night.

Associate Judge Jack G. Stein of Cook County Circuit Court discharged the speeding count against Flood because it could not be determined when radar equipment operated by Patrolman Walter Grochowski was certified and checked for accuracy.

Stein also threw out the charge of improper lane usage after hearing testimony from Flood and Grouchowski of poor lighting and road conditions on Arlington Heights Road between Lake-Cook and Checker roads, where Flood's car was stopped.

FLOOD ADMITTED in court he had taken "about five glasses of wine" at a dinner meeting from 11 p.m. May 7 to 2 a.m. the next morning, but denied being drunk.

Stein said, "Alcohol had a great deal to do with what happened on that night, but there is not sufficient evidence to prove that he was driving under the influence."

Flood was stopped at 4 a.m. on Arlington Heights Road for allegedly going 43 m.p.h. in a 35 zone, then arrested and brought back to the police station by Grochowski. Flood was charged with battery after he allegedly grabbed Lippert around the neck during processing procedures.

Lippert testified Flood later apologized for choking him, which Flood did not deny in his testimony. Stein cited this as the reason he did not throw out the battery charge.

Both Lippert and Grochowski testified Flood staggered when he walked, had glassy and blood-shot eyes, and seemed to have trouble speaking clearly enough to be heard well.

FLOOD'S ATTORNEY, James Simpson, lashed out at the policemen's testimony and explained Flood's behavior by saying that Flood hadn't had any sleep for a 24-hour period proceeding his arrest. Simpson also told the court Flood wears contact lenses, which after several hours would cause blood-shot and glassy eyes.

Simpson also said Flood's stagger was caused by a back injury he received earlier in his career as a policeman for the Cook County Sheriff's Dept. Simpson also said an ear problem of Flood's was in part responsible for apparent loss of balance and loud speech.

Following the hearing, Lippert said that both "defense and prosecution attorneys handled everything very well. They did a good job," but would not comment further.

Flood after the case said, "Supervision is a not-guilty as far as I'm concerned."

Earlier this year Flood was convicted of drunken driving and refusing to take a breathalyzer test, stemming from an incident in Mundelein.

Race track killing suspects sought

Arlington Heights police Tuesday issued arrest warrants for two men wanted in connection with the murder of a 26-year-old stable worker at Arlington Park Race Track.

Police are searching for Jules A. Sider, 25, of Metraire, La., and Dennis Lee Frost, 26, of Columbus, Ohio, for the stabbing murder of Robert R. Scroggins last Friday. All were employes of the Arlington Heights race track.

Police said Sider is wanted for murder and Forst is being sought as an accomplice.

"We have an armory of witnesses," said Capt. Paul Buckholz of Arlington Heights. "We're sure we've got the right men."

Buckholz said Sider and Scroggins had a fist fight at the track a couple of months ago and that vengeance may have been the motive.

"Witnesses have told us that Scroggins had been waiting in his room with a friend for his brother John to arrive," Buckholz said. "He (Scroggins) heard a knock on the door, opened it, and Sider supposedly rushed in, saying, 'I'm going to kill you.' "

Sider and Forst allegedly fled in a red Pacer that they borrowed from a girl friend. The car was found abandoned on Rand Road near Ill. Rte. 22, Lake Zurich.

VFW reactions mixed over admitting women

The first reaction is always the same. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars don't want women in their ranks.

Elroy Pohlmann of the Mount Prospect Post 1337 greeted the suggestion with a belly laugh. "That's my answer," he said. "My own reaction is it would be absolutely ridiculous."

But once the proposal was explained, Pohlman changed his mind. He said it would be OK to admit women as long as they had earned the right by serving in a combat zone overseas.

VFW National Comdr. John Wasylik said he is counting on that second reaction to get a bylaw change aping women to join the veterans' organization.

ELECTED COMMANDER at the national convention last month, Wasylik promised to resubmit the bylaw change for consideration by all 10,000 posts across the country. It will be voted on next August.

"What's fair is fair," Wasylik said, noting that women who served in combat zones have as much right to be VFW members as male veterans.

"We know there are a half a million women veterans," Wasylik said. "Maybe 100,000 of them would be eligible."

Some FVW members have strong feelings on the matter. Joe Piazza, manager of the Elk Grove VFW Post 9284, said the men at his post don't like the idea.

"The fellows here are against it," Piazza said, recalling conversations at the bar.

BUT TOM Frushour, commander of the Mount Prospect post, feels differently.

"I don't see why not. The VFW is more or less dying on the vine," he said, noting there aren't a lot of potential members anymore. "The only way you can get new members it to have another war, and that is no way to get new members."

The bylaw change was defeated once at the August VFW convention in Minneapolis, but Wasylik said that was because members felt pressured.

He said President Carter had recently ruled that government authorities could not attend meetings of organizations that discriminated against minorities. Several members felt this ruling applied to the VFW, even though the U.S. Supreme Court had just ruled the organization did not discriminate.

Scott files petitions against nuclear plant explosion

Proposed expansion of the nation's largest nuclear fuel storage facility has a new opponent — Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott.

Scott filed two petitions with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission opposing expansion of the plant. He has asked that shipments to the General Electric Co. operation in Morris, Ill., be halted until environmental studies can be completed.

The storage facility originally was supposed to be part of General Electric's fuel reprocessing facility, which was abandoned as unusable. GE won approval to increase the size of the facility nearly two years ago, and last year the NRC increased the expansion.

The Palatine-based Pollution and Environmental Problems (PEP) has been actively opposing the expansion, saying it would turn Illinois into a dumping ground for other states' atomic wastes.

"I THINK IT is big news," said PEP president Katherine Quigg of Scott's action. "And I think PEP played an important role in it."

As a result of Scott's challenge, the NRC will conduct public hearings on the proposed expansion. Mrs. Quigg said she and her organization expect to be as active as possible during those hearings.

In one petition, Scott is asking the commission to delay the expansion until a national policy is developed on the storage of high-level nuclear wastes. He also asks the NRC to develop a specific environmental impact statement for the Morris operation.

The second petition asks the NRC to suspend, revoke or modify GE's present license to store 750 tons of fuel. He also wants all shipments to Morris halted immediately.

Victor the giraffe—struggle over

WINCHESTER, England (UPI) — Victor, the 18-foot giraffe whose collapse during a night of love captured the world's attention, died Tuesday while Royal Navy experts tried to hoist him back on his feet in a giant pair of canvas pants.

Victor's heart "just gave up" during the rescue operation, veterinarians said. The 15-year-old beast lost consciousness, his long and muscular neck drooped and his struggle to survive was over.

"I think he died very quickly and I don't think he felt any real pain," a zoo official said.

VICTOR HAD SAT helplessly spread-eagled since Thursday, when keepers said he slipped and fell during an amorous encounter with Arabesque, one of his three wives. He had been unable to regain his feet since.

Zoo officials said Victor appeared nervous Tuesday as scaffolding was built around him for the lift operation, devised by Royal Navy experts familiar with unusual freight problems.

"We've never had to make trousers for a giraffe before," a member of the team said as the special canvas harness was prepared.

The 18-foot tall beast, exhausted by previous attempts to struggle to his feet, was given saline and glucose solutions and a variety of energy-producing drugs. His keeper stroked him constantly in an attempt to calm him.

Victor resisted only slightly as the hoist operation began. Zoo workers massaged his legs to help blood circulation. His keeper stood on bales of hay to comfort him, and hundreds of visitors watched in suspense.

BUT ALL THE EFFORTS were in vain.

"I think it is the shock of what has happened progressively," said John Knowles, owner of the Marwell Park Zoo. "And in this last trauma he didn't have the will to stand it.

"Giraffes . . . suppress their shock but their worry and concern is going on inside them," Knowles said. "They reach the point where they just give up."

WORKMEN AT the Marwell Zoo near Winchester, England attempted Tuesday to raise Victor the Giraffe to his feet. Five days earlier, Victor fell spreadeagled to the ground after attempting to mate with one of his three "wives." Shortly after being winched to his feet, Victor died.

Yes to economic caution, no to growth naysayers

It is strange that there is so much pessimism around regarding the status of the economic recovery in the United States.

Most economists do expect some slowing in the pace of recovery from the very handsome growth rates of the first half of this year. But they do not anticipate a genuine downturn in business activity in the next year.

For instance, the latest median forecast of some 37 economists belonging to the American Statistical Assn. sees real gross national product (GNP — the total output of goods and services) rising some 5 per cent this year. Indeed, the economists estimate the mean probability of a decline in GNP in constant dollars as only 4.5 in 100 this quarter, 8 in 100 next quarter and rising to 23.1 in 100 by the third quarter of 1978. Naturally, as the time span increases, the economists become more cautious in their forecasts and hedge somewhat on the chances of a recession.

In other words, this important group of experts from manufacturing, commercial banking, other financial institutions, consulting firms, research organizations, academia, trade associations, and government are modestly cheerful about the economy. By the third quarter of 1978, their median forecast has the GNP in current prices running at a $2.129 trillion level. It was only in 1971 that the U.S. economy broke into the $1 trillion level.

Of course, inflation accounts for much of that increase. Nonetheless in constant 1972 dollars the GNP has grown from $1.007 trillion dollars in 1967 to a $1.33 trillion level in the second quarter of this year. And, according to the consensus forecast of this group of economists, the U.S. economy will reach a $1.409 trillion level (in 1972 dollars) by the third quarter of next year.

The median forecast is not entirely rosy. For instance, it indicates that the unemployment rate will still be running at a 6.8 per cent rate by the fourth quarter of 1977, and a 6.5 per cent rate by the third quarter of 1978. Inflation this year, as measured by the broadest price index, the implicit price deflator, will rise 5½ per cent this year over 1976 and run about 6 per cent next year.

Such consensus forecasts have been wrong before. But, if this one fails and a recession occurs in the next few quarters, economists will have to go back to their texts and revise economic theory in a major way.

For instance, economic theory maintains that recessions have been preceded by monetary restraint. But the nation's money supply has been growing at a rapid rate in recent months. Note Kidder, Peabody & Co. economists Sam Nakagama and Robert Chandross: "The strongest argument against a serious slowdown . . . is found in the behavior of the monetary aggregates. With M2 (a fairly broad measure of money) increasing 11.1 per cent over the past year, even a minirecession can be confidently ruled out for the next year or so. Rather, the recent high rates of monetary growth must be seen as increasing the danger of inflation."

Further proof of continued recovery came last week with a Commerce Department survey finding that the nation's businesses plan to step up their spending on plant and equipment by 13.3 per cent this year in current dollars and 8 per cent in constant dollars. That's not quite as big an increase as the Carter administration would like to see. But it is enough to help continue the recovery.

The biggest threat to continued economic growth is not a slump in stock prices or a possibility the consumer will slow his spending dramatically. It is inflation.

Citibank, for instance, reckons that the current growth rates of money permitted by the Federal Reserve System will "almost inevitably produce substantial escalation of inflation, probably in the late years of this decade." It expects prices to be increasing at a 7 or 8 per cent rate by the end of 1979. At that point the Fed once more will blow the whistle on inflation with monetary restraint, figures Citibank. The result could be a mild recession in 1980 or 1981 and unemployment going back up to 8 per cent.

The implied message from this scenario is that the Fed's current monetary posture is overexpansive, that if the Fed exercised more restraint now the nation would enjoy a slower but longer recovery. That policy of restraint, however, would be politically tough. Congress has been pressuring the Fed to step on the monetary gas. Monetary restraint implies modest GNP growth and only a slow reduction in unemployment. The number of jobless in urban ghettos would remain high for another two or three years.

Nonetheless, monetary caution offers the best long-run gains for the nation. It appears to be the only way to get the U.S. economy slowly back into a pattern of stable, less inflationary growth. The black unemployment problem would then have to be dealt with directly and promptly by provision of government-sponsored jobs that would fade out once the private economy needed the extra workers.

Double standard remains in juvenile justice system

Jim Bishop

It always has been important that girls grow to be ladies. It has not been necessary for boys to become gentlemen. The origin of the unequal stricture lies in man's insecurity within himself. He reached manhood looking for a virgin who could cook.

Times have changed. In some ways, they improved the discernment of the women at the expense of the men. Aggressive sexual wives have reduced young husbands to impotence. Man has been challenged on his own ground and is hurt by equality.

The species will survive this. Men will marry cynical acrobats. In time, the Equal Rights Amendment will bring equal pay for equal work, and women will drop their pants and get back into dresses.

TO MY KNOWLEDGE, no feminist has studied the inequality in our prison system. Girls suffer longer, and for more varied crimes, than boys. In the juvenile field, more boys are in jail than girls, but no boy is arrested for being sexually promiscuous.

Girls are. Mothers condemn daughters for crimes that are victimless. The old saw that "boys will be boys" is not part of the criminal statutes, but it is deep inside parental heads. Girls who covet sexual adventure are "loose, prostitutes, trollops, dogs."

It seems not to have occurred to many that if boys are going to be boys, they are going to do it with someone else's daughter. Boys who run away from home are seldom sought. Girls who run away are hunted like wanted fugitives and tossed into jails until claimed.

Dr. Rosemary Sarri, co-director of the National Assessment of Juvenile Corrections, claims that two-thirds of all runaways arrested by police are girls — even though more boys leave home than girls. She was astonished to learn that, of the youths located and returned home, parents lodge charges against 10 per cent of the boys and 33 per cent of the girls.

This leads to a simple quotient: What is forgiveable in young men is intolerable in young ladies. The reason more girls spend a longer time in cell blocks is because parents refuse to give them a home.

THE AMERICAN Bar Assn. published this finding: 'At every point in the juvenile justice system the female is treated differently and more harshly than the male." This is difficult to countenance when you realize that boys commit hundreds of thousands more crimes of violence.

County and state jails are jammed with girls whose crime is being "incorrigible." This is as nebulous a charge as "loitering." In most instances, it means a growing girl who is chronically disobedient. Inversely, it also means that the parents concede that they cannot control the child.

Girls in jail are also at the mercy of sturdy females with big slapping hands, women with a license to punish or reward at their whim. The "good" juvenile girl can earn 25 cents an hour doing menial tasks. The "good" juvenile boy gets $1 an hour.

Susan Behm, who has made a separate study in New York state, said that the Dept. of Correction has only one good study program for girls: make them good mommies. Boys are taught carpentry, mechanics, building trades, even pre-law courses.

One of the common crimes is shoplifting. It is committed by both sexes. Girls caught are sent to prison. Boys are put on probation, unless they are recidivists.

PRISONS EVERYWHERE are bulging. Judges are making a valiant effort to cut the number of penitents with hilariously mad sentences such as "one year to life." A few states are experimenting with forcing those convicted of non-violent crimes to make restitution to the victims.

This seems equitable unless, of course, you are a pretty girl who is deemed to be "incorrigible." She cannot pay back her wrongs. Mothers, it appears, are more harsh and more unforgiving of transgressions by daughters than by sons. It is a reflection of their own suspicions about themselves.

It is infuriating for a young boy to grow up in confinement. To a young girl it is deep despair and a feeling of worthlessness. Many of them could be reclaimed. These are the unwanted.....

Don't close Arlington Heights Rd.

Officials of the Village of Long Grove ought to consider the overall traffic needs of the area as they debate what should be done about the northern end of Arlington Heights Road.

The one thing that should be clear is that closing Arlington Heights Road through Long Grove is not the solution. If the road is closed, residents of Buffalo Grove will be cut off from a north-south route and will face even greater traffic hazards as they seek alternate routes.

Some Long Grove residents who live along Arlington Heights Road want the road closed to prevent the heavy traffic from intruding on their life-style. One resident, for example, complains that he was brushed by a passing car while riding his horse along the road.

What is needed is for Long Grove officials to work with Buffalo Grove and Lake County officials to make the road, which is used by approximately 5,000 cars a day, safe for increased traffic volumes. Widening the road, not closing it to make it safe for horses, is the solution.

He wants track to get 300 dates

In your edition of Sept. 7, there was an article stating that Arlington Park Race Track has requested 300 thoroughbred and harness racing dates from February through December in each of the next three years.

I hope the dates are granted for the following reasons:

The added revenues to the Village of Arlington Heights from sales, admission and liquor license taxes could reduce the heavy tax burden on homeowners of Arlington Heights.

Three-hundred days of thoroughbred and harness racing at Arlington Park would give 300 days of desperately needed traffic control help at the intersections of Dunton and Euclid Avenues and Arlington Heights Road and Euclid Avenue at least during the times when traffic would be going to and from the track.

As a resident of Euclid Avenue (our mid-town expressway, a 20 foot wide excuse for a thoroughfare) such traffic control would be most helpful to the citizens of Arlington Heights who have to use or cross Euclid Avenue.

Of course, inflation accounts for much of that increase. Nonetheless in constant 1972 dollars the GNP has grown from $1.007 trillion dollars in 1967 to a $1.33 trillion level in the second quarter of this year. And, according to the consensus forecast of this group of economists, the U.S. economy will reach a $1.409 trillion level (in 1972 dollars) by the third quarter of next year.

The median forecast is not entirely rosy. For instance, it indicates that the unemployment rate will still be running at a 6.8 per cent rate by the fourth quarter of 1977, and a 6.5 per cent rate by the third quarter of 1978. Inflation this year, as measured by the broadest price index, the implicit price deflator, will rise 5½ per cent this year over 1976 and run about 6 per cent next year.

Such consensus forecasts have been wrong before. But, if this one fails and a recession occurs in the next few quarters, economists will have to go back to their texts and revise economic theory in a major way.

For instance, economic theory maintains that recessions have been preceded by monetary restraint. But the nation's money supply has been growing at a rapid rate in recent months. Note Kidder, Peabody & Co. economists Sam Nakagama and Robert Chandross: "The strongest argument against a serious slowdown . . . is found in the behavior of the monetary aggregates. With M2 (a fairly broad measure of money) increasing 11.1 per cent over the past year, even a minirecession can be confidently ruled out for the next year or so. Rather, the recent high rates of monetary growth must be seen as increasing the danger of inflation."

Further proof of continued recovery came last week with a Commerce Department survey finding that the nation's businesses plan to step up their spending on plant and equipment by 13.3 per cent this year in current dollars and 8 per cent in constant dollars. That's not quite as big an increase as the Carter administration would like to see. But it is enough to help continue the recovery.

The biggest threat to continued economic growth is not a slump in stock prices or a possibility the consumer will slow his spending dramatically. It is inflation.

Citibank, for instance, reckons that the current growth rates of money permitted by the Federal Reserve System will "almost inevitably produce substantial escalation of inflation, probably in the late years of this decade." It expects prices to be increasing at a 7 or 8 per cent rate by the end of 1979. At that point the Fed once more will blow the whistle on inflation with monetary restraint, figures Citibank. The result could be a mild recession in 1980 or 1981 and unemployment going back up to 8 per cent.

The implied message from this scenario is that the Fed's current monetary posture is overexpansive, that if the Fed exercised more restraint now the nation would enjoy a slower but longer recovery. That policy of restraint, however, would be politically tough. Congress has been pressuring the Fed to step on the monetary gas. Monetary restraint implies modest GNP growth and only a slow reduction in unemployment. The number of jobless in urban ghettos would remain high for another two or three years.

Nonetheless, monetary caution offers the best long-run gains for the nation. It appears to be the only way to get the U.S. economy slowly back into a pattern of stable, less inflationary growth. The black unemployment problem would then have to be dealt with directly and promptly by provision of government-sponsored jobs that would fade out once the private economy needed the extra workers.

Double standard remains in juvenile justice system

Jim Bishop

It always has been important that girls grow to be ladies. It has not been necessary for boys to become gentlemen. The origin of the unequal stricture lies in man's insecurity within himself. He reached manhood looking for a virgin who could cook.

Times have changed. In some ways, they improved the discernment of the women at the expense of the men. Aggressive sexual wives have reduced young husbands to impotence. Man has been challenged on his own ground and is hurt by equality.

The species will survive this. Men will marry cynical acrobats. In time, the Equal Rights Amendment will bring equal pay for equal work, and women will drop their pants and get back into dresses.

TO MY KNOWLEDGE, no feminist has studied the inequality in our prison system. Girls suffer longer, and for more varied crimes, than boys. In the juvenile field, more boys are in jail than girls, but no boy is arrested for being sexually promiscuous.

Girls are. Mothers condemn daughters for crimes that are victimless. The old saw that "boys will be boys" is not part of the criminal statutes, but it is deep inside parental heads. Girls who covet sexual adventure are "loose, prostitutes, trollops, dogs."

It seems not to have occurred to many that if boys are going to be boys, they are going to do it with someone else's daughter. Boys who run away from home are seldom sought. Girls who run away are hunted like wanted fugitives and tossed into jails until claimed.

Dr. Rosemary Sarri, co-director of the National Assessment of Juvenile Corrections, claims that two-thirds of all runaways arrested by police are girls — even though more boys leave home than girls. She was astonished to learn that, of the youths located and returned home, parents lodge charges against 10 per cent of the boys and 33 per cent of the girls.

This leads to a simple quotient: What is forgiveable in young men is intolerable in young ladies. The reason more girls spend a longer time in cell blocks is because parents refuse to give them a home.

THE AMERICAN Bar Assn. published this finding: 'At every point in the juvenile justice system the female is treated differently and more harshly than the male." This is difficult to countenance when you realize that boys commit hundreds of thousands more crimes of violence.

County and state jails are jammed with girls whose crime is being "incorrigible." This is as nebulous a charge as "loitering." In most instances, it means a growing girl who is chronically disobedient. Inversely, it also means that the parents concede that they cannot control the child.

Girls in jail are also at the mercy of sturdy females with big slapping hands, women with a license to punish or reward at their whim. The "good" juvenile girl can earn 25 cents an hour doing menial tasks. The "good" juvenile boy gets $1 an hour.

Susan Behm, who has made a separate study in New York state, said that the Dept. of Correction has only one good study program for girls: make them good mommies. Boys are taught carpentry, mechanics, building trades, even pre-law courses.

One of the common crimes is shoplifting. It is committed by both sexes. Girls caught are sent to prison. Boys are put on probation, unless they are recidivists.

PRISONS EVERYWHERE are bulging. Judges are making a valiant effort to cut the number of penitents with hilariously mad sentences such as "one year to life." A few states are experimenting with forcing those convicted of non-violent crimes to make restitution to the victims.

This seems equitable unless, of course, you are a pretty girl who is deemed to be "incorrigible." She cannot pay back her wrongs. Mothers, it appears, are more harsh and more unforgiving of transgressions by daughters than by sons. It is a reflection of their own suspicions about themselves.

It is infuriating for a young boy to grow up in confinement. To a young girl it is deep despair and a feeling of worthlessness. Many of them could be reclaimed. These are the unwanted.....

Don't close Arlington Heights Rd.

Officials of the Village of Long Grove ought to consider the overall traffic needs of the area as they debate what should be done about the northern end of Arlington Heights Road.

The one thing that should be clear is that closing Arlington Heights Road through Long Grove is not the solution. If the road is closed, residents of Buffalo Grove will be cut off from a north-south route and will face even greater traffic hazards as they seek alternate routes.

Some Long Grove residents who live along Arlington Heights Road want the road closed to prevent the heavy traffic from intruding on their life-style. One resident, for example, complains that he was brushed by a passing car while riding his horse along the road.

What is needed is for Long Grove officials to work with Buffalo Grove and Lake County officials to make the road, which is used by approximately 5,000 cars a day, safe for increased traffic volumes. Widening the road, not closing it to make it safe for horses, is the solution.

He wants track to get 300 dates

In your edition of Sept. 7, there was an article stating that Arlington Park Race Track has requested 300 thoroughbred and harness racing dates from February through December in each of the next three years.

I hope the dates are granted for the following reasons:

The added revenues to the Village of Arlington Heights from sales, admission and liquor license taxes could reduce the heavy tax burden on homeowners of Arlington Heights.

Three-hundred days of thoroughbred and harness racing at Arlington Park would give 300 days of desperately needed traffic control help at the intersections of Dunton and Euclid Avenues and Arlington Heights Road and Euclid Avenue at least during the times when traffic would be going to and from the track.

As a resident of Euclid Avenue (our mid-town expressway, a 20 foot wide excuse for a thoroughfare) such traffic control would be most helpful to the citizens of Arlington Heights who have to use or cross Euclid Avenue.

Decision time—Bakalis weighs shot at top

by STEVE BROWN
Commentary

Time appears to be running out for Comptroller Michael Bakalis on the question of whether he will run for governor.

Although petition filing for the 1978 election does not roll around until mid-December, Bakalis says he will make up his mind in about 10 days. Two other potential candidates have bowed out.

It is a decision he probably would rather not make.

LACKING THE POSSIBILITY some unknown Democratic messiah will appear on the scene, Bakalis embodies the only real candidate the party could pit against Gov. James R. Thompson next year without looking foolish.

A Bakalis victory over Thompson is a long shot. The fall betting line and several polls already rate a Bakalis-Thompson race as the surest path of the 39-year-old Downers Grove resident to get off the government payroll

The smartest thing Bakalis could do right now is run for another term as comptroller. Unless he has an unsatiated martyr complex, Bakalis has little to gain by taking a shot at Thompson.

Some pundits will suggest that a loss by Bakalis will not be devastating to his career.

DEVASTATING NO: but losses never have been an especially sought after tonic by politicians.

Pundits also observe Bakalis already has upset two incumbent Republicans. However, it must be noted he defeated a corrupt Ray Page for Superintendent of public instruction in 1970 when U.S. Sen. Adali Stevenson was sweeping all kinds of Democrats into office in his first Senate race.

His second victory came at the expense of former Comptroller George Lindberg, a competent official, but an uninspiring campaigner. Bakalis used an effective television campaign to bring home his narrow victory last year.

Without denigrating Bakalis' triumphs, labeling him a "giant killer" is a little far fetched.

RELIABLE OBSERVERS suggest Bakalis was ready to jump into the race several weeks ago. They said he merely was waiting for Sec. of State Alan J. Dixon to make up his mind.

But from the moment Dixon decided to bypass a pasting from Thompson and seek reelection, Bakalis has appeared to be wavering.

He decided he needed to take an expensive poll and more consultation with party leaders before making up his previously made up mind.

Bakalis insists he is not getting cold feet, but he must be asking himself if wily, cunning Alan Dixon decided not to make the race, why should he?

IT IS A GOOD question. The logical answer is that he should not do it. Waiting for the 1982 election could mean Thompson will have left to make a bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

No one is forcing Bakalis to make the race. The death of Richard J. Daley has left the Democratic party without the muscle to bully politicians like Bakalis into a campaign.

If he decides to go, Bakalis will have to hope that lightning strikes Thompson along the way and serious blunders blight the governor's largely untarnished image.

BAKALIS WILL BE hard pressed to attack the governor with the ammunition he has now. In fact, some fellow Democrats, including State Rep. Richard Mugalian, D-Palatine, have attacked the veracity of his own statements on fiscal matters during the spring legislative session.

THIS SORT of thing does not help at all, but it is a situation Bakalis will have to face when he makes his decision.

"The "smart" decision would be for Bakalis to follow Dixon and take a pass in 1978.

However it is not impossible that lightning cannot strike for a third time.

After all, Dan Walker could never be elected governor and Jimmy Carter was an impossible long-shot for president, according to the respected pundits.

MICHAEL BAKALIS

Baker faces no panacea on Panama

by STEVE GERSTEL
Commentary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The heat is on Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker and the coming winter will bring him no relief.

Baker, an adroit politician, will need all his acumen and more than a little backwoods luck to escape the fight over the Panama Canal treaties without some scars.

In fact, the Tennessean may be in a no-win situation.

HAVING TO TAKE a position and voting on the twin treaties is not a joyous prospect for most senators It is a political torment for many.

The exceptions are the conservatives — Republicans and Democrats — to whom ceding the Panama Canal to Panamanians under any circumstances and in any year is wrong.

Even the smattering of liberals who have endorsed the treaties and pledged their support to President Carter know they are bucking public sentiment as of now.

Baker, however, is in a singular position among his colleagues.

HE HARBORS BARELY disguised ambitions for the 1980 presidential nomination, and, as the Senate's GOP leader, could hold the key in a close showdown when the vote comes in January or February.

Baker's position at the moment — which at least gives him some breathing room is that he has not made a decision.

Baker said he would decide, either during the course of the Foreign Relations Committee hearings that start near the end of the month, or when the debate begins next year.

Once that decision is made however, Baker plans to do more than just cast his vote and try and ride out whatever backlash may occur. He plans to be out in front.

"WHEN I MAKE up my mind — when I do that — I will do my best to make my view prevail"

And right about then, Baker's real problems will begin. The conservatives already are all over him.

The titular leader of the anti-treaties forces is Ronald Reagan. He scored a lot of points campaigning against the treaties last year when he battled President Gerald Ford for the nomination.

If Baker splits with the Reagan right, he can almost surely forget about their support in 1980 or thereafter. And as the conservatives proved last year, they know how to get delegates to the convention.

The alternative involves splitting with former Pres. Gerald Ford who now represents the moderate wing of the party. Ford quickly endorsed the treaties but declined Carter's suggestion to go campaigning for them.

The Ford wing anl the more liberal segments of the party are not as rigid as the conservatives and would not, as the conservatives almost certainly would, write Baker off on the basis of one vote

There is one saving factor in all this for Baker. Seeing there is no way for him to win politically on the issue, he can concentrate purely on the merits of the treaties.

Jackie's Onassis cut $26 million

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis will receive $26 million from her late husband's estimated half-billion dollar estate in return for breaking all ties with the claims, an Onassis foundation spokesman said Tuesday.

The $26 million will be in addition to an annual tax free income of $150,000 originally bequeathed to her by Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis, a board member of the foundation said.

Sources close to the foundation said Onassis' daughter, Christina, accepted the settlement because she was eager to end the entanglement. Christina also reportedly had been advised that her stepmother, the widow of President John F. Kennedy, "would not consider anything less than $20 million."

NEITHER JACQUELINE nor Christina had any comment.

The foundation spokesman, who declined to be identified, said agreement was reached in an out-of-court settlement in June 1976 following lengthy negotiations among lawyers representing Christina, Onassis' only surviving child, Jacqueline and the executors of the Onassis estate.

The board member, who took part in the negotiations, said it was agreed in May 1976 that Mrs. Onassis would receive $20 million.

But through her lawyers, Mrs. Onassis pressed for more money to cover her taxes on the sum and at another meeting in Zurich the following month she accepted a total of $26 million. The extra $6 million has to cover taxes on a clear $20 million settlement.

"Mrs. Onassis is a woman who knows how to protect and augment her rights," the board member said. "She took advantage of Christina's wish to become controller of the part of the Onassis estate she was legally entitled to, and sked for her share."

THE ORIGINAL Onassis bequest provided Jackie with $250,000 a year. Of that sum, $100,000 went to Jackie, $50,000 was set aside for her children by the late American President and $100,000 was to cover U.S. taxes on the entire sum.

The board member said the legal wrangle over Onassis' multimillion dollar estate, made up mostly of ships and U.S.-based enterprises, began in 1975, when Christina decided to demand her full rights under Greek law rather than accept a major share of a trust covering 45 per cent of her father's assets.

Under Greek law, Christina was entitled to 75 per cent of her father's estate as the only surviving child. Under the same law the remaining 25 per cent normally would go to the widow.

Onassis' handwritten will said: "I have received from my wife her resignation from any claims of inheritance through a notarized agreement in the United States. If my wife presses any inheritance claims, then she will not be given her annuity of my estate (the $100,000 annual payment). If she wins a final ruling from a court that cannot be appealed, then she will receive one-eighth of the estate of Christina."

Portugese convicts free 20 hostages

OPORTO, Portugal (UPI) — Ten convicts who had vowed to fight for "liberty or death" released 20 hostages and surrendered Tuesday, ending a 24-hour siege inside their maximum-security prison in return for transfer to another jail.

One convict died, the prison warden and chief guard were seriously wounded and four other persons were injured in a gun battle that began the escape attempt. After the prisoners surrendered, police said guards had caused all the casualties, but they gave no furthar explanation.

The inmates were hustled into vans for transfer to another jail immediately after they laid down their weapons — .22-caliber pistols smuggled into the jail and other guns seized from guards. The hostages poured out of the Custoias prison and rushed into the arms of police.

THE FIRST FREED hostage appeared to be in a state of shock. Prison warden Pinheird Torres, who had been shot in the chest and the leg, followed on a stretcher The remtining hostages appeared in better spirits.

"I never looked upon it as an assault," 60-year-old telephone operator Rosa Pinto da Silva said. "They got close to me with a knife, but they were so nice that I thought they were playjng a joke."

The convicts, led by a former guerrilla fighter from Angola who was held for bank robbery, seized control of the prison's administrative offices, declared they were political prisoners and issued a bizarre series of demands during the 24 hours they were in control.

Double Trouble

by Ed Landwehr

"Two heads are better than one" is a fine proverb for a thinking problem, but it doesn't apply to two antennas hooked into the same TV set without the proper adapters. It just causes mismatch, and you have less signal. We saw this on one of our antenna TV service calls.

If better reception is wanted and you have two antennas on the roof pointing in two different directions, you should have an arrangement from one to the other but never both at one.

Antenna proficiency has improved greatly in the past few years and if your TV picture has deteriorated lately phone 255-0700 and let Landwehr's TV & Appliance Center give you an appraisal of your equipment. We're experienced in this area and will assure you satisfaction.

When you buy a television at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, we include delivery and installation, and will appraise your antenna system.

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis will receive $26 million from her late husband's estimated half-billion dollar estate in return for breaking all ties with the claims, an Onassis foundation spokesman said Tuesday.

The $26 million will be in addition to an annual tax free income of $150,000 originally bequeathed to her by Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis, a board member of the foundation said.

Sources close to the foundation said Onassis' daughter, Christina, accepted the settlement because she was eager to end the entanglement. Christina also reportedly had been advised that her stepmother, the widow of President John F. Kennedy, "would not consider anything less than $20 million."

NEITHER JACQUELINE nor Christina had any comment.

The foundation spokesman, who declined to be identified, said agreement was reached in an out-of-court settlement in June 1976 following lengthy negotiations among lawyers representing Christina, Onassis' only surviving child, Jacqueline and the executors of the Onassis estate.

The board member, who took part in the negotiations, said it was agreed in May 1976 that Mrs. Onassis would receive $20 million.

But through her lawyers, Mrs. Onassis pressed for more money to cover her taxes on the sum and at another meeting in Zurich the following month she accepted a total of $26 million. The extra $6 million has to cover taxes on a clear $20 million settlement.

"Mrs. Onassis is a woman who knows how to protect and augment her rights," the board member said. "She took advantage of Christina's wish to become controller of the part of the Onassis estate she was legally entitled to, and sked for her share."

THE ORIGINAL Onassis bequest provided Jackie with $250,000 a year. Of that sum, $100,000 went to Jackie, $50,000 was set aside for her children by the late American President and $100,000 was to cover U.S. taxes on the entire sum.

The board member said the legal wrangle over Onassis' multimillion dollar estate, made up mostly of ships and U.S.-based enterprises, began in 1975, when Christina decided to demand her full rights under Greek law rather than accept a major share of a trust covering 45 per cent of her father's assets.

Under Greek law, Christina was entitled to 75 per cent of her father's estate as the only surviving child. Under the same law the remaining 25 per cent normally would go to the widow.

Onassis' handwritten will said: "I have received from my wife her resignation from any claims of inheritance through a notarized agreement in the United States. If my wife presses any inheritance claims, then she will not be given her annuity of my estate (the $100,000 annual payment). If she wins a final ruling from a court that cannot be appealed, then she will receive one-eighth of the estate of Christina."

Portugese convicts free 20 hostages

OPORTO, Portugal (UPI) — Ten convicts who had vowed to fight for "liberty or death" released 20 hostages and surrendered Tuesday, ending a 24-hour siege inside their maximum-security prison in return for transfer to another jail.

One convict died, the prison warden and chief guard were seriously wounded and four other persons were injured in a gun battle that began the escape attempt. After the prisoners surrendered, police said guards had caused all the casualties, but they gave no furthar explanation.

The inmates were hustled into vans for transfer to another jail immediately after they laid down their weapons — .22-caliber pistols smuggled into the jail and other guns seized from guards. The hostages poured out of the Custoias prison and rushed into the arms of police.

THE FIRST FREED hostage appeared to be in a state of shock. Prison warden Pinheird Torres, who had been shot in the chest and the leg, followed on a stretcher The remtining hostages appeared in better spirits.

"I never looked upon it as an assault," 60-year-old telephone operator Rosa Pinto da Silva said. "They got close to me with a knife, but they were so nice that I thought they were playjng a joke."

The convicts, led by a former guerrilla fighter from Angola who was held for bank robbery, seized control of the prison's administrative offices, declared they were political prisoners and issued a bizarre series of demands during the 24 hours they were in control.

Double Trouble

"Two heads are better than one" is a fine proverb for a thinking problem, but it doesn't apply to two antennas hooked into the same TV set without the proper adapters. It just causes mismatch, and you have less signal. We saw this on one of our antenna TV service calls.

If better reception is wanted and you have two antennas on the roof pointing in two different directions, you should have an arrangement from one to the other but never both at one.

Antenna proficiency has improved greatly in the past few years and if your TV picture has deteriorated lately phone 255-0700 and let Landwehr's TV & Appliance Center give you an appraisal of your equipment. We're experienced in this area and will assure you satisfaction.

When you buy a television at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, we include delivery and installation, and will appraise your antenna system.

Women work way up banking ladder

by ELEANOR RIVES

Need a student loan? Hildegarde Schubert can help you.

Transferring funds by wire? Betsy Mitchell makes it easy.

Need help in choosing a certificate of deposit? Ruth Park will give it to you.

Looking for a mortgage? A large commercial loan? Try Judy Widbin. Talk to Beverly Wood.

These women are all in the banking business, high up the ladder of the banking business. At 28, Judy Widbin of Buffalo Grove, loan officer for the Buffalo Grove National Bank, is the youngest of the five. She processes mortgages, takes applications for installment loans and makes disbursements in the 2½-year-old institution where 27 of the 32 employes are women.

She started as a credit trainee, then advanced to installment loans, then mortgage loans. "I have a lot left to learn," said Judy. "I intend to know my field backward and forward. Eventually I would want to be at least a vice president."

ACROSS THE QUIET carpeted room, Betsy A. Mitchell sits behind a nameplate declaring her operations officer. She and Judy are the female contingent of the five bank officers.

Betsy had been out of the job market for 18 years. As mother of three children, she had gone the whole route — women's clubs, den mother, Girl Scouts, bridge groups. "I just got tired of it," she said. "I decided I'd try my wings. And the money doesn't hurt either."

Betsy and the bank began working about the same time, Betsy as a part-time teller, the bank as a storefront in a shopping mall. "By the time I was putting in 50 hours a week, it was decided I should be full-time," she said with a laugh.

FROM TELLER and bookkeeper, she advanced to general books and bookkeeping supervisor. The bank advanced to its own building and drive-up facilities on Dundee Road, and Betsy added vault manager to her duties. Then she became operations officer, "a sort of watchdog — so multi-faceted it's hard to explain."

She attributes much of her success to enjoyment of her work. "It's been fun," she says. "The opportunities were right, the timing was right, and definitely the place was right. And I had the complete support of my husband."

She offers much encouragement to women with outgoing personalities and a liking for people. "This is the time," she says. "The field is open in banking for women right now. An accounting education certainly can't hurt. And computer science courses would help."

FARTHER EAST on Dundee Road is the Bank of Buffalo Grove. Of its nine officers, seven are women. Hildegarde Schubert's position as executive vice president ranks highest of the seven.

As she sits in her private office calmly surveying the mountain of mail on her desk, it's hard to imagine her coming to Chicago from Germany in 1958, struggling with the language, satisfied those first few years with work in a factory.

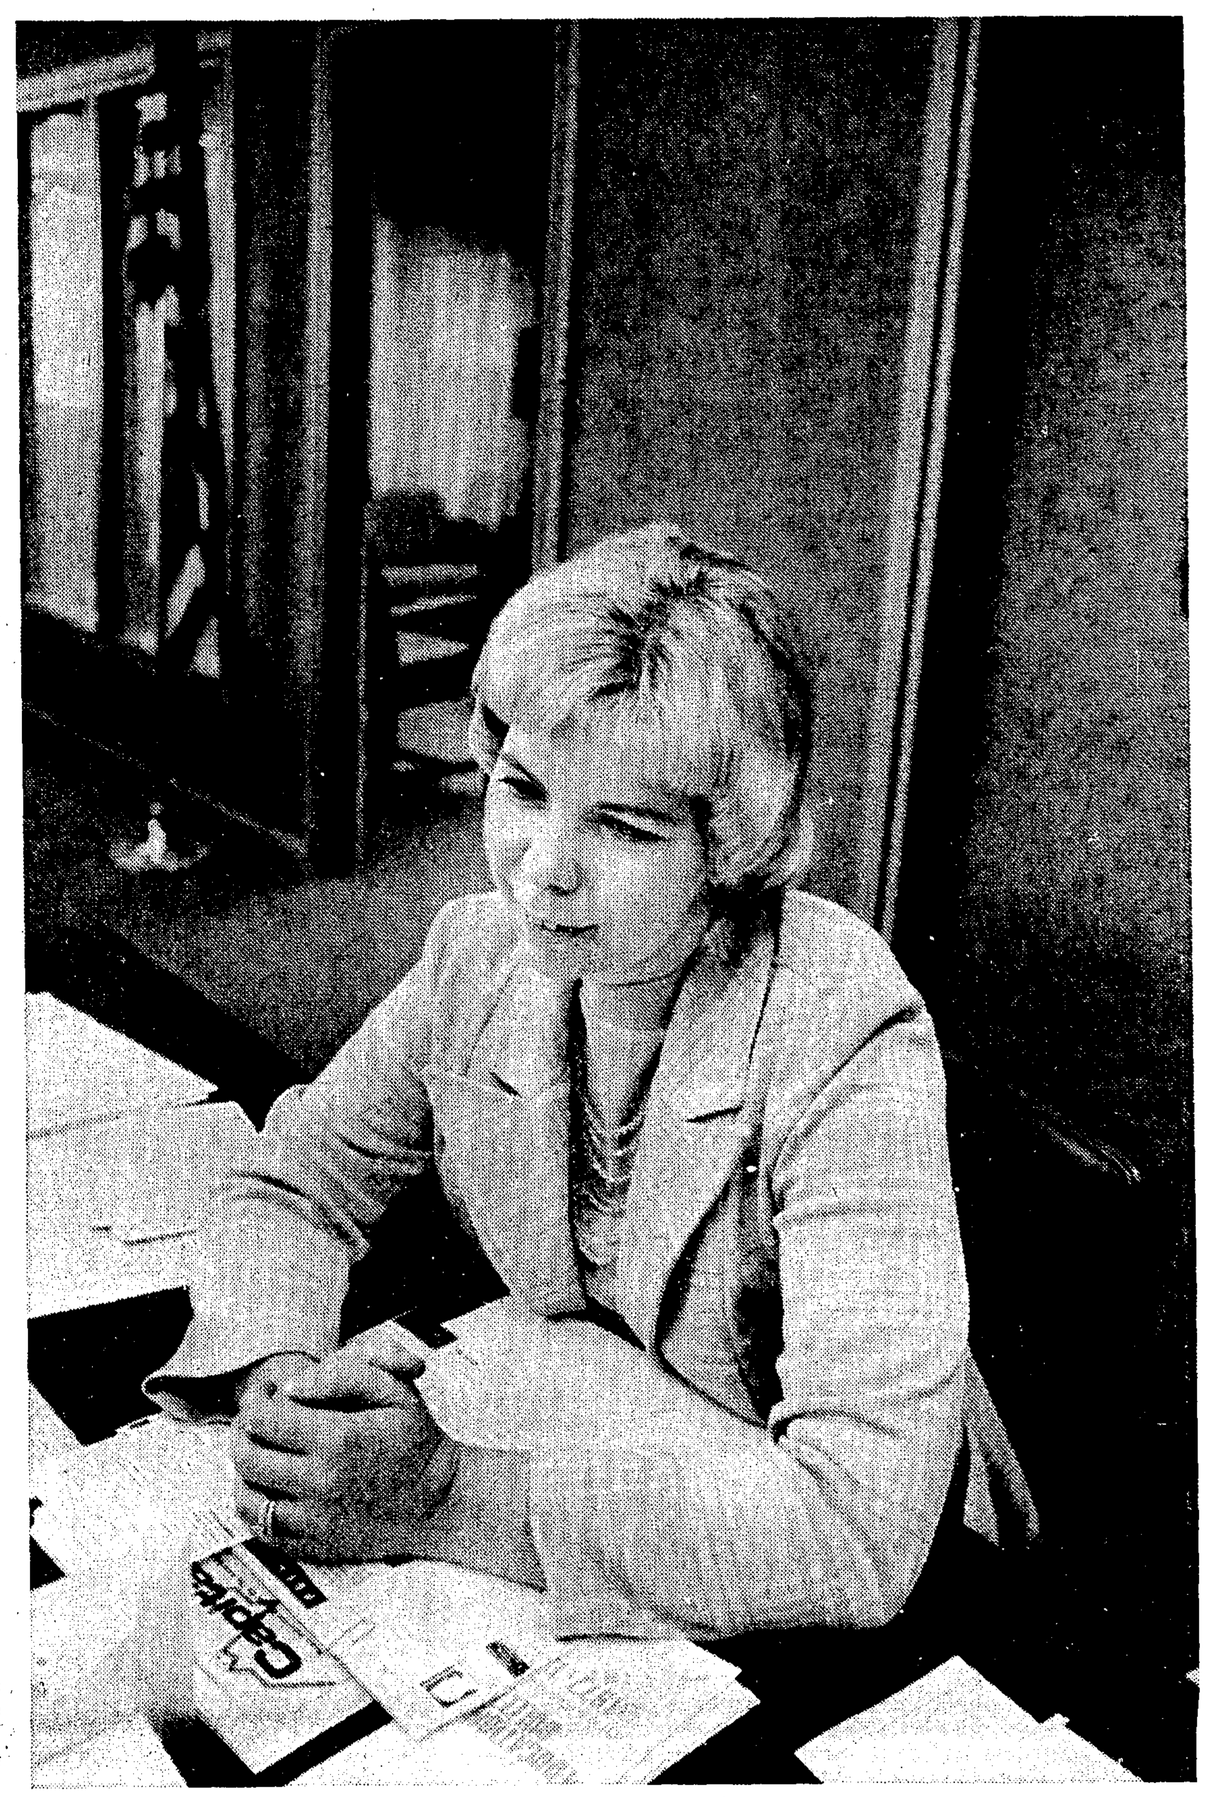
In 1969 when she and her husband moved to Buffalo Grove, she decided to apply at the brand new bank, partly because it was so close to home she could walk to it. They accepted her for the job still open — that of bookkeeper.

TWO YEARS and several departments later, she was made an officer — assistant cashier. "From there on I went up the ladder," she said. "Assistant vice president, vice president in real estate and now executive vice president. I was lucky. I have a very good boss. He promoted me."

Hildegarde learned everything on the job, sometimes putting in as many as 10 hours a day six days a week. "My Wednesday off was not always a Wednesday off," she said.

She suggests that ambitious women who really care about what they are doing can go far in the banking field. "But it's best if they can get some accounting somewhere," she added. "There are banking classes evenings at Harper. And the American Institute of Banking offers courses — there's a branch in Arlington Heights. Most banks pay for these courses — we do. Well, we do if they pass."

Mrs. Schubert enjoys her work, which comes easily to her. "This is it," she says. "I think I've reached my goal."



"IF YOU ARE 100 per cent satisfied with yourself, what have you got to look foward to?" asks Beverly Wood, assistant cashier and administrative assistant to the president at First State Bank & Trust Co. of Hanover Park. Beverly is one of two women bank officers there.

IN THE TRADEWINDS Shopping Center at Irving Park and Barrington roads the First State Bank and Trust Co. of Hanover Park may be found. And at the desk in front of the president's office may be found blonde Beverly Wood, her blue plaid suit harmonizing perfectly with the pastel blue carpet and walls of the bank.

Beverly is assistant cashier and administrative assistant to the president. With a business college background, she has been an executive secretary all her working life, balancing a career with marriage and raising a family of three children. "I was fortunate to get some good baby-sitters, one a mature woman who cares for foster children," she said.

Mrs. Wood started with the Hanover Park bank five years ago after she had lived in Streamwood a year. The bank was only two years old. She learned banking mostly on the job, supplemented with a few American Institute of Banking courses. Three years ago she was made an officer. Only two are women.

AS LOAN OFFICER, she assists the president in making large commercial loans. She is also an assistant trust officer, a personnel officer and on Wednesday, the customary "banker's day off," she's the officer in charge.

"I'm happy and I'm lucky," she said. "I feel that banking is a field women can enter and go through the ranks. There's more room for advancement in banking than in some other fields."

Is she successful? "Yes, but I would like to be more successful," she said. "If you are 100 per cent satisfied, what have you got to look forward to? I want to take more courses and advance in the commercial loan area. I'm also interested in real estate, in bank public relations and marketing."

To young women interested in entering the banking field, she says, "There is much satisfaction in banking. But remember, this is a service. To be successful, you must like people and want to help them."

THE NORTHWEST Suburban Assn. of Commerce and Industry recently appointed a lone woman to its board — Ruth Park, an 18-year resident of the Lexington Fields section of Schaumburg. Ruth is vice president of the Schaumburg State Bank.

Starting out as teller right after the bank opened in 1965, Ruth helped with the bookkeeping, then began handling new accounts, next became a commercial teller, then head teller. She next moved into "operations," then into the comptroller's department, where she now holds her vice president's title.

"If you're a pusher, you can learn just about any facet of banking," she said. "If you're really sincere and eager to learn, it's all there for you. But in banking, there's no such thing as a 9 to 5 job."

IN HER 12 YEARS with the bank, Ruth has had much contact with the public, acquiring a faithful following of customers along the way who always come to her. "I've watched their children grow up," she said with a smile. "Those same kids who came in with their nickels and dimes are now looking for student and car loans. Or they just come in to say 'hello.' "

Ruth believes banks should increase their services to young people, teaching them, for example, to balance their checkbooks or to set up a budget. "We offer to help them with this," she said.

She also believes "there are not nearly as many women vice presidents in the banking field as there should be." At Schaumburg State Bank, there are two others besides herself.

RUTH LOVES HER job. "I've never gotten up in the morning and said 'Gee, I really hate to go to work.' Time passes so rapidly — I'm oblivious to time. There aren't many days when I take a lunch hour."

For a woman who at one time thought accounting was the thing she would be least likely to get into, Ruth has made remarkable progress.

"Yes, I feel successful," she said. "I'm satisfied with the job I have done. It's been very rewarding too, in the people I have met, the knowledge I have gained. The title of vice president may sound impressive, but I feel I've worked for it and earned it. I've contributed quite a bit to the growth of the bank, too."

This is another in a continuing series on women in the Northwest suburbs who have achieved success in the careers they have undertaken.

IN 12 YEARS of service with the Schaumburg State Bank, Ruth Park has advanced from teller to vice president. "If you're sincere and eager to learn, it's all there for you," she says.

Child's welfare of supreme importance in adoption

Julie Martoccio

Women and children first

Dear Julie:

I read with interest every word you write about adopted children wanting to find their real parents. How I wish my child would try to find me! I had a son when I was in my teens but gave him up for adoption. The boy who I married and I decided on this after we were married and divorced.

At first I was relieved, but as time went on, I became obsessed with the idea of finding my child, so much in fact that I married a man because he had money enough-and-more-for me to spend on tracing my son. He does not know about him, and we have no children together.

WELL, IT DIDN'T work, and I finally wound up in therapy especially because during the Korean War I began to brood over whether or not he was in service and that he might have been killed. But therapy did not help much and you can imagine the hell I've been through all these years.

My question is: if the law is now allowing a child to open adoption records and seek its parents, why doesn't it permit a parent to find the adopted child, especially after he's reached maturity?

Dear P. F.:

In adoption, the child's welfare is of paramount importance and the courts try to treat adoption as a permanent condition rather than as "lend lease."

I SEE YOUR POINT, however. It is confusing to try to understand how the law swings from one extreme to another, first insisting adoption records be sealed forever, then allowing them to be opened. But the law must be flexible and move with the times and apparently there were enough adopted children who fought for what they believed was their constitutional right to convince the courts of the validity of the adoptives' appeals.

So, while your premise seems false now, who can say — impossible as it seems — that what you suggest may not take place in the future?

Your heartache is understandable, but you must try to think this through very carefully. For years, your efforts have been in vain. Apparently you have exhausted them. But the strongest reason for giving up your quest is that because of the change in the law's attitude, your son could (or still can) find you if he wished when he reached legal age, assuming, of course, that he is living.

THERE ARE POSSIBILITIES other than death to consider. What if the adoptive parents never told your son that he was adopted? Suppose you found him and he refused to acknowledge you as his mother, resented, or even hated you because you gave him up?

You have not even mentioned the effect this would have on your marriage or the shock it might cause your unsuspecting husband.

For your own mental and emotional health I hope you will use the same effort to bestow love on your husband whom you seem to have forgot in your determination to locate your son. If this fails, perhaps you should try counseling again. It is never too late to ask for help.

The doctor says

Aspirin may ease man's walking pain

I am 75 and have walked all my life. I still walk every day only I am having trouble with my leg. I can only walk a few blocks and have to stop while the pain leaves. I do not have high blood pressure and all my tests come out okay

My doctor gave me Roniacol time span tablets, one a day, and I've taken them for more than a year. I just cannot tell the difference. What do you think of this drug?

I just feel awful when I do not get my walk. I would hate to give it up. It's the best part of my life physically.

Is there anything you could suggest to me? I would try anything. I do not take any other kind of medicines. I'm not heavy, 5 feet 6 and 117 pounds.

Helping you depends upon what you really have. Your doctor must think the pain is caused by poor circulation as Roniacol is used to increase circulation. Your description of developing a pain with walking that goes away with resting suggests that may be the case.

Other possible causes include arthritic changes which might involve the hip or knee. You might ask your doctor to arrange for a consultation with an orthopedic specialist and see if he can provide any help.

You might also get some help from simple aspirin Why? Because it is a good pain reliever and it seems to have some anti-clotting action that might be helpful. Its "blood thinning" action might help your circulation if that is the problem. So whether you have pain from arthritis or poor circulation it could be tried.

Talk to your doctor about it first as some people do not tolerate aspirin well but most do. A few people are inclined to develop a bleeding tendency with it. It should be taken with meals or at least with a cup of milk.

I am a woman of 49 years. I took the pill for eight years and have been off it for a year now. I have not had a period since I came off the pill. Does this mean I have gone through the change and there isn't any possibility of my becoming pregnant at this age?

Women who naturally have completed the menopause and have not had a period for over a year are not likely to get pregnant — some authorities say two years. But in the case of the woman who has been on the pill as in your case, you should be very careful about deciding that you have gone through the menopause.

The pill may result in a temporary suppression of the normal ovulation process and you might still ovulate. I think under these circumstances you should definitely have your doctor examine you. He can advise you if you have or have not completed the menopause and are no longer likely to get pregnant before you throw caution to the wind.

Quick, easy recipe for buffet dinner

Dear Roberta: I need a main course recipe for a buffet dinner. Can you suggest one that can be served on paper plates and won't need knives? — Lenore Stein

This fabulous rice and seafood salad from Frieda Campbell can be dressed up or down by using a variety of seafoods or by using shrimp only — increased in amount to make up for what seafoods pepper. Drain rice and toss immediately with this dressing. Cool two cups regular (not instant or quick-cooking) rice according to package directions. In the meantime, make a simple French dressing by combining one-half cup salad oil, two tablespoons vinegar, one tablespoon salt and one teaspoon freshly ground black pepper. Drain rice and toss immediately with this dressing. Cool Add one-eighth teaspoon hot pepper sauce, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and one cup minced onion. Gently mix in two cooked and cooked 10-ounce packages of tiny baby peas. Add two small packages (thawed) frozen, shelled and deveined cooked baby shrimps, one can flaked, drained, cooked lobster or one package (thawed) frozen langostinos and one small can drained, flaked crabmeat. Chill. Just before serving, combine two thirds cupumayonnaise with two tablespoons fresh lemon juice, and fold into salad.

Aspirin may ease man's walking pain

I am 75 and have walked all my life. I still walk every day only I am having trouble with my leg. I can only walk a few blocks and have to stop while the pain leaves. I do not have high blood pressure and all my tests come out okay

My doctor gave me Roniacol time span tablets, one a day, and I've taken them for more than a year. I just cannot tell the difference. What do you think of this drug?

I just feel awful when I do not get my walk. I would hate to give it up. It's the best part of my life physically.

Is there anything you could suggest to me? I would try anything. I do not take any other kind of medicines. I'm not heavy, 5 feet 6 and 117 pounds.

Helping you depends upon what you really have. Your doctor must think the pain is caused by poor circulation as Roniacol is used to increase circulation. Your description of developing a pain with walking that goes away with resting suggests that may be the case.

Other possible causes include arthritic changes which might involve the hip or knee. You might ask your doctor to arrange for a consultation with an orthopedic specialist and see if he can provide any help.

You might also get some help from simple aspirin Why? Because it is a good pain reliever and it seems to have some anti-clotting action that might be helpful. Its "blood thinning" action might help your circulation if that is the problem. So whether you have pain from arthritis or poor circulation it could be tried.

Talk to your doctor about it first as some people do not tolerate aspirin well but most do. A few people are inclined to develop a bleeding tendency with it. It should be taken with meals or at least with a cup of milk.

I am a woman of 49 years. I took the pill for eight years and have been off it for a year now. I have not had a period since I came off the pill. Does this mean I have gone through the change and there isn't any possibility of my becoming pregnant at this age?

Women who naturally have completed the menopause and have not had a period for over a year are not likely to get pregnant — some authorities say two years. But in the case of the woman who has been on the pill as in your case, you should be very careful about deciding that you have gone through the menopause.

The pill may result in a temporary suppression of the normal ovulation process and you might still ovulate. I think under these circumstances you should definitely have your doctor examine you. He can advise you if you have or have not completed the menopause and are no longer likely to get pregnant before you throw caution to the wind.

Quick, easy recipe for buffet dinner

Dear Roberta: I need a main course recipe for a buffet dinner. Can you suggest one that can be served on paper plates and won't need knives? — Lenore Stein

This fabulous rice and seafood salad from Frieda Campbell can be dressed up or down by using a variety of seafoods or by using shrimp only — increased in amount to make up for what seafoods pepper. Drain rice and toss immediately with this dressing. Cool two cups regular (not instant or quick-cooking) rice according to package directions. In the meantime, make a simple French dressing by combining one-half cup salad oil, two tablespoons vinegar, one tablespoon salt and one teaspoon freshly ground black pepper. Drain rice and toss immediately with this dressing. Cool Add one-eighth teaspoon hot pepper sauce, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and one cup minced onion. Gently mix in two cooked and cooked 10-ounce packages of tiny baby peas. Add two small packages (thawed) frozen, shelled and deveined cooked baby shrimps, one can flaked, drained, cooked lobster or one package (thawed) frozen langostinos and one small can drained, flaked crabmeat. Chill. Just before serving, combine two thirds cupumayonnaise with two tablespoons fresh lemon juice, and fold into salad.

GOP women's Oktoberfest Oct. 1

Oktoberfest, the annual ethnic festival hosted by the Elk Grove Township Republican Women's Organization, is Oct. 1 at the Township Hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. A social hour starts at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Sharon Sharp, Cook County Republican chairwoman and Elk Grove Township clerk, will be present to meet guests. Ms. Sharp is a candidate for Illinois secretary of state.

All Republican women and their friends are invited. Reservations are limited; deadline is this Friday by calling 253-6952.

SHOW STOPPERS at Northwest Community Hospital's luncheon fashion show will include town and country fashions as modeled by Midge Baurhyte and Barbara Vazquez. For the show, to be held Thursday, Sept. 29, at the Arlington Park Hilton, Dr. Richard M. Vazquez and William Pailey, past board members of the hospital, will exchange their business suits for Robert L. Green's designer fashions. Women's fashions will be from Queen's Ransom and Pavlis Furs. Green will commentate the show. Tickets, $12, are available by calling 358-1342.

Mixer for members

The annual fellowship mixer for members of St. John Greek Orthodox

Happenings

Church's Philoptochos Society is Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the church hall in Des Plaines. This year's entertainment will feature excerpts from the church choir's musical "Grecian Holiday."

All women of the church are invited.

Cotillion kickoff

The autumn kickoff dance for the Cotillion Club of Arlington Heights will be Saturday evening at Mission Hills Country Club in Northbrook.

Organized in 1949, the dinner-dance club has about 100 couples as members. Dances are held three times a year, preceded by cocktail parties in members' homes.

Come for coffee

The Palatine Welcome Wagon Club will host a coffee for prospective members Tuesday at 10 a.m. in a member's home. Interested women in the area are welcome and may call 359-8950 for reservations.

Gift aids clinic

The Hoffman Estates Woman's Club has donated a refrigerator to the Hoffman Estates Immunization Clinic for the storage of serum.

The clinic, held regularly at Conant High School, is a community program enabling children to receive immunization shots free of charge.

New TV shows prove that skin is in Viewers have probably seen enough of the fall season's new programming to realize television has turned into a big tease.

It has begun to flirt with the public eye, only to withdraw when the excitement peaks and things get just this side of tasteful.

Although there's a lot more flesh on the small screen this season, there are no unmentionables being exposed in prime time. There is just enough flesh and sexual hints to excite viewers and keep them interested, though.

AS POINTED out before in this column, sex, as a new replacement for violence on television, is here to stay. That's why the pretty girl has become the television industry's most valuable commodity.

She doesn't have to be able to act, she just has to look good — a fact of television life most recently supported by the awarding of NBC's "Bionic Woman", Lindsay Wagner, with an Emmy Award for best actress in a regular dramatic series.

There's no show on television that makes more profitable use of this philosophy than "Charlie's Angels." It excelled in teasing its audience with a special two-hour episode last Wednesday that was the top-rated show of the week.

Hawaii was the perfect setting for the season opener, affording an opportunity to display gracefully swaying hips in grass skirts and bikini-clad private eyes seeking out evil.

ABC DECIDED to have its newest angel, Cheryl Ladd, reluctantly wander into a nudist camp.

The poor girl had only a palm leaf from a nearby tree handy to conceal her charms. She returned from her adventure with a sun-burned rear end.

In a similar vein, ABC Saturday offered a two-hour season premiere of "Starsky and Hutch". The two undercover cops hunted down a killer on "Playboy Island." The scenes included implied nude swimming and a skimpily dressed girl named "Easy", who toted the visitors' luggage to their rooms.

It seems ABC just cannot help itself. This week's premiere episode of the comedy, "San Pedro Beach Bums" incorporated "Charlie's Angels" as guest stars. There was also a scene that found two of the "bums" searching a nude beach for one particular sun-bather.

ALTHOUGH ABC appears to be this season's master of sexual tease, the other networks are not without guilt.

For instance, NBC's "Richard Pryor" show last week had one fellow prancing around in a woman's two-piece bathing suit to the tune "I Got to Be Me". The premiere episode of CBS' "On Our Own" will deal with two girls auditioning men in their underwear for a deodorant commercial.

If viewers are wondering where all of this tantalizing action and dialogue stops, the answer is that it probably won't.

Every minute of the viewer's attention means rating points. High ratings means big advertising bucks, advertising dollars mean profits and, as Baretta says so aptly, "Tthat's the name of that tune!"

"A Killing Affair"

TV NOTES:

Following "Charlie's Angels" in the ratings last week were: 2. "Happy Days," 3. "Three's Company," 4. "Soap," 5. "Welcome Back, Kotter," 6. "Young Joe, the Forgotten Kennedy," 7. "Betty White," 8. "All in the Family," 9. "Barney Miller" and 10. "Eight is Enough."

ABC ran off with an average 20.8 rating and eight out of the top 10 shows for the week along with an average 35.6 per cent of the American viewing audience. NBC had an average 17.1 rating for the week and CBS had an average 16.4 rating.

TV HIGHLIGHTS:

• The interracial married couple on "The Jeffersons" has long been television's subtle approach to black and white relationships. The two are more adversaries than they are lovers as neighbors to the Jeffersons on CBS' weekly comedy.

But, CBS will be taking a more daring approach to interracial love in tonight's made-for-television movie, "A Killing Affair" at 8 p.m. on Channel 2 with football star-actor O. J. Simpson and Elizabeth Montgomery in the starring roles.

The two are maverick police detectives who fall in love on the job.

Ms. Montgomery has skillfully handled somewhat touchy roles in other television specials like "A Case of Rape," "The Legend of Lizzie Borden" and "Dark Victory." Simpson, although he has had a string of film and television experience, has shown little in the way of acting talent.

The response to the film and the consequences of it may lead to future interracial relationships on television.

• NBC premieres two of it's weakest new shows tonight: "The Oregon Trail", with veteran actor Rod Taylor at 7 p.m. on Channel 5. It is about a wagon train ride to Oregon in 1842 with a widower and his three children. "Big Hawaii" at 9 p.m. on Channel 5 stars Cliff Potts and John Dehner as heads of a "Bonanza"-like family. The scenery is the high point because the series is shot on location.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frost

Julie Massara — Daniel Frost

A lavender and blue color scheme was chosen by Julie Massara of Palatine for the Aug. 20 wedding in which she became Daniel Frost's bride. Julie is the daughter of the Kenneth Massaras and Daniel the son of David Frost of Schaumburg.

The bride's attendants wore lavender and blue floral printed gowns and carried lavender asters, blue bachelor buttons and white daisies and baby's breath. Clara Booth, Palatine, was maid of honor and Debbie McWilliams, Palatine, bridesmaid.

Julie's gown was of white organza with Venise lace accents; her veil was fingertip, trimmed in lace, flowing from a lace headpiece. She carried white roses and carnations with ivy and heather.

For the wedding at 10 a.m. in St. Theresa Catholic Church, Palatine, the groom chose his father as best man and Brian Locascio, Palatine, as groomsman. Guests were seated by Garth and Eric Frost and Steve Massara, the couple's brothers.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in Hawaii and are living in Macomb where both are juniors, at Western Illinois University. They met while attending Fremd High School, but Dan then graduated from Conant High. Julie also attended Harper College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Woloshyn

Kathleen McCormack-Jay Woloshyn

Harper College graduates Kathleen Mary McCormack and Jay William Woloshyn were married Aug. 6 at St. Hubert Catholic Church in Hoffman Estates and now are living in DeKalb where Jay is continuing his education at Northern Illinois University.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCormack, Hoffman Estates and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woloshyn, Des Plaines, exchanged their vows in a double ring ceremony in which all attendants were relatives of the bridal couple.

Kathleen had her sister Margaret Mary as maid of honor and her sister Eileen Mary as bridesmaid. Her brother William was one of the ushers and her brother Michael and a cousin, Michael McMahon of Streamwood, served as altar boys.

Jay's brother James was his best man and his brothers Jeffrey, Bowling Green, Ohio, and John helped seat wedding guests.

The reception was a sitdown dinner for 100 guests at Lancer's in Schaumburg, after which the newlyweds honeymooned for two weeks in Minnesota and Canada.

Kathleen is a graduate of Conant High School and Jay of Forest View. They met at Harper.

French-Herbst

Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon of Jacksonville, Ill., announce the engagement of Mrs. Harmon's daughter, Susan French, to Thomas Herbst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herbst of Arlington Heights. Sue and Tom plan to be married in November.

Both young people work for the U.S. Postal Service, Sue in Elk Grove Village and Tom in Arlington Heights. He is a graduate of Arlington High School. They plan to make their home in Wauconda.

Susan Schlegel

Schlegel-Erickson

A November wedding is being planned by Susan Marie Schlegel, whose engagement to Leslie E. Erickson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Schlegel of Palatine. Leslie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Erickson, Carpentersville.

Susan is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School and works for National Car Rental at O'Hare Airport. Leslie, a graduate of Barrington High, is employed by the CAI Division of Bourns, Inc. in Barrington.

Carol Wetter

Wetter-Scheffield

The engagement of Carol Lynn Wetter to Jeffrey Sheffield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Sheffield of Des Plaines, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Wetter, also of Des Plaines.

Carol, a 1977 graduate of Maine West High School, is employed by White Oak Nursery and Kindergarten in Arlington Heights, and is attending Oakton Community College. Her fiance, also a graduate of Maine Township, is employed by Sheffield Cleaners in Des Plaines.

The couple has planned a June 1978 wedding.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frost

Julie Massara — Daniel Frost

A lavender and blue color scheme was chosen by Julie Massara of Palatine for the Aug. 20 wedding in which she became Daniel Frost's bride. Julie is the daughter of the Kenneth Massaras and Daniel the son of David Frost of Schaumburg.

The bride's attendants wore lavender and blue floral printed gowns and carried lavender asters, blue bachelor buttons and white daisies and baby's breath. Clara Booth, Palatine, was maid of honor and Debbie McWilliams, Palatine, bridesmaid.

Julie's gown was of white organza with Venise lace accents; her veil was fingertip, trimmed in lace, flowing from a lace headpiece. She carried white roses and carnations with ivy and heather.

For the wedding at 10 a.m. in St. Theresa Catholic Church, Palatine, the groom chose his father as best man and Brian Locascio, Palatine, as groomsman. Guests were seated by Garth and Eric Frost and Steve Massara, the couple's brothers.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in Hawaii and are living in Macomb where both are juniors, at Western Illinois University. They met while attending Fremd High School, but Dan then graduated from Conant High. Julie also attended Harper College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Woloshyn

Kathleen McCormack-Jay Woloshyn

Harper College graduates Kathleen Mary McCormack and Jay William Woloshyn were married Aug. 6 at St. Hubert Catholic Church in Hoffman Estates and now are living in DeKalb where Jay is continuing his education at Northern Illinois University.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCormack, Hoffman Estates and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woloshyn, Des Plaines, exchanged their vows in a double ring ceremony in which all attendants were relatives of the bridal couple.

Kathleen had her sister Margaret Mary as maid of honor and her sister Eileen Mary as bridesmaid. Her brother William was one of the ushers and her brother Michael and a cousin, Michael McMahon of Streamwood, served as altar boys.

Jay's brother James was his best man and his brothers Jeffrey, Bowling Green, Ohio, and John helped seat wedding guests.

The reception was a sitdown dinner for 100 guests at Lancer's in Schaumburg, after which the newlyweds honeymooned for two weeks in Minnesota and Canada.

Kathleen is a graduate of Conant High School and Jay of Forest View. They met at Harper.

French-Herbst

Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon of Jacksonville, Ill., announce the engagement of Mrs. Harmon's daughter, Susan French, to Thomas Herbst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herbst of Arlington Heights. Sue and Tom plan to be married in November.

Both young people work for the U.S. Postal Service, Sue in Elk Grove Village and Tom in Arlington Heights. He is a graduate of Arlington High School. They plan to make their home in Wauconda.

Susan Schlegel

Schlegel-Erickson

A November wedding is being planned by Susan Marie Schlegel, whose engagement to Leslie E. Erickson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Schlegel of Palatine. Leslie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Erickson, Carpentersville.

Susan is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School and works for National Car Rental at O'Hare Airport. Leslie, a graduate of Barrington High, is employed by the CAI Division of Bourns, Inc. in Barrington.

Carol Wetter

Wetter-Scheffield

The engagement of Carol Lynn Wetter to Jeffrey Sheffield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Sheffield of Des Plaines, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Wetter, also of Des Plaines.

Carol, a 1977 graduate of Maine West High School, is employed by White Oak Nursery and Kindergarten in Arlington Heights, and is attending Oakton Community College. Her fiance, also a graduate of Maine Township, is employed by Sheffield Cleaners in Des Plaines.

The couple has planned a June 1978 wedding.

Very cold winter could drain gas

If the coming winter is 10 per cent colder than normal, natural gas shortages could cause "significant economic" problems in some parts of the country, the chairman of the Federal Power Commission warned Tuesday. FPC chairman Charles Curtis said the total gas supply will be about the same as last year. Under normal winter conditions, he said, "few if any problems will be encountered in fulfilling gas requirements, except in isolated instances." Even if temperatures do average 10 per cent below normal, he said, "Gas service to highest priority residential and small commercial customers will not be interrupted."

Consumers becoming pessimistic

A Citicorp survey says pessimism about the economy is much greater among consumers now than it was at the beginning of the year. In January, a similar Citicorp survey found that 47 per cent of the 1,400 persons queried were optimistic about the future of the economy while 23 per cent were pessimistic. In the latest study, only 26 per cent were optimistic while 43 per cent felt that things would get worse. However, Citicorp economist Alan P. Murray said he didn't think the change in attitudes was large enough "to provide a convincing argument that the current slowdown will deepen into recession." As a matter of fact, he said, he felt consumer attitudes would improve through the rest of the year "as economic conditions stabilize and inflation slows."

Many employes working overtime

Some 18.2 million Americans reported working more than 40 hours a week in a recent survey, 1.5 million more than the previous year, the Labor Dept. reported Tuesday. Some 45.5 per cent of all managers and administrators reported working 41 hours or more per week — the highest percentage in the survey. The smallest percentage was 13.2 per cent for clerical workers. Men were more than twice as likely to have worked more than 40 hours than women, and whites were more likely than blacks. Of all workers who put in more than 40 hours, 42.4 per cent reported receiving premium pay for longer hours — up from 39.7 per cent in the preceding year. The median usual weekly earnings of all workers who worked extra hours was $247, compared to a $212 median for all full-time workers.

Subsidies cut Postal initiative

Congress should stop increasing federal subsidies to the deficit-plagued Postal Service because they make postal management "less inclined" to improve mail efficiency, the administration told Congress Tuesday. It also urged the president be allowed to appoint the postmaster general to a fixed term — probably six years — and that the appointee be given more autonomy to run the Postal Service. "Increasing the public service subsidy and tying it to a fixed percentage not only undercuts the principle of self-sufficiency, it establishes conditions under which postal management will be less inclined to seek ways for increasing efficiency in the postal system and reducing costs," said W. Bowman Cutter of the Office of Management and Budget.

'Plastic soft drink bottle unsafe'

The Food and Drug Administration Tuesday issued a final order banning as unsafe the use of a plastic soft drink bottle which had been test marketed by Coca-Cola. FDA commissioner Donald Kennedy said he agreed with the findings of an administrative law judge who said the chemical involved, acroylonitrile, may "reasonably be expected to migrate and become a component of food." Monsanto executive vice president E. S. Bauer said the company is "extremely disappointed" at the decision. The agency also said it agreed that the substance "has not been shown to be safe within the meaning of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. Existing data raises safety concerns and are incomplete for purposes of establishing safe levels for human consumption." Coca-Cola had test marketed in Providence, R.I., bottles made for it by the Monsanto Corp.

Illinois prisoners are keeping busy making money—all of it is legal Illinois prison inmates no longer make license plates but they earn up to $200 a month producing a wide variety of other items, including cigarets, soap, clothes and furniture.

Wages paid to the 800 prisoners and 120 civilians in the Illinois Correctional Industries program, including ICI Director Edmund H. Muth, come directly from the sales of the products — not out of the pockets of taxpayers.

"We are very proud we receive no legislative subsidy," Muth said. "We try to run it as much like real factories as possible so it is like a training program.

"THE ICI PROGRAM is a good opportunity to teach . . . and also to address the terrible problem of idleness in prisons," he said.

Unlike license plates, which now can be produced easily and cheaply by private industry, items currently made in state prisons can be produced and sold at a cheaper price than comparable products in stores.

Under state law, the prison products can be sold only to state and local government agencies.

The program, near bankruptcy in the mid 1970s, had sales last year of $4.3 million and a profit of $70,000. Sales this year are expected to be about $6 million, Muth said. Profits are invested back into the program.

THE MENARD Correctional Center at Chester has one of the most unusual factories in the state prison system. Inmates make filtered and unfiltered cigarettes and package them under the name of Pyramid. They are sold at 16 cents a pack to insitutions, such as veterans and nursing homes.

"I've been told by other people they taste pretty much like Camels," Muth, a nonsmoker said.

Prisoners at Menard also make knitted garments, such as underwear and socks, and brooms, brushes and wax, concrete drain culverts and parking lot curbs, and they upholster furniture and maintain a beef, dairy and swine farm.

"We think we make the best brushes and brooms in the world," Muth said.

Inmate clothing is made by prisoners at the Stateville Correctional Center near Joliet. They also make furniture and soap, including both deodorant and non-deodorant bath soap. The laundry soap is "similar in appearance to Ivory flakes," Muth said.

LUMBER FOR the furniture factory comes from a timber farm at the Vienna Correctional Center. Most of the other raw materials used in the factories are bought from private industry.

"We are a good customer for Illinois industry," Muth said, noting the program spent $3.5 million in buying raw materials last year.

The largest factory produces highway signs at Pontiac. Inmates there also rebind books and make dentures.

The Sheridan Correctional Center has a refinishing factory for used furniture and the Joliet Correctional Center makes mattresses and bedding.

A BEEF, DAIRY and swine farm is maintained at the Vandalia Correctional Center. The Vienna facility also has a beef farm to go along with its timber farm.

The Dwight Correctional Center, a facility for women, has a garment factory where inmates "make a full line of clothes for the state's mental institutions," Muth said.

The women usually are paid more than men because they produce more, Muth said. He attributed the higher rate of production to the "thrill" women inmates get when they are able to send money to their children or other relatives.

The ICI program "gives people an awareness that people are in state prisons and can do a good job . . . that they're not animals," Muth said.

Jane Bryant Quinn

Staying ahead

NEW YORK — You'll be astonished at the changes in the federal income tax return this year. It's far easier to read. All of last year's forbidding calculations have been swept away, and most of the directions have been translated from Taxpseak into plain English.

Part of this is courtesy of the new tax-simplication law, which decreed that taxpayers ought to be able to look up their tax on a table rather than calculate it themselves. You'll be able to use the tax tables if you're a single person with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 or less for married persons filing jointly, the ceiling is $40,000. There are a few exceptions, but what's a tax law without exceptions?

The form's improved logic and readability came from another step long overdue: For the first time, the Internal Revenue Services tested its proposed tax forms and instructions on real taxpayers.

Instead of analyzing the errors on tax returns and trying to guess what people didn't understand, they took the trouble to hold public hearings and conduct personal interviews.

As you might have guessed, the Feds got an earful. A lot of $10 words were going right over people's heads and had to be changed. For example, the phrase "do you wish to designate" has mercifully become "do you want."

Far more important, the IRS seems finally to have realized that many basic tax concepts are widely misunderstood. For example, they were surprised to learn that many people who get dividends from stocks and mutual funds don't understand the "dividend exclusion." As a result, a line has been added to the tax form telling taxpayers where to find the ex-

Dow mixed in last-minute buying

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, aided by last-minute buying, closed mixed Tuesday. Investor concern about the economy and interest rates that carried the market to a 21-month low the day before remained, however.

Trading was moderate as the Dow Jones industrial average, down two points at the outset, managed to gain .26 point to 851.78. The Dow fell 5.29 points Monday, finishing at the lowest level since it closed at 843.75 Dec. 23, 1975.

Analysts had been concerned the Dow average might fall to around the 800 level since it broke through its 1977 low of 854.12 Monday. But the closely watched average showed strength at the 850 level.

INVESTORS STILL were disturbed by recent government reports that showed a .5 per cent dip in August industrial production, the first decline since January, and a 2.6 per cent slide in housing starts. The government reports on its consumer price index today.

Investors also were concerned that the quarter-point increase which put the prime lending rate at 7¼ per cent would dissuade businesses from making large capital spending plans.

Some traders may have been encouraged that Treasury Sec. W. Michael Blumenthal said President Carter's tax reform program would include several incentives for business.

As a result, the New York Stock Exchange common stock index added .01 to 52.49 and the average price of a share gained 1 cent. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, containing some over-the-counter issues, rose .04 to 95.89.

IRS simplifications astonishing

For the record, the dividend exclusion is this: You are allowed to deduct the first $100 of cash dividend payments from taxable income. On a joint return, you can deduct up to another $100 for dividends received by a spouse. The exclusion has a number of fine points that would take two more paragraphs to explain. Yet the IRS chiefs thought everyone knew all about it.

THE NEW SHORT form, the 1040A, is all on one side of a sheet of paper, so you don't have to turn over and back. The new color is a soothing pink. About midway down the page is a line in big black letters, reading "If you want IRS to figure your tax, please stop here and sign below."

By billing this service so prominently in the tax return, the government hopes to get more people to use it. It costs less time and money to compute the tax for you and then to check your arithmetic and straighten out errors.

A few persons will be inconvenienced by the new short form, namely the 35,000 to 70,000 taxpayers who file as "qualifying widow or widower with dependent child."

IF YOUR SPOUSE died and you have a dependent child, you're generally entitled to continue filing a joint return for the two years after the spouse's death — a significant tax advantage. But for reasons of space this filing status was removed from the short form. Everyone who qualifies for this tax break will now have to file the long form, 1040.

The long form is a model of logic compared with its previous incarnations. Instead of flipping back and forth from front to back, you simply run through the lines sequentially. The key change is the addition of tax tables for higher-income people and the new system for figuring itemized deductions.

The tax tables have the standard deduction built right into them, so you subtract only those itemized deductions that are in excess of the standard deduction. People who can't use the tax tables will have to cope with a new tax computation form, Tax Schedule TC, which the IRS still is struggling to simplify.

The IRS learned so much from talking to taxpayers that they plan to do more of it, according to Robert Bauer, chairman of the Tax Forms Coordinating Committee.

John Chapman's new heating system pulls energy out of thin air.

John Chapman of Woodridge is one of the homeowners in northern Illinois who recently installed a heat pump. How'd he like it? "It's just been great—one unit that both heats and cools. It really does the job," says John.

How the heat pump works.
Most heating systems heat by burning fossil fuels, like natural gas or oil. The heat pump is different. It doesn't burn anything. It uses electricity to move heat from one place to the other—heat that already exists. Where? In the air around us. Even on cold, cloudy days, there's an abundance of heat in the air—solar heat energy that the heat pump captures and moves indoors.

In warm weather, the process automatically reverses for cooling. The heat pump captures excess indoor heat and humidity and removes them to the outside.

The Remarkable Electric Heat Pump.

Better efficiency.
Today the heat pump is the best alternative to heating systems which consume scarce fossil fuels. It taps an energy supply that's virtually limitless—heat energy from the sun contained in the air around us. And it is the most practical system to capture solar energy efficiently.

In northern Illinois the heat pump, based on average performance for a heating season, can deliver more than 1-1/2 units of heat energy for every unit it consumes. This means the heat pump not only saves energy, it can also generate long-term operating cost savings.

If you want additional heat pump information, call your local Commonwealth Edison office and talk to one of our marketing engineers.

To get the full advantages of the heat pump, it's important to get a quality product, properly installed and serviced. For the name of qualified installers in your area, call G.W. Berkheimer Co. (Westinghouse Distributors), 312-374-4411; General Electric Co., 312-496-6200; Lennox Industries, Inc., 312-593-2820; Temperature Equipment Corp. Dow mixed in last-minute buying

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, aided by last-minute buying, closed mixed Tuesday. Investor concern about the economy and interest rates that carried the market to a 21-month low the day before remained, however.

Trading was moderate as the Dow Jones industrial average, down two points at the outset, managed to gain .26 point to 851.78. The Dow fell 5.29 points Monday, finishing at the lowest level since it closed at 843.75 Dec. 23, 1975.

Analysts had been concerned the Dow average might fall to around the 800 level since it broke through its 1977 low of 854.12 Monday. But the closely watched average showed strength at the 850 level.

INVESTORS STILL were disturbed by recent government reports that showed a .5 per cent dip in August industrial production, the first decline since January, and a 2.6 per cent slide in housing starts. The government reports on its consumer price index today.

Investors also were concerned that the quarter-point increase which put the prime lending rate at 7¼ per cent would dissuade businesses from making large capital spending plans.

Some traders may have been encouraged that Treasury Sec. W. Michael Blumenthal said President Carter's tax reform program would include several incentives for business.

As a result, the New York Stock Exchange common stock index added .01 to 52.49 and the average price of a share gained 1 cent. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, containing some over-the-counter issues, rose .04 to 95.89.

For the record, the dividend exclusion is this: You are allowed to deduct the first $100 of cash dividend payments from taxable income. On a joint return, you can deduct up to another $100 for dividends received by a spouse. The exclusion has a number of fine points that would take two more paragraphs to explain. Yet the IRS chiefs thought everyone knew all about it.

THE NEW SHORT form, the 1040A, is all on one side of a sheet of paper, so you don't have to turn over and back. The new color is a soothing pink. About midway down the page is a line in big black letters, reading "If you want IRS to figure your tax, please stop here and sign below."

By billing this service so prominently in the tax return, the government hopes to get more people to use it. It costs less time and money to compute the tax for you and then to check your arithmetic and straighten out errors.

A few persons will be inconvenienced by the new short form, namely the 35,000 to 70,000 taxpayers who file as "qualifying widow or widower with dependent child."

IF YOUR SPOUSE died and you have a dependent child, you're generally entitled to continue filing a joint return for the two years after the spouse's death — a significant tax advantage. But for reasons of space this filing status was removed from the short form. Everyone who qualifies for this tax break will now have to file the long form, 1040.

The long form is a model of logic compared with its previous incarnations. Instead of flipping back and forth from front to back, you simply run through the lines sequentially. The key change is the addition of tax tables for higher-income people and the new system for figuring itemized deductions.

The tax tables have the standard deduction built right into them, so you subtract only those itemized deductions that are in excess of the standard deduction. People who can't use the tax tables will have to cope with a new tax computation form, Tax Schedule TC, which the IRS still is struggling to simplify.

The IRS learned so much from talking to taxpayers that they plan to do more of it, according to Robert Bauer, chairman of the Tax Forms Coordinating Committee.

Odd end play pulls six

North's two-club bid was Stayman, his four notrump just a strong raise in notrump the way he and his partner were using Blackwood. South's jump to the slam was a mild overbid, but the slam was a good one. There were 11 top tricks and heart finesse for 12.

South looked at the heart lead and decided that East would surely hold the queen. West was not the sort of player who would lead from a queen against six notrump. So South looked around to find a way to make his slam even though the heart finesse was off.

The play was really obscure, but he found it. He played the eight of hearts from dummy and covered East's nine with the king.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds and noted that the 10 dropped from East. He assumed that was East's last diamond. Four rounds of clubs came next. West chucked a heart. Dummy discarded a spade and the queen of diamonds.

Now South led ace and a small spade. West could not afford to rise with the king. That play would drop East's queen so West played the 10 spot. East was in with the queen and had to lead away from his queen of hearts up to the ace-jack in dummy.

Some aerosol sprays danger to the ozone

HOW DO AEROSOL SPRAYS AFFECT THE OZONE?

At the start of the 1970s a major controversy started over the safety of aerosol containers that used fluorocarbons, also known as freons. Near the earth's surface, a large number of scientists reported, fluorocarbons do not react with other chemicals. Instead, the fluorocarbons rise to the upper regions of the atmosphere and there extremely powerful radiation from the sun causes them to break up and release chlorine atoms.

Many scientists believe that the chlorine atoms react chemically and diminish the layer of ozone of the atmosphere. The ozone layer protects the earth's surface from dangerous ultraviolet radiation from the sun, so it is important that it remains together.

To avoid the threat of a possible destruction of our ozone layer, many leading scientists and environmentalists have called for laws that will restrict the use of fluorocarbons.

At the present time, many product manufacturers are curtailing the number of aerosol products they produce that contain elements that may be harmful.

Aerosol cans, however, serve a number of very useful purpose in many areas, and not all of them contain possibly harmful fluorocarbons. Many foam products that are packaged in high-pressure cans also are called aerosols. Included in this type of product you'll find whipped cream and shaving cream. Fine particles are not produced from this type of can or with items in this product line.

Many natural aerosols result from chemical reactions of gases. These reactions form liquid or solid particles. In most manufactured aerosols, the item to be sprayed is mixed with a propellant that often is a liquefied gas at high pressure in the container. When the solution sprays from the container's nozzle, the propellant vaporizes and the particles are then shot into the air.

Aerosol particles are usually so small that they remain in the air for a long time before gravity finally makes them settle. For this reason, room deodorizers and disinfectants are extremely effective in aerosol form. And now the manufacturer has a new objective: produce these products in such a way that no harm will come to our environment.

Andy sends the 1977 World Book Science Year Annual to Bill Cann, 13, of Arlington Heights, Ill., for his question:

HOW MANY ENDANGERED SPECIES ARE THERE?

A number of wild animals and plants have become extinct since 1600 in North America including the Carolina parakeet, the passenger pigeon, the California grizzly bear, the Florida black wolf, a birch from Virginia and the Franklinia tree in Georgia. But efforts continue and we are winning some of the battles. Now classifed as saved were the once-endangered American bison and the California big tree.

Now endangered is the California condor, a bird that is down in numbers to about 50. Threatened is the gray wolf and on the rare list is Southern California's Torrey pine tree.

Still facing danger is the blue whale, the Asiatic lion, the Bengal tiger, the whooping crane, the orangutan, the ivory-billed woodpecker and the Asian rhinoceros.

Send your question on a post card to Ask Andy in care of The Daily Herald, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006, making sure to include your name, age and address. Entries are open to boys and girls 7 to 17.

Odd end play pulls six

North's two-club bid was Stayman, his four notrump just a strong raise in notrump the way he and his partner were using Blackwood. South's jump to the slam was a mild overbid, but the slam was a good one. There were 11 top tricks and heart finesse for 12.

South looked at the heart lead and decided that East would surely hold the queen. West was not the sort of player who would lead from a queen against six notrump. So South looked around to find a way to make his slam even though the heart finesse was off.

The play was really obscure, but he found it. He played the eight of hearts from dummy and covered East's nine with the king.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds and noted that the 10 dropped from East. He assumed that was East's last diamond. Four rounds of clubs came next. West chucked a heart, Dummy discarded a spade and the queen of diamonds.

Now South led ace and a small spade. West could not afford to rise with the king. That play would drop East's queen so West played the 10 spot. East was in with the queen and had to lead away from his queen of hearts up to the ace-jack in dummy.

Some aerosol sprays danger to the ozone

HOW DO AEROSOL SPRAYS AFFECT THE OZONE?

At the start of the 1970s a major controversy started over the safety of aerosol containers that used fluorocarbons, also known as freons. Near the earth's surface, a large number of scientists reported, fluorocarbons do not react with other chemicals. Instead, the fluorocarbons rise to the upper regions of the atmosphere and there extremely powerful radiation from the sun causes them to break up and release chlorine atoms.

Aerosol particles are usually so small that they remain in the air for a long time before gravity finally makes them settle. For this reason, room deodorizers and disinfectants are extremely effective in aerosol form. And now the manufacturer has a new objective: produce these products in such a way that no harm will come to our environment.

Quebec police bow to kidnapers' threat to behead

SHERBROOKE, Que. (UPI) — Police knuckled under Tuesday to a threat to behead kidnap victim Charles Marion and agreed to give his abductors up to three hours to escape with a quarter million dollar ransome.

In a bid to save Marion's life and prevent a "crime war" against credit unions across Quebec, police accepted the kidnapers' demand for a three-hour delay between delivery of the ransom money and the release of Marion, a credit union manager.

The swift acquiescence by police, acting on behalf of Marion's employers, the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke, followed a threat from the kidnapers that unless their demands for the three-hour grace period were met within 48 hours Marion would be beheaded.

THE CAISSE POPULAIRE and police had insisted Marion be handed over at the same time the ransom was delivered, an issue which snagged negotiations for six days.

In a letter sent to a Montreal daily, Le Journal de Montreal, and authenticated by the Quebec Police Force, the kidnapers said they would launch attacks on credit unions across Quebec and that no person connected with them would be safe.

"We will not kidnap them, we will simply liquidate them," the block-printed six-page communque said.

The Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke, the letter said, "will receive the head of Marion, only that; the rest they will never find."

"If they (the Caisse Populaire) do not do it, the war will start and to stop it, it will take $2 million, plus the same conditions," the letter said.

The threatened violence came as the 57-year-old manager went into his 45th day of captivity, the longest non-political kidnap in Canadian history. Quebec separatist terrorists held British diplomat James Cross hostage 60 days in 1970.

THE LETTER to the Journal, the second it has received from the Marion kidnapers, complained that in recent negotiations authorities were toying with Marion's life and the lives of other potential victims.

In a response broadcast on behalf of the Caisse Populaire by CKSH television reporter Normand Maltais Tuesday, authorities told the kidnapers, "It is evident that we are not happy with your answer.

"But to put a rapid end to Charles Marion's detention, we concede to you the one-and-a-half to three-hour delay.

"We are waiting to receive point five in its entirety in the next 24 hours. After which, the mechanism of exchange should follow its normal course." The letter also indicated the kidnapers had agreed to accept a ransom reduced from the original $1 million demanded when Marion was abducted Aug. 6 from his cottage at Stoke, 10 miles north of this city near the Vermont border.

The Caisse Populaire has publicly offered $250,000 for the life of their 30-year employe.

Quebec police bow to kidnapers' threat to behead

SHERBROOKE, Que. (UPI) — Police knuckled under Tuesday to a threat to behead kidnap victim Charles Marion and agreed to give his abductors up to three hours to escape with a quarter million dollar ransome.

In a bid to save Marion's life and prevent a "crime war" against credit unions across Quebec, police accepted the kidnapers' demand for a three-hour delay between delivery of the ransom money and the release of Marion, a credit union manager.

The swift acquiescence by police, acting on behalf of Marion's employers, the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke, followed a threat from the kidnapers that unless their demands for the three-hour grace period were met within 48 hours Marion would be beheaded.

THE CAISSE POPULAIRE and police had insisted Marion be handed over at the same time the ransom was delivered, an issue which snagged negotiations for six days.

In a letter sent to a Montreal daily, Le Journal de Montreal, and authenticated by the Quebec Police Force, the kidnapers said they would launch attacks on credit unions across Quebec and that no person connected with them would be safe.

"We will not kidnap them, we will simply liquidate them," the block-printed six-page communque said.

The Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke, the letter said, "will receive the head of Marion, only that; the rest they will never find."

"If they (the Caisse Populaire) do not do it, the war will start and to stop it, it will take $2 million, plus the same conditions," the letter said.

The threatened violence came as the 57-year-old manager went into his 45th day of captivity, the longest non-political kidnap in Canadian history. Quebec separatist terrorists held British diplomat James Cross hostage 60 days in 1970.

THE LETTER to the Journal, the second it has received from the Marion kidnapers, complained that in recent negotiations authorities were toying with Marion's life and the lives of other potential victims.

In a response broadcast on behalf of the Caisse Populaire by CKSH television reporter Normand Maltais Tuesday, authorities told the kidnapers, "It is evident that we are not happy with your answer.

"But to put a rapid end to Charles Marion's detention, we concede to you the one-and-a-half to three-hour delay.

"We are waiting to receive point five in its entirety in the next 24 hours. After which, the mechanism of exchange should follow its normal course." The letter also indicated the kidnapers had agreed to accept a ransom reduced from the original $1 million demanded when Marion was abducted Aug. 6 from his cottage at Stoke, 10 miles north of this city near the Vermont border.

The Caisse Populaire has publicly offered $250,000 for the life of their 30-year employe.

113 Vietnamese 'boat people' arrive in U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new airlift of refugees from the Vietnam War began Tuesday with the arrival of 113 persons, most of whom escaped from their countries by boat after the Communists took over.

Among the arrivals was a man, his wife and nine children who floated for five days and four nights packed in a small boat with 38 people before landing on friendly shores.

Nguyen Tien Dinh, 38, a former artillery captain in the South Vietnamese army, said he and his family wound up in a refugee camp in Thailand.

THE REFUGEES, who arrived aboard a Pan American plane from Bangkok, were the first contingent of 15,000 persons, including 7,000 "boat people," who will be admitted into the United States under a special program recently approved by Congress.

They are among the thousands of persons left stranded in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos at the end of the war. Many, having helped the United States, hid until they could escape, usually by boat.

"If they had found me, I would have been 're-educated', so I killed my papers," said Dinh. "The Communists are no good."

The refugees were greeted at the airport by the sponsors who have guaranteed them homes in this country — in Chicago, Los Angeles, Houston, Green Bay, Wis., Peoria, Ill., and other communities.

THE NEW airlift was coordinated by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, an organization dating from the "displaced persons" immigration after World War II.

Ruth Tropin, a spokesman for the group, said many of the refugees have "harrowing tales of escaping by boats with babies and old people and floating around for weeks."

She said passing ships often refused to pick up the refugees at sea because no port would take them in.

Mrs. Anemy Delaney, of Hayward, Calif., who had sponsored 40 Vietnamese refugees during the original airlift in 1975, was at the airport to greet several more whom she was helping obtain housing and jobs.

"We get them houses and settled, and jobs," Mrs. Anemy said. "All of mine are working."

She said those coming in the new program "are even luckier (to escape) than the first ones" because they got out of countries where the Communists are in control.

Carter getting little help in efforts to return Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter told Democratic leaders Tuesday he is doing all he can to return Tongsun Park to America for the probes of influence-buying on Capitol Hill, but South Korea has not provided any help.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said Carter told the congressional leaders "we're exerting every power we possible can exert" on South Korea and i could be assumed Secretary of State Cyrus Vance would demand action from Seoul's top diplomats.

Carter spoke a few hours before Vance opened discussions with Korean Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin at the State Department, which said the meeting was held at South Korea's request "because of the urgency of the Tongsun Park case."

PARK WAS indicted earlier this month in Washington on charges of conspiring with the Korean CIA to influence U.S. policy toward his homeland by giving members of Congress bribes, political campaign contributions and other favors.

The wealthy rice trader left the United States for England last fall then went to Seoul last month. Korea has said it will not force him to return to America, although congressional investigators are free to question him in South Korea.

House Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas said Carter reported that "to this time, there has not been an affirmative response" from Seoul on U.S. requests that Park be returned to America — despite a personal appeal from Carter to Korean President Park Chung Hee.

O'Neill quoted Carter saying he sent the Korean president "a message as strong as he possibly could," and that "he has done everything he humanly could do" in other ways to help federal and congressional investigators get testimony from Park.

O'NEILL SAID Carter also referred to his plans to withdraw more than 30,000 U.S. ground forces from Korea over the next five years and propose legislation giving Korea American military equipment to counter the loss of troops.

He said some congressmen at the meeting cautioned Carter about the timing of such a plan, in view of the investigations now underway.

The United States and Korea have no agreement to compel Park's extradition and he has said he will not return to Washington as long as "an emotionally charged atmosphere" prevails there. He and Korea's government have denied wrongdoing.

On Capitol Hill, the House Ethics Committee continued taking testimony Tuesday from former Rep. Richard Hanna, D-Calif. The indictment of Park named Hanna as an "unindicted co-conspirator," saying Park paid him more than $100,000 over several years, including a share of Park's commissions on U.S. subsidized rice sales to Korea.

Workshop set for diabetics

Registration is open for an outpatient diabetic workshop beginning Monday at Alexian Brothers Medical Center. The series of four meetings will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday in conference room 2 on the ground floor of the medical center, 800 W. Biesterfield Rd., Elk Grove Village.

The classes are designed to help diabetics and their families gain a better understanding of diabetes and to live normal lives. Taught by registered nurses, dietitians and pharmacists, the sessions provide information on the medical aspects of diabetes, medication, diabetic emergencies, special food preparation, eating away from home and general health care.

Registration is limited to 10 diabetics so individual attention can be given to specific problems of class participants. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 437-5500, ext. 761, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Fee for the workshop is $8 to cover the cost of materials. The fee is $4 for participants older than 65. A member of the diabetic's family is encouraged to attend at no extra cost.

Program to focus on arthritis, therapy

"Arthritis Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" will be the topic of a community program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Great Hall of St. John the Baptist Greek Orthodox Church, 2350 Dempster St., Des Plaines. The program is open to the public free of charge.

Dr. William Arnold will give a historical background of the disease and discuss present day therapies.

This program is one of a eries sponsored by area churches in cooperation with the Men's Assn., Service League and medical staff of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Mental health panel to meet today

State Rep. Richard A. Mugalian's (D-2nd, Palatine) Citizens Advisory Committee on Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities will meet at 7:45 p.m. today at the Streamwood Park District Center, 777 Bartlett Rd., Streamwood.

The main discussion topic will be transitional living facilities for the mentally ill, developmentally disabled and the alcoholic. The focus will be on the concept as a resource rather than on any specific facility. The second agenda item will be on the over-all structure of the meetings, and how they can be more responsive to the needs of the community citizen.

The meeting is open to the public. For information call Elizabeth McKee, 381-1164.

Landmarks to be topic

The preservation of landmarks will be the subject of a series of seminars presented by the Central Illinois Landmarks Foundation. The conference will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 15 in the Peoria Public Library, 107 N.E. Monroe St., Peoria.

113 Vietnamese 'boat people' arrive in U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new airlift of refugees from the Vietnam War began Tuesday with the arrival of 113 persons, most of whom escaped from their countries by boat after the Communists took over.

Among the arrivals was a man, his wife and nine children who floated for five days and four nights packed in a small boat with 38 people before landing on friendly shores.

Nguyen Tien Dinh, 38, a former artillery captain in the South Vietnamese army, said he and his family wound up in a refugee camp in Thailand.

THE REFUGEES, who arrived aboard a Pan American plane from Bangkok, were the first contingent of 15,000 persons, including 7,000 "boat people," who will be admitted into the United States under a special program recently approved by Congress.

They are among the thousands of persons left stranded in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos at the end of the war. Many, having helped the United States, hid until they could escape, usually by boat.

"If they had found me, I would have been 're-educated', so I killed my papers," said Dinh. "The Communists are no good."

The refugees were greeted at the airport by the sponsors who have guaranteed them homes in this country — in Chicago, Los Angeles, Houston, Green Bay, Wis., Peoria, Ill., and other communities.

THE NEW airlift was coordinated by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, an organization dating from the "displaced persons" immigration after World War II.

Ruth Tropin, a spokesman for the group, said many of the refugees have "harrowing tales of escaping by boats with babies and old people and floating around for weeks."

She said passing ships often refused to pick up the refugees at sea because no port would take them in.

Mrs. Anemy Delaney, of Hayward, Calif., who had sponsored 40 Vietnamese refugees during the original airlift in 1975, was at the airport to greet several more whom she was helping obtain housing and jobs.

"We get them houses and settled, and jobs," Mrs. Anemy said. "All of mine are working."

She said those coming in the new program "are even luckier (to escape) than the first ones" because they got out of countries where the Communists are in control.

Carter getting little help in efforts to return Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter told Democratic leaders Tuesday he is doing all he can to return Tongsun Park to America for the probes of influence-buying on Capitol Hill, but South Korea has not provided any help.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said Carter told the congressional leaders "we're exerting every power we possible can exert" on South Korea and i could be assumed Secretary of State Cyrus Vance would demand action from Seoul's top diplomats.

Carter spoke a few hours before Vance opened discussions with Korean Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin at the State Department, which said the meeting was held at South Korea's request "because of the urgency of the Tongsun Park case."

PARK WAS indicted earlier this month in Washington on charges of conspiring with the Korean CIA to influence U.S. policy toward his homeland by giving members of Congress bribes, political campaign contributions and other favors.

The wealthy rice trader left the United States for England last fall then went to Seoul last month. Korea has said it will not force him to return to America, although congressional investigators are free to question him in South Korea.

House Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas said Carter reported that "to this time, there has not been an affirmative response" from Seoul on U.S. requests that Park be returned to America — despite a personal appeal from Carter to Korean President Park Chung Hee.

O'Neill quoted Carter saying he sent the Korean president "a message as strong as he possibly could," and that "he has done everything he humanly could do" in other ways to help federal and congressional investigators get testimony from Park.

O'NEILL SAID Carter also referred to his plans to withdraw more than 30,000 U.S. ground forces from Korea over the next five years and propose legislation giving Korea American military equipment to counter the loss of troops.

He said some congressmen at the meeting cautioned Carter about the timing of such a plan, in view of the investigations now underway.

The United States and Korea have no agreement to compel Park's extradition and he has said he will not return to Washington as long as "an emotionally charged atmosphere" prevails there. He and Korea's government have denied wrongdoing.

On Capitol Hill, the House Ethics Committee continued taking testimony Tuesday from former Rep. Richard Hanna, D-Calif. The indictment of Park named Hanna as an "unindicted co-conspirator," saying Park paid him more than $100,000 over several years, including a share of Park's commissions on U.S. subsidized rice sales to Korea.

Workshop set for diabetics

Registration is open for an outpatient diabetic workshop beginning Monday at Alexian Brothers Medical Center. The series of four meetings will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday in conference room 2 on the ground floor of the medical center, 800 W. Biesterfield Rd., Elk Grove Village.

The classes are designed to help diabetics and their families gain a better understanding of diabetes and to live normal lives. Taught by registered nurses, dietitians and pharmacists, the sessions provide information on the medical aspects of diabetes, medication, diabetic emergencies, special food preparation, eating away from home and general health care.

Registration is limited to 10 diabetics so individual attention can be given to specific problems of class participants. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 437-5500, ext. 761, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Fee for the workshop is $8 to cover the cost of materials. The fee is $4 for participants older than 65. A member of the diabetic's family is encouraged to attend at no extra cost.

Program to focus on arthritis, therapy

"Arthritis Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" will be the topic of a community program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Great Hall of St. John the Baptist Greek Orthodox Church, 2350 Dempster St., Des Plaines. The program is open to the public free of charge.

Dr. William Arnold will give a historical background of the disease and discuss present day therapies.

This program is one of a eries sponsored by area churches in cooperation with the Men's Assn., Service League and medical staff of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Mental health panel to meet today

State Rep. Richard A. Mugalian's (D-2nd, Palatine) Citizens Advisory Committee on Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities will meet at 7:45 p.m. today at the Streamwood Park District Center, 777 Bartlett Rd., Streamwood.

The main discussion topic will be transitional living facilities for the mentally ill, developmentally disabled and the alcoholic. The focus will be on the concept as a resource rather than on any specific facility. The second agenda item will be on the over-all structure of the meetings, and how they can be more responsive to the needs of the community citizen.

The meeting is open to the public. For information call Elizabeth McKee, 381-1164.

Landmarks to be topic

The preservation of landmarks will be the subject of a series of seminars presented by the Central Illinois Landmarks Foundation. The conference will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 15 in the Peoria Public Library, 107 N.E. Monroe St., Peoria.

Oakland's 7 errors key White Sox win

by RICK CHRISTOPHER

One Oakland writer called the inning the most mangled defensive performance by the A's this season. Another writer yelled across the press box, "How can you tell?" Laughter set in.

The White Sox laughed all the way to the clubhouse with an 8-2 victory over Oakland Tuesday night as Steve Stone notched his 15th win of the season. Dave Hamilton recorded his eighth save when he relieved Stone in the seventh.

Oakland ranks last in the major leagues in fielding percentage with 177 errors this year. The seven errors committed by the A's ties an Oakland club record for the most bobbles in one game.

leadoff double by Ralph arr.

Leading 1-0 in the fifth inning, Stone was touched for two runs on a walk to Manny Sanguillen and Wayne Gross' 19th home run.

Jim Essian enjoyed a fine night behind the plate as he had a hand in throwing out three Oakland steal attempts. The A's remain the league leaders in stolen bases with 154, de-Essian's performance.

"I've steadily been improving on my defense," Essian said. "My throws have been accurate and strong. And if you can get rid of the ball with a quick release you don't have to be as powerful as a Thurman Munson.

"When everything seems to be going for you, you don't have to worry about the speedy runners."

THE ERROR-FILLED inning came in the fifth as the Sox sent 10 men to the plate and scored five runs. Only the first two were earned.

Garr lined a single to right to open the inning as the Sox trailed 2-1. Henry Cruz followed with his second home run of the season into the right field seats for the only earned runs off of Oakland starter Rick Langofrd in five innings of work.

With one out, Oscar Gamble singled to left as the Sox watched the Oakland defense take over. On a half-swing blooper to first by Eric Soderholm, Oakland's Mike Jorgenson committed the first of three errors as he dropped the ball.

Another error followed as Jim Spencer loaded the bases on a misplayed grounder off the second baseman's glove.

HITLESS HIS two previous trips to the plate, Chet Lemon lined a vicious one-hop single past the shortstop Rob Picciolo.

Gamble scored on Lemon's 64th RBI of the season as Soderholm took third. He continued on to score as centerfielder Tony Armas over ran the ball for the third error of the inning.

Essian drove across the fifth run, Lemon, with a single to left.

With two errors committed in the first two innings by Oakland's shoddy fielding, the A's went back to work in the sixth.

AFTER TWO were out, Gamble paved the way for two more Oakland errors with a walk. Soderholm then lined a single to left as Gamble took third on Mitchell Page's lackluster attempt for the ball.

Page finally threw the ball to second, where Rodney Scott committed his second error of the game and Oakland's sixth.

As the ball skipped by Scott, Jorgensen backed up the play and tossed an underhand pass back to Scott as Soderholm tried for second.

The Sox finally scored an earned run in the seventh to lead 8-2 as Lemon tripled to left center. Don Kessinger followed with an RBI single.

Rookie Armstrong in best condition

Bulls' vets open training camp

by DON FRISKE

After spending six days with the rookies, coach Ed Badger greeted his veterans Tuesday night as the Chicago Bulls began preparations for the fast-approaching pro basketball season.

Guard Tate Armstrong, the team's No. 1 draft pick from Duke University, was one rookie who reported to the team physicals with the veterans Tuesday morning.

When the stress tests were completed, Dr. David Bachmann said that Armstrong was in the best shape of the entire group. He also singled out Norm Van Lier, Tom Kropp and John Laskowski, who lost 20 pounds during the off-season.

AS A TEAM, the Bulls reported to their first workout in 20 per cent better condition than last year, according to the team doctor.

Armstrong scored 1,304 points during his collegiate career at Duke for an average of 14.3 a game. He signed a contract with the Bulls Friday night.

Five rookies were cut from the team following Tuesday morning's final practice for the first-year players. Rookies and free agents started practices last Thursday night at the Angel Guardian gym in Chicago.

Among those released were Matt Hicks from Northern Illinois University, David Greene, who played under Badger when he was a coach at Wright Junior College, and Bob Slater, a free agent from Trinity College.

JAY CHESSMAN and Mike Smith were the only two Bulls' draft choices to be cut. Chessman, a 6-9 center from Brigham Young, was picked in the sixth round, and Smith, a 6-6 forward out of Evansville, was chosen in the seventh.

Badger said the remaining rookies are at the proper stage to begin working out with the veterans, who start two practice sessions a day this morning.

"It's a good time for the veterans to come in," the second-year coach said. "We've just been doing a lot of things with the rookies. It's been slow until we get them where we want them."

Badger added that Mark Landsberger has been impressive so far.

ED BADGER

Landsberger, a 6-8 forward from Arizona State, was picked up by the Bulls in the second round of the college draft.

He spent only one season at Arizona State, where he averaged 17.2 points with a .504 field goal percentage. He began his collegiate career at Minnesota with a season scoring average of 15.3 points a game.

Badger also said that guards Mike McConathy and Rich Rhodes have looked good during the rookie sessions.

McConathy, a fifth-round selection from Louisiana Tech, has the ability to penetrate the opponents' defense, an offensive asset which led to a 20.7 scoring average during four seasons in college.

Rhodes is from Eastern Illinois, where he shot .516 from the floor during his senior season. He is only 6-2, but he led EIU in rebounding last year with 188. The Bulls picked Rhodes in the eighth round.

After completing a schedule of eight pre-season contests, the Bulls will open their regular schedule in Cleveland Oct. 18. They open at home against Indiana three days later.

Carlton whips Cubs for 22nd win

PHILADELPHIA — If Cy Young climbed out of the grave tomorrow, they'd probably give him the Steve Carlton Award.

Carlton, the master lefthander of the Philadelphia Phillies, strengthened his bid for a second Cy Young Award, named after the winningest pitcher in baseball history, by whipping the Cubs, 4-2, Tuesday night.

The victory was the 22nd of the season for Carlton against nine defeats. The tall southpaw struck out four and allowed just four base hits as the division-leading Phils came closer to clinching the East title for the second straight year.

ABLE ASSISTANCE was provided by Carlton's bosom buddy and batterymate, Tim McCarver, who blasted a two-run homer and added a sacrifice fly for three RBIs. Slugger Mike Schmidt singled home the first run agains Cub starter and loser Bill Bonham, now 10-12, in the first inning.

McCarver, who catches for Carlton and practically no one else, drove in Garry Maddox from third with his sacrifice fly in the second inning after Maddox had tripled leading off.

The Cubs had scored once in the third inning on a walk to Joe Wallis, a sacrifice bunt by Bonham and an RBI single that Ivan DeJesus blooped into short right field. The run cut Carlton's lead to 2-1.

THE CUBS CHIPPED away at the lead with a two-out run of their own in the sixth when Gene Clines walked and Bill Buckner slammed a run-producing double into the right-field corner. Jose Cardenal ended the rally by flying out.

George Mitterwald delivered a one-out single in the seventh but Mick Kelleher rapped into a double play. Carlton mowed down the Cub batters the rest of the way, sprucing up his credentials for the Young Award, which he last won in 1972.

The Cubs, now 78-73 and 16½ games out of first place, play the Phillies again tonight when Ray Burris goes against Randy Lerch.

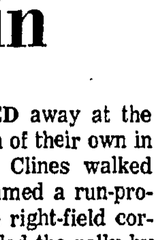
Missouri was a loser more than Illinois was a winner

Loren Tate



CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Look at it this way: the University of Illinois emerged Saturday a lot better off than Notre Dame, Alabama, Maryland, Houston, Georgia and Michigan State.

The Illini won.

Not impressively. The desire was there but the finesse wasn't. They made two harmful boo-boos with just inches to go for important first downs, fumbled away the football three times, threw inadvisedly into a cluster of Missouri defenders for an interception and a permitted Mizzou tailback Earl Gant to gross 177 yards rushing.

But a touchdown, a trick play that worked for a 2-point conversion and a point-blank field goal sufficed for an 11-7 victory.

New coach Gary Moeller saw it as a victory to build on. He was far from jubilant after his brief ride to midfield on the shoulders of co-captain Rickie Mitchem and safety Dale Hardy.

"IT'S GREAT TO win," he said, "but this is no time to celebrate. Both clubs had trouble hanging onto the football, and we made those two crucial mistakes (a motion penalty and off-sides) just inches away from first downs. We certainly need to keep working and improve."

There was no other way to view it. Without improvement, it could be a long afternoon in Stanford next Saturday with senior All-American Guy Benjamin quarterbacking the Cardinal attack.

A green Mizzou backfield fumbled eight times. The overall display was such that one Missourian openly wondered when the 0-2 Tigers might break into the win column against an upcoming schedule of California (2-0), Arizona State, Iowa State and Oklahoma.

The Illini saw favorable signs on the day's fifth and sixth plays from scrimmage. Rookie Mizzou QB Phil Bradley was hit and fumbled for a 14-yard loss, then was sacked for the first of Bruce Thornton's three behind-the-line tackles. After an exchange, Bradley failed on first down to make connections with Leo Lewis on a reverse, creating the Tigers' third straight loss.

THE ULTIMATE total of 71 yards in losses allowed Illinois to outrush Missouri, 217 to 200, even though Mizzou's big tailback, junior Earl Gant, went smashing into the UI secondary on a number of occasions.

This is the same Gant, however, who fumbled a pitch, picked it up and fumbled it again for a 19-yard deficit and loss of possession to diving UI linebacker John Meyer. The field goal that resulted in the third minute of the second quarter affected strategy throughout the remainder of the game.

But early Mizzou misfires were no worse than those committed later. On two occasions midway in the second half the reserve fullback, Gary Forrest, crashed directly into Bradley, the latter occurrence creating a fumble which alert Illini tackle Jim Kogut recovered.

The Illini, needing only a time-eating march to salt away the victory in the fourth period, fumbled it back. But Mizzou ran afoul of a procedure penalty and a Kogut sack of a confused Bradley after reaching the Illini 19 with six minutes to go. Then, in one last bid, the Tigers reeled off 49 yards in six ground plays and were threatening at the UI 31 with two minutes showing when Lewis lost the handle on a Bradley flip, Kogut pouncing on it to clinch the Illini victory.

YES, THE ILLINI had some help on this day. Moeller saw what was happening on the opposite side — the problems Onofrio was having with new offensive personnel — and decided to play it close to the vest. After Steger threw the interception midway in the second quarter, Moeller called just four more passes all day, and only one in the fourth quarter. He gambled that the Illini defense would hold up and it did.

"You can get in a lot of trouble throwing the ball over the middle," he said in reference to Steger's one misguided toss. "Besides, we felt we could move the ball on the ground. I think we could have if we hadn't coughed it up and made those mistakes.

"I'm pleased because we were more aggressive today. We were coming off the line harder both ways. Football is a contact sport, and the winner is usually the one making the hardest contact. We kept Missouri from making the big play today."

Carlton, the master lefthander of the Philadelphia Phillies, strengthened his bid for a second Cy Young Award, named after the winningest pitcher in baseball history, by whipping the Cubs, 4-2, Tuesday night.

The victory was the 22nd of the season for Carlton against nine defeats. The tall southpaw struck out four and allowed just four base hits as the division-leading Phils came closer to clinching the East title for the second straight year.

ABLE ASSISTANCE was provided by Carlton's bosom buddy and batterymate, Tim McCarver, who blasted a two-run homer and added a sacrifice fly for three RBIs. Slugger Mike Schmidt singled home the first run agains Cub starter and loser Bill Bonham, now 10-12, in the first inning.

McCarver, who catches for Carlton and practically no one else, drove in Garry Maddox from third with his sacrifice fly in the second inning after Maddox had tripled leading off.

The Cubs had scored once in the third inning on a walk to Joe Wallis, a sacrifice bunt by Bonham and an RBI single that Ivan DeJesus blooped into short right field. The run cut Carlton's lead to 2-1.

But in the fourth, after Bonham retired Greg Luzinski and Jay Johnstone, Maddox lashed a single and McCarver followed with his home run into the seats in right field.

THE CUBS CHIPPED away at the lead with a two-out run of their own in the sixth when Gene Clines walked and Bill Buckner slammed a run-producing double into the right-field corner. Jose Cardenal ended the rally by flying out.

George Mitterwald delivered a one-out single in the seventh but Mick Kelleher rapped into a double play. Carlton mowed down the Cub batters the rest of the way, sprucing up his credentials for the Young Award, which he last won in 1972.

A home crowd of 32,103 watched the Phillies and Carlton whiz through the game in one hour and 52 minutes.

The Cubs, now 78-73 and 16½ games out of first place, play the Phillies again tonight when Ray Burris goes against Randy Lerch.

Missouri was a loser more than Illinois was a winner

Loren Tate

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Look at it this way: the University of Illinois emerged Saturday a lot better off than Notre Dame, Alabama, Maryland, Houston, Georgia and Michigan State.

The Illini won.

Not impressively. The desire was there but the finesse wasn't. They made two harmful boo-boos with just inches to go for important first downs, fumbled away the football three times, threw inadvisedly into a cluster of Missouri defenders for an interception and a permitted Mizzou tailback Earl Gant to gross 177 yards rushing.

But a touchdown, a trick play that worked for a 2-point conversion and a point-blank field goal sufficed for an 11-7 victory.

New coach Gary Moeller saw it as a victory to build on. He was far from jubilant after his brief ride to midfield on the shoulders of co-captain Rickie Mitchem and safety Dale Hardy.

"IT'S GREAT TO win," he said, "but this is no time to celebrate. Both clubs had trouble hanging onto the football, and we made those two crucial mistakes (a motion penalty and off-sides) just inches away from first downs. We certainly need to keep working and improve."

There was no other way to view it. Without improvement, it could be a long afternoon in Stanford next Saturday with senior All-American Guy Benjamin quarterbacking the Cardinal attack.

A green Mizzou backfield fumbled eight times. The overall display was such that one Missourian openly wondered when the 0-2 Tigers might break into the win column against an upcoming schedule of California (2-0), Arizona State, Iowa State and Oklahoma.

The Illini saw favorable signs on the day's fifth and sixth plays from scrimmage. Rookie Mizzou QB Phil Bradley was hit and fumbled for a 14-yard loss, then was sacked for the first of Bruce Thornton's three behind-the-line tackles. After an exchange, Bradley failed on first down to make connections with Leo Lewis on a reverse, creating the Tigers' third straight loss.

THE ULTIMATE total of 71 yards in losses allowed Illinois to outrush Missouri, 217 to 200, even though Mizzou's big tailback, junior Earl Gant, went smashing into the UI secondary on a number of occasions.

This is the same Gant, however, who fumbled a pitch, picked it up and fumbled it again for a 19-yard deficit and loss of possession to diving UI linebacker John Meyer. The field goal that resulted in the third minute of the second quarter affected strategy throughout the remainder of the game.

But early Mizzou misfires were no worse than those committed later. On two occasions midway in the second half the reserve fullback, Gary Forrest, crashed directly into Bradley, the latter occurrence creating a fumble which alert Illini tackle Jim Kogut recovered.

The Illini, needing only a time-eating march to salt away the victory in the fourth period, fumbled it back. But Mizzou ran afoul of a procedure penalty and a Kogut sack of a confused Bradley after reaching the Illini 19 with six minutes to go. Then, in one last bid, the Tigers reeled off 49 yards in six ground plays and were threatening at the UI 31 with two minutes showing when Lewis lost the handle on a Bradley flip, Kogut pouncing on it to clinch the Illini victory.

YES, THE ILLINI had some help on this day. Moeller saw what was happening on the opposite side — the problems Onofrio was having with new offensive personnel — and decided to play it close to the vest. After Steger threw the interception midway in the second quarter, Moeller called just four more passes all day, and only one in the fourth quarter. He gambled that the Illini defense would hold up and it did.

"You can get in a lot of trouble throwing the ball over the middle," he said in reference to Steger's one misguided toss. "Besides, we felt we could move the ball on the ground. I think we could have if we hadn't coughed it up and made those mistakes.

"I'm pleased because we were more aggressive today. We were coming off the line harder both ways. Football is a contact sport, and the winner is usually the one making the hardest contact. We kept Missouri from making the big play today."

Palatine's cross country team ran into Marist again Tuesday afternoon at the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational, which meant that Tom Johnson, Chuck Elliott and the boys had to face John Haberkorn once more.

Right behind Haberkorn, however, was Palatine senior Kevin Nikolai in second place, followed by Johnson in third. With Chuck Elliott fifth and Jon Dahlgren seventh, the Pirates had no trouble outracing host R-B to the team title with 51 points to 84 for the runnersup though Palatine's regular fifth man couldn't finish the race.

ST. VIATOR senior Dave Efken, the winner at last weekend's Rolling Meadows invitational, came into the chute in fourth place, behind Johnson and ahead of Elliott.

Haberkorn, 40th last year in the state meet, has beaten Johnson, Nikolai, Elliott and the rest of the Pirates twice in the past week. Both Johnson and Elliott finished ahead of the Marist runner in the 1976 state meet, but Nikolai was 153rd in Peoria.

"Nikolai has improved a lot," said Palatine coach Johnson. "He was right with Haberkorn and I think that guy is one of the top 10 guys in the state."

JOHNSON'S TEAM, ranked No. 4 in the state in one coaches' poll, may have suffered a pair of disabling injuries Tuesday when Tom Johnson was spiked and Jon Laegeler had to drop out with a bad knee. Johnson was deeply spiked on the foot early in the race but finished despite the pain. After the meet he was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Laegeler, the Pirates' fifth man ordinarily, couldn't continue, leaving junior Tim Kohn to pick up the slack. Kohn placed 34th.

"Laegeler's injury isn't very serious," said Joe Johnson. "It's in his knee and in his hip."

In other meets, Buffalo Grove dropped a duel to Libertyville, 24-42, despite Joe Schmidt's impressive three-mile win at Adler Park in 16:07; and Forest View whipped Lake Park, 17-43, while tying West Leyeden, 28-28. The Falcons' top finisher was Mike Yaccino in second place.

O's creep up as Palmer wins 18th

from Daily Herald Wire Service

Rookies Eddie Murray and Rich Dauer smashed homers behind Jim Palmer's seven-hitter and 18th victory Tuesday night to help the Baltimore Orioles edge into second place, three games out of first place in the American League East, with a 5-2 triumph over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Palmer, 18-11, saw Murray snap a 1-1 tie with his 23rd homer in the fourth inning. Dauer's third homer against Toronto, and fourth this year, came in the fifth.

A day-long downpour washed out the scheduled season finale between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees, stalling the pennant race for 24 hours.

THE GAME WAS rescheduled for Wednesday night at Fenway Park with Boston's Luis Tiant, 11-8, and Mike Torrez, 16-12, the scheduled pitchers. In the Baltimore win Ken Singleton's two-run bases-loaded single in the seventh chased losing rookie starter Jim Clancy, 4-7, for Tom Murphy. Walks to Mark Belanger, Pat Kelly and a single by Al Bumbry loaded the bases.

Major league baseball

Only 4,301, the second disappointing crowd in as many nights, watched the Orioles keep their pennant hopes alive by boosting their record since August 29 to 18-6. It was Palmer's fifth straight win.

Hal McRae belted a two-run homer and George Brett added two solo shots to give Kansas City a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins, the Royals' 19th win in their last 20 games.

JOE ZDEB DREW a two-out walk in the fifth against Geoff Zahn, 12-13, before McRae unloaded his 19th homer of the season, a 445-foot blast into the left field bullpen, to give the Royals the victory. Paul Splittorff, 15-6, got the win.

Pinch hitter John Wockenfuss' one-out RBI single following Jason Thompson's 29th homer keeyd a two-run rally in the bottom of the 10th inning which provided the Detroit Tigers with a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Jim Slaton hurled an eight-hitter and Sal Bando smashed a two-run single to highlight a four run fifth inning which carried the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners before the smallest County Stadium crowd of the year — 3,004.

In the National League club RBI leader Bill Robinson singled in the tie-breaking run during a two-run eighth inning that helped John Candelaria gain his 18th victory and the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 triumph over the New York Mets.

Ed Herrmann and Art Howe each drove in two runs and Cesar Cedeno went 3 for 4 and equalled a club record for hitting in 21 consecutive games, to lead the Houston Astros to a 6-3 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Paddock league bowlers show mid-season form

by DON CHRISTENSEN

After a week's action in the Paddock Classic, some bowlers started to show mid-season form at Hoffman Lanes with eight keglers reaching the 600 plateau in the six-team circuit.

Dick Jensen and Ed Main shared league honors with 681 series. The Weber Bar-B-Que Kettles duo led their teammates to a three-game sweep and 26-point total over Formco Metal Products.

In the first game Weber's warmed up with a 944-891 triumph over Formco. Weber's Kettles set a season high of 1159 in the second game when Jensen, Lou Diegel and Main combined totals of 758 to place them over a respectful 1005 for Formco Metal.

THE LAST GAME also went to Weber's when Jensen rolled 235 to lead a close 966-956 win. Mike Heffener's 611 and Fred Hansen's 604 were high for Formco. Weber's 2069 team series also set a season's high for the league.

Beverly Lanes protected its league lead when it overcame Sim's Bowl, 18-14. They accomplished this by winning the first two games on totals of 913 and 963, good for 17 points.

Sim's Bowl roared back the last game with 1018, which gave them high game point and a springboard to the series point when they totaled 2833.

Jim Thompson ignited the last game with 237 while teammate Rey Ischer had high individual series in the match with 621. Bob Glaser shot a consistent 588 for Beverly Lanes.

IN THE REMAINING match Dick McFeely Pontiac maintained second place when it took two of three games from Des Plaines Ace Hardware on efforts of 970, 893 and 963 for a 2846 series while Des Plaines rolled to 862, 963 and 943 and a 2768 series.

In the first game Bill Palkovics of Dick McFeely hit the pocket consistently for a big 265 to pace the attack over Ace. In the second, Ace Hardware bounced back when Glen Chesser had every ball in the pocket consistently for a big 265 to pace the attack over Ace. In the second, Ace Hardware bounced back when Glen Chesser had every ball in the pocket but one for 264.

Gerry Withey's 226 and Mike Tassone's 212 was all Dick McFeely needed in the last game to beat Des Plaines Ace 983 to 943. Highs in the match were Des Plaines Ace Hardware's Chesser with 637 while Dick McFeely's Palkovic and Ray Baccus hit 613 and 605, respectively.

Saturday the league moves to Buffalo Grove Striker Lanes for the first time this season with the following schedule: Formco Metal vs. Beverly Lanes, Weber's Kettles vs. Dick McFeely Pontiac and Sim's Bowl vs. Des Plaines Ace Hardware.

STANDINGS

STANDINGS

L-Tran Engineering 14, Striking Lanes 9, Tower Cleaners 7, Ten Pin Bowl 7, Peterson Tire Corporation 7, Mason Shoes 5, Ziebart of Des Plaines 5, Thunderbird Country Club 2.

Petterson sweeps 7 in league

The Petterson Tire Corp. found an effortless way to sweep seven points in the Paddock Classic Women's Traveling Bowling League. Petterson racked up the blitz when Thunderbird Country Club was involved in a rare forfeiture.

Petterson made certain the score stood as Bobbie Kostelny fired a 547 series off a 225 finishing game, Winnie Lohse added 526 and Georgette DeRosa 501.

Jeffrey Lanes also produced sweeps for league-leading L-Tran Engineering and Striking Lanes while Ziebart of Des Plaines trimmed Ten Pin Bowl, 5-2.

L-TRAN MAINTAINED a spotless record with its second whitewash of the young season as anchorwoman Lorrie Nichols registered a booming 620 series, from games of 236, 202 and 182.

Adding support for the winners was Shirley Schultz' 540, Marlis Pleickhardt's 537 and a 533 by Isobel Kosi.

Mason Shoes, victimized by the L-Tran onslaught, counted Sally Jo Gerard's 525-201, Peggy Wales' 510 and Sandi Cirullo's 505.

Tower Cleaners absorbed the brunt of the attack as Jan Broderick's 471 led the way.

In the only split decision, Ziebart won the opening game by a mere six pins and the finale by 120 to capture five points from Ten Pin. Pat Coleantonio hit 576 and 221 while Irene Andrews notched a 212 last game for 529.

Cross country team runs into fast Marist winner

Palatine's cross country team ran into Marist again Tuesday afternoon at the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational, which meant that Tom Johnson, Chuck Elliott and the boys had to face John Haberkorn once more.

And Haberkorn, whom Palatine coach Joe Johnson calls "one of the top 10 guys in the state," was the individual winner on a chilly day when most sensible runners were nestled up with a hot chocolate.

Right behind Haberkorn, however, was Palatine senior Kevin Nikolai in second place, followed by Johnson in third. With Chuck Elliott fifth and Jon Dahlgren seventh, the Pirates had no trouble outracing host R-B to the team title with 51 points to 84 for the runnersup though Palatine's regular fifth man couldn't finish the race.

ST. VIATOR senior Dave Efken, the winner at last weekend's Rolling Meadows invitational, came into the chute in fourth place, behind Johnson and ahead of Elliott.

Haberkorn, 40th last year in the state meet, has beaten Johnson, Nikolai, Elliott and the rest of the Pirates twice in the past week. Both Johnson and Elliott finished ahead of the Marist runner in the 1976 state meet, but Nikolai was 153rd in Peoria.

"Nikolai has improved a lot," said Palatine coach Johnson. "He was right with Haberkorn and I think that guy is one of the top 10 guys in the state."

JOHNSON'S TEAM, ranked No. 4 in the state in one coaches' poll, may have suffered a pair of disabling injuries Tuesday when Tom Johnson was spiked and Jon Laegeler had to drop out with a bad knee. Johnson was deeply spiked on the foot early in the race but finished despite the pain. After the meet he was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Laegeler, the Pirates' fifth man ordinarily, couldn't continue, leaving junior Tim Kohn to pick up the slack. Kohn placed 34th.

"Laegeler's injury isn't very serious," said Joe Johnson. "It's in his knee and in his hip."

In other meets, Buffalo Grove dropped a duel to Libertyville, 24-42, despite Joe Schmidt's impressive three-mile win at Adler Park in 16:07; and Forest View whipped Lake Park, 17-43, while tying West Leyeden, 28-28. The Falcons' top finisher was Mike Yaccino in second place.

O's creep up as Palmer wins 18th

from Daily Herald Wire Service

Rookies Eddie Murray and Rich Dauer smashed homers behind Jim Palmer's seven-hitter and 18th victory Tuesday night to help the Baltimore Orioles edge into second place, three games out of first place in the American League East, with a 5-2 triumph over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Palmer, 18-11, saw Murray snap a 1-1 tie with his 23rd homer in the fourth inning. Dauer's third homer against Toronto, and fourth this year, came in the fifth.

A day-long downpour washed out the scheduled season finale between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees, stalling the pennant race for 24 hours.

THE GAME WAS rescheduled for Wednesday night at Fenway Park with Boston's Luis Tiant, 11-8, and Mike Torrez, 16-12, the scheduled pitchers. In the Baltimore win Ken Singleton's two-run bases-loaded single in the seventh chased losing rookie starter Jim Clancy, 4-7, for Tom Murphy. Walks to Mark Belanger, Pat Kelly and a single by Al Bumbry loaded the bases.

Major league baseball

Only 4,301, the second disappointing crowd in as many nights, watched the Orioles keep their pennant hopes alive by boosting their record since August 29 to 18-6. It was Palmer's fifth straight win.

Hal McRae belted a two-run homer and George Brett added two solo shots to give Kansas City a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins, the Royals' 19th win in their last 20 games.

JOE ZDEB DREW a two-out walk in the fifth against Geoff Zahn, 12-13, before McRae unloaded his 19th homer of the season, a 445-foot blast into the left field bullpen, to give the Royals the victory. Paul Splittorff, 15-6, got the win.

Pinch hitter John Wockenfuss' one-out RBI single following Jason Thompson's 29th homer keeyd a two-run rally in the bottom of the 10th inning which provided the Detroit Tigers with a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Jim Slaton hurled an eight-hitter and Sal Bando smashed a two-run single to highlight a four run fifth inning which carried the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners before the smallest County Stadium crowd of the year — 3,004.

In the National League club RBI leader Bill Robinson singled in the tie-breaking run during a two-run eighth inning that helped John Candelaria gain his 18th victory and the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 triumph over the New York Mets.

Ed Herrmann and Art Howe each drove in two runs and Cesar Cedeno went 3 for 4 and equalled a club record for hitting in 21 consecutive games, to lead the Houston Astros to a 6-3 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Paddock league bowlers show mid-season form

by DON CHRISTENSEN

After a week's action in the Paddock Classic, some bowlers started to show mid-season form at Hoffman Lanes with eight keglers reaching the 600 plateau in the six-team circuit.

Dick Jensen and Ed Main shared league honors with 681 series. The Weber Bar-B-Que Kettles duo led their teammates to a three-game sweep and 26-point total over Formco Metal Products.

In the first game Weber's warmed up with a 944-891 triumph over Formco. Weber's Kettles set a season high of 1159 in the second game when Jensen, Lou Diegel and Main combined totals of 758 to place them over a respectful 1005 for Formco Metal.

THE LAST GAME also went to Weber's when Jensen rolled 235 to lead a close 966-956 win. Mike Heffener's 611 and Fred Hansen's 604 were high for Formco. Weber's 2069 team series also set a season's high for the league.

Beverly Lanes protected its league lead when it overcame Sim's Bowl, 18-14. They accomplished this by winning the first two games on totals of 913 and 963, good for 17 points.

Sim's Bowl roared back the last game with 1018, which gave them high game point and a springboard to the series point when they totaled 2833.

Jim Thompson ignited the last game with 237 while teammate Rey Ischer had high individual series in the match with 621. Bob Glaser shot a consistent 588 for Beverly Lanes.

IN THE REMAINING match Dick McFeely Pontiac maintained second place when it took two of three games from Des Plaines Ace Hardware on efforts of 970, 893 and 983 for a 2846 series while Des Plaines rolled to 862, 963 and 943 and a 2768 series.

In the first game Bill Palkovics of Dick McFeely hit the pocket consistently for a big 265 to pace the attack over Ace. In the second, Ace Hardware bounced back when Glen Chesser had every ball in the pocket consistently for a big 265 to pace the attack over Ace. In the second, Ace Hardware bounced back when Glen Chesser had every ball in the pocket but one for 264.

Gerry Withey's 226 and Mike Tassone's 212 was all Dick McFeely needed in the last game to beat Des Plaines Ace 983 to 943. Highs in the match were Des Plaines Ace Hardware's Chesser with 637 while Dick McFeely's Palkovic and Ray Baccus hit 613 and 605, respectively.

Saturday the league moves to Buffalo Grove Striker Lanes for the first time this season with the following schedule: Formco Metal vs. Beverly Lanes, Weber's Kettles vs. Dick McFeely Pontiac and Sim's Bowl vs. Des Plaines Ace Hardware.

STANDINGS

Beverly Lanes 44, Dick McFeely Pontiac 40, Weber's Kettles 32, Des Plaines Ace Hardware 29, Sim's Bowl 25, Formco Metal Products 22.

Petterson sweeps 7 in league

The Petterson Tire Corp. found an effortless way to sweep seven points in the Paddock Classic Women's Traveling Bowling League. Petterson racked up the blitz when Thunderbird Country Club was involved in a rare forfeiture.

Petterson made certain the score stood as Bobbie Kostelny fired a 547 series off a 225 finishing game, Winnie Lohse added 526 and Georgette DeRosa 501.

Jeffrey Lanes also produced sweeps for league-leading L-Tran Engineering and Striking Lanes while Ziebart of Des Plaines trimmed Ten Pin Bowl, 5-2.

L-TRAN MAINTAINED a spotless record with its second whitewash of the young season as anchorwoman Lorrie Nichols registered a booming 620 series, from games of 236, 202 and 182.

Adding support for the winners was Shirley Schultz' 540, Marlis Pleickhardt's 537 and a 533 by Isobel Kosi.

Mason Shoes, victimized by the L-Tran onslaught, counted Sally Jo Gerard's 525-201, Peggy Wales' 510 and Sandi Cirullo's 505.

Striking Lanes rode the hot hand of Bette Brelle who erupted for a lofty 615 series including a 232 middle game sandwiched by a 189 and 194. Teammate Lu Schoenberger matched the 232 second game effort for a 572 series.

Tower Cleaners absorbed the brunt of the attack as Jan Broderick's 471 led the way.

In the only split decision, Ziebart won the opening game by a mere six pins and the finale by 120 to capture five points from Ten Pin. Pat Coleantonio hit 576 and 221 while Irene Andrews notched a 212 last game for 529.

STANDINGS

L-Tran Engineering 14, Striking Lanes 9, Tower Cleaners 7, Ten Pin Bowl 7, Peterson Tire Corporation 7, Mason Shoes 5, Ziebart of Des Plaines 5, Thunderbird Country Club 2.

Fremd's soccer not hurt by layoff

by KEITH REINHARD

No, Fremd High School didn't get stale during its hibernation.

The Viking soccer team took a "vacation" from play last week but came back just as strong as ever Tuesday night, jumping into a 3-0 lead and then coasting to their fourth straight win of the season against visiting Arlington, 5-2.

Coach Bill Stark's charges had contests with both Rolling Meadows and Barrington rained out last week while going more than 10 days without a game.

"I don't think it hurt the kids a bit," reported the Viking coach. "If anything, they came out pretty fired up and anxious to play tonight."

MIKE MITSCH put the hosts on the scoreboard after a scoreless first quarter, heading in a five-yarder that Kurt Blechner had centered. Blechner then scored himself and Fremd led 2-0 at halftime.

Jerry Norys sandwiched a pair of third period goals around a 15-yarder by Arlington's Kurt Wiebe. Mitsch rounded out the Fremd scoring while Steve Jones plunked in the second Cardinal tally.

In other contests Tuesday, Barrington stunned Prospect, 4-1, Palatine nipped Hersey, 3-2, Wheeling blanked Buffalo Grove, 4-0, and Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates played to a 1-1 tie.

Eric Johansson drove home the lone Knight goal in their setback to the Broncos while teammate Pete Wodarz played a strong game on defense. The setback dropped Prospect's overall slate to 2-3.

THE PIRATES registered their first North Division triumph despite playing nearly half the game with only ten men. Bob Curylo accounted for two Palatine goals and Dave Simons was credited with the other while Randy Stewart had two assists.

One of the Hersey scores was registered by John Mantanes, his eighth of the year.

The Wildcats upped their record to 5-0 in a game played on the Wheeling field. Louis Restrepo slammed in a pair of penalty shots for the 'Cats and Rainer Engelmann and John Byckowski also got into the scoring act.

The shutout went to Wheeling goalie Dale Walters.

HOFFMAN ESTATES went up 1-0 over the Mustangs on a Frank Mueller goal aided by Mark Chalmers with 11:27 to go in the first half.

Meadows knotted the game on a Gary Cook to Gene Robertson play with 10:52 to go in the game and the two teams went through a pair of overtimes before the 1-1 stalemate held up.

The Mustangs are now 2-3-1 and the Hawks are 0-3-1 overall.

In a non-conference outing at Forest View the Falcons were ripped by a powerful New Trier East team 6-1. Mike Hrbacek scored the lone Falcon goal on a pass from Wally Heger, the first score against the Indians in five games this season.

Shock dog collars called dangerous

Dave Terrill

Just dogs

With the hunting season close at hand and a lot of owners putting in a lot of hours in training, a few remarks about some sound-activated dog collars used to control barking are in order.

The Food and Drug Administration recently stated that about 33,000 of the devices sold through the mail can emit excessive voltage, possibly hurting the dog and causing a painful shock to people handling it.

The FDA tests showed that the collars, intended to train a dog not to bark by producing a mild electric shock, could produce shocks up to 10 times stronger than indicated on the label.

The FDA also found that sounds other than the dog barking could trigger the device. These include a human making a barking sound, another dog barking, clapping hands loudly, some automobile horns and some whistling sounds.

As reported by Gaines Dog Research Center, the FDA advises dog owners who have these collars to stop using them. The FDA also said the findings do not involve remote-control electrical dog collars operated by the owners and used in training hunting dogs.

COLLIE SYMPOSIUM — The Central States Collie Club will host the 17th annual symposium of the United Collie Clubs of the Midwest on Oct. 1, at the O'Hare Holiday Inn, 3801 N. Mannheim Rd., in Schiller Park.

The all day event starts with registration at 8 a.m., meeting of delegates at 9 a.m., and then a program on collies. Starting at 1 p.m., three veterinarians will speak on "Canine Pediatrics," "Canine Hip Dysplasia and Gastric Torsion" and on "Practical Dermatology."

Cost for registration is $6, registration and dinner (7 p.m.) $13, dinner only, $8.50. Reservations close Saturday. If you want to attend, send a check made payable to the Central States Collie Club, Inc., to Mrs. Susan Christie, Rte. 2, Box 62, Ivanhoe, Ill, 60060. For more information, call 312-831-2366.

WORKING CERTIFICATE TEST — Owners of Golden Retrievers will have a chance to earn a Working Certificate with their dogs when the Golden Retriever Club of Illinois holds an annual test at 10 a.m., Oct. 1, at the Des Plaines Wildlife Conservation Area, Joliet.

Entries close Monday, or when the 25-dog limit has been reached. The entry fee is $10 with checks made payable to the club and sent to John Bixby, 23W580 Pine Dr., Wheaton, 60187.

HANDLERS LICENSE — At the delegates meeting of the American Kennel Club held on Sept. 13, it was voted to abolish the licensing of professional handlers by the American Kennel Club, effective Jan. 1, 1978.

Those who hold licenses now will not have a renewal made after their expiration date.

BARKS AND BAYS — Care to guess on which number comes closest to the number of students attending American veterinary medical colleges in 1976-77 — 7,000, 9,000 or 10,000?

Fremd's soccer not hurt by layoff

by KEITH REINHARD

No, Fremd High School didn't get stale during its hibernation.

The Viking soccer team took a "vacation" from play last week but came back just as strong as ever Tuesday night, jumping into a 3-0 lead and then coasting to their fourth straight win of the season against visiting Arlington, 5-2.

Coach Bill Stark's charges had contests with both Rolling Meadows and Barrington rained out last week while going more than 10 days without a game.

"I don't think it hurt the kids a bit," reported the Viking coach. "If anything, they came out pretty fired up and anxious to play tonight."

MIKE MITSCH put the hosts on the scoreboard after a scoreless first quarter, heading in a five-yarder that Kurt Blechner had centered. Blechner then scored himself and Fremd led 2-0 at halftime.

Jerry Norys sandwiched a pair of third period goals around a 15-yarder by Arlington's Kurt Wiebe. Mitsch rounded out the Fremd scoring while Steve Jones plunked in the second Cardinal tally.

In other contests Tuesday, Barrington stunned Prospect, 4-1, Palatine nipped Hersey, 3-2, Wheeling blanked Buffalo Grove, 4-0, and Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates played to a 1-1 tie.

Eric Johansson drove home the lone Knight goal in their setback to the Broncos while teammate Pete Wodarz played a strong game on defense. The setback dropped Prospect's overall slate to 2-3.

THE PIRATES registered their first North Division triumph despite playing nearly half the game with only ten men. Bob Curylo accounted for two Palatine goals and Dave Simons was credited with the other while Randy Stewart had two assists.

One of the Hersey scores was registered by John Mantanes, his eighth of the year.

The Wildcats upped their record to 5-0 in a game played on the Wheeling field. Louis Restrepo slammed in a pair of penalty shots for the 'Cats and Rainer Engelmann and John Byckowski also got into the scoring act.

The shutout went to Wheeling goalie Dale Walters.

HOFFMAN ESTATES went up 1-0 over the Mustangs on a Frank Mueller goal aided by Mark Chalmers with 11:27 to go in the first half.

Meadows knotted the game on a Gary Cook to Gene Robertson play with 10:52 to go in the game and the two teams went through a pair of overtimes before the 1-1 stalemate held up.

The Mustangs are now 2-3-1 and the Hawks are 0-3-1 overall.

In a non-conference outing at Forest View the Falcons were ripped by a powerful New Trier East team 6-1. Mike Hrbacek scored the lone Falcon goal on a pass from Wally Heger, the first score against the Indians in five games this season.

Shock dog collars called dangerous

Dave Terrill

Just dogs

With the hunting season close at hand and a lot of owners putting in a lot of hours in training, a few remarks about some sound-activated dog collars used to control barking are in order.

The Food and Drug Administration recently stated that about 33,000 of the devices sold through the mail can emit excessive voltage, possibly hurting the dog and causing a painful shock to people handling it.

The FDA tests showed that the collars, intended to train a dog not to bark by producing a mild electric shock, could produce shocks up to 10 times stronger than indicated on the label.

The FDA also found that sounds other than the dog barking could trigger the device. These include a human making a barking sound, another dog barking, clapping hands loudly, some automobile horns and some whistling sounds.

As reported by Gaines Dog Research Center, the FDA advises dog owners who have these collars to stop using them. The FDA also said the findings do not involve remote-control electrical dog collars operated by the owners and used in training hunting dogs.

Visit to Marquette opens Cubans' trip

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — The national men's basketball team of Cuba will play eight games in the United States in November, opening against defending NCAA champion Marquette Nov. 12, the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States announced Tuesday.

Cuba will visit South Dakota State Nov. 13 and the University of South Dakota Nov. 15. Members of the two South Dakota teams visited Cuba in April, the first U.S. sports team to play in Cuba in 17 years. Cuba won the games, 91-72 and 88-69.

The Cubans will play at the University of Minneapolis Nov. 16, University of New Mexico Nov. 18, Arizona State Nov. 21, Memphis State Nov. 23 and Holy Cross Nov. 25. The games will be played during International Basketball Week.

Six national teams, Cuba, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Portugal, Taiwan and Scotland, plus the Melborne Club team of Australia, Banik Ostrava Club of Czechoslovakia and University of Chihuahua in Mexico will play 52 games in the U.S. Nov. 12-21.

Bavasi retires from Padres' post

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, his team in turmoil after a year of ill-timed injuries and free agent frustrations, announced his retirement Tuesday night as president of the San Diego Padres.

Bavasi, who after 17 years as a successful vice president-general manager for the Brooklyn-Los Angeles Dodgers when they won eight pennants, was lured away in 1968 to take control of the expansion Padres.

Under Bavasi's stewardship, the Padres never reached higher than fourth place in the National League West.

But this year, with a major infusion of money from the club's owner, hamburger czar Ray Kroc, the Padres invested heavily in the free agent market. As a result, pre-season expectations ran high, but those hopes were quickly dashed when the club's pitching staff was decimated by the loss of ace left-handers Randy Jones and Brent Strom due to injuries.

Cav vet Nate Thurmond retires

RICHFIELD, OHIO — Nate Thurmond, a key man in the Cleveland Cavaliers' National Basketball Association playoff drives the past two seasons, announced his retirement Tuesday as the Cavs opened training camp.

Thurmond, 36, opened the 1975-76 season with the Chicago Bulls prior to being dealt to the Cavaliers. He played 14 years in the NBA but underwent knee surgery last year and had not been able to work himself into playing condition.

A graduate of Bowling Green State University, Thurmond's prime contributions to the team were leadership, defense and rebounding.

The 6-11, 230-pound native of Akron, Ohio, joined the NBA with San Francisco — where he now lives — for the 1963-64 season and averaged 10.4 points per game as a rookie.

He averaged about 15 points per game for his career and with more than 14,000 career rebounds, is fourth on the NBA's all-time list.

He was named to the league's all-star team seven times.

Nastase downed by 'wonder' racket

PARIS — Little-known Frenchman Georges Goven used a double-stringed "wonder" racket to upset Romanian star Ilie Nastase, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, Tuesday in the first round of the $50,000 Poree Cup Grand Prix tennis tournament.

Nastase immediately protested Goven's use of the unorthodox racket and asked to have it banned from the tournament. He was joined by Frenchman Patrice Dominguez, a 6-2, 6-4 first-round victim of Australian Dick Crealy, who also used the "wonder" racket.

The racket in question has two strings where a normal racket has one. Its users claim that it gives added speed and lift to the serve and forehand stroke. So do some of its victims.

"That's the first time I've played against someone using one of those things," the outspoken Nastase said aftewards. "It's also the last. In the future I shall refuse to play someone using a device like that."

Bowling

At Fair Lanes

Diana scored the top team series with 2290 at the Thors Thunderbusters League at Fair Lanes Sept. 15. Nancy Andrer with 491, Betty Jacknew with 486, Lois Graham with 457 and Marge Kreptor with 453 were the high individual series scorers. Andrer with 188 and Helen Bahes with 180 had the high game scores. Sally Moquin picked up the 5-7 split, and Julie Bernstein converted the 1-2-4-10.

At Beverly Lanes

Mary Dalfones rolled the first 200 gam of the season — 200 even — in the third week of bowling at the Elks Ladies Auxiliary No. 2048 League at Beverly Lanes Sept. 15. Barb Rivard was close behind with a 196. Fran Lucas converted the 5-7 split. High game of 603 was rolled by the Terrible Three. The Floaters had the high team series with 1666. High handicap games were turned in by Rivard with 252, Perschbacher with 213, Kramer with 211, McDermott with 209 and Quill with 200. Pat Greener's 516 series from the first week is still the high.

At Schaumburg Lanes

In its second week of bowling, Mr. Duke's Restaurant rolled a 2317 with Kathy Fritz with 494, Lois Byford with 486 and Jan Steffens with 471 high for the team at the Evening Stars League at Schaumburg Lanes Sept. 14. Other high bowlers for the evening were Karen Tippey with 537-204, June Marshall with 507-206 and Nancy Sonzo with 487-170.

The O.T.S.'s rolled a 1717 series to top all teams at the Matiree Ladies League at Schaumburg Lanes Sept. 14. The BG's rolled a 631 for top team game, while Bette Solomon with 193 and Barb Varada with 174, Nancy Runde with 182, Ginger Bradley with 174 and Barb Conroy with 171 had the high individual games.

Big Ten impressive

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes ranks No. 4 on the all-time coaches list for most victories with 222 in 27 years of collegiate coaching. Still ahead of Hayes are Amos Alonzo Stagg (314), Glenn (Pop) Warner (313) and Paul (Bear) Bryant (262).

The 10 largest college-football crowds in the 29 seasons that official national attendance records have been maintained have all been at the University of Michigan Stadium. The largest is the 105,543 that saw the 1975 classic between Ohio State and Michigan which the Buckeyes won 21-14. In the other nine games, the Wolverines have won seven and tied two.

Palatine man captures Herald football contest

Anderson correctly chose the winners in 17 of 20 weekend high school, junior college, college and professional football games.

"I SENT IN several blanks," Anderson said. "I tried to find some games that I would keep the same on every blank, while others I switched.

"Last year, I entered every week and tied the winner one week, but lost in the tie-breaker."

Anderson wins a Thermos Sports Kit and becomes eligible for the Grand Prize trip for two to the 1978 Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. The Grand Prize winner is chosen by drawing from among the 11 winners this season.

This week's selections contained the usual number of upsets, several of which Anderson predicted. His only mistakes were saying Elk Grove would beat Barrington, Elgin Larkin would top Glenbard South and Minnesota would stop Dallas.

BARRINGTON beat Elk Grove 7-0, Glenbard South won 6-0 over Larkin and Dallas edged Minnesota 16-10 in overtime.

Visit to Marquette opens Cubans' trip

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — The national men's basketball team of Cuba will play eight games in the United States in November, opening against defending NCAA champion Marquette Nov. 12, the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States announced Tuesday.

Cuba will visit South Dakota State Nov. 13 and the University of South Dakota Nov. 15. Members of the two South Dakota teams visited Cuba in April, the first U.S. sports team to play in Cuba in 17 years. Cuba won the games, 91-72 and 88-69.

The Cubans will play at the University of Minneapolis Nov. 16, University of New Mexico Nov. 18, Arizona State Nov. 21, Memphis State Nov. 23 and Holy Cross Nov. 25. The games will be played during International Basketball Week.

Six national teams, Cuba, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Portugal, Taiwan and Scotland, plus the Melborne Club team of Australia, Banik Ostrava Club of Czechoslovakia and University of Chihuahua in Mexico will play 52 games in the U.S. Nov. 12-21.

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, his team in turmoil after a year of ill-timed injuries and free agent frustrations, announced his retirement Tuesday night as president of the San Diego Padres.

Bavasi, who after 17 years as a successful vice president-general manager for the Brooklyn-Los Angeles Dodgers when they won eight pennants, was lured away in 1968 to take control of the expansion Padres.

Under Bavasi's stewardship, the Padres never reached higher than fourth place in the National League West.

But this year, with a major infusion of money from the club's owner, hamburger czar Ray Kroc, the Padres invested heavily in the free agent market. As a result, pre-season expectations ran high, but those hopes were quickly dashed when the club's pitching staff was decimated by the loss of ace left-handers Randy Jones and Brent Strom due to injuries.

Cav vet Nate Thurmond retires

RICHFIELD, OHIO — Nate Thurmond, a key man in the Cleveland Cavaliers' National Basketball Association playoff drives the past two seasons, announced his retirement Tuesday as the Cavs opened training camp.

Thurmond, 36, opened the 1975-76 season with the Chicago Bulls prior to being dealt to the Cavaliers. He played 14 years in the NBA but underwent knee surgery last year and had not been able to work himself into playing condition.

A graduate of Bowling Green State University, Thurmond's prime contributions to the team were leadership, defense and rebounding.

The 6-11, 230-pound native of Akron, Ohio, joined the NBA with San Francisco — where he now lives — for the 1963-64 season and averaged 10.4 points per game as a rookie.

He averaged about 15 points per game for his career and with more than 14,000 career rebounds, is fourth on the NBA's all-time list.

He was named to the league's all-star team seven times.

Nastase downed by 'wonder' racket

PARIS — Little-known Frenchman Georges Goven used a double-stringed "wonder" racket to upset Romanian star Ilie Nastase, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, Tuesday in the first round of the $50,000 Poree Cup Grand Prix tennis tournament.

Nastase immediately protested Goven's use of the unorthodox racket and asked to have it banned from the tournament. He was joined by Frenchman Patrice Dominguez, a 6-2, 6-4 first-round victim of Australian Dick Crealy, who also used the "wonder" racket.

The racket in question has two strings where a normal racket has one. Its users claim that it gives added speed and lift to the serve and forehand stroke. So do some of its victims.

"That's the first time I've played against someone using one of those things," the outspoken Nastase said aftewards. "It's also the last. In the future I shall refuse to play someone using a device like that."

Bowling

At Fair Lanes

Diana scored the top team series with 2290 at the Thors Thunderbusters League at Fair Lanes Sept. 15. Nancy Andrer with 491, Betty Jacknew with 486, Lois Graham with 457 and Marge Kreptor with 453 were the high individual series scorers. Andrer with 188 and Helen Bahes with 180 had the high game scores. Sally Moquin picked up the 5-7 split, and Julie Bernstein converted the 1-2-4-10.

At Beverly Lanes

Mary Dalfones rolled the first 200 gam of the season — 200 even — in the third week of bowling at the Elks Ladies Auxiliary No. 2048 League at Beverly Lanes Sept. 15. Barb Rivard was close behind with a 196. Fran Lucas converted the 5-7 split. High game of 603 was rolled by the Terrible Three. The Floaters had the high team series with 1666. High handicap games were turned in by Rivard with 252, Perschbacher with 213, Kramer with 211, McDermott with 209 and Quill with 200. Pat Greener's 516 series from the first week is still the high.

At Schaumburg Lanes

In its second week of bowling, Mr. Duke's Restaurant rolled a 2317 with Kathy Fritz with 494, Lois Byford with 486 and Jan Steffens with 471 high for the team at the Evening Stars League at Schaumburg Lanes Sept. 14. Other high bowlers for the evening were Karen Tippey with 537-204, June Marshall with 507-206 and Nancy Sonzo with 487-170.

The O.T.S.'s rolled a 1717 series to top all teams at the Matinee Ladies League at Schaumburg Lanes Sept. 14. The BG's rolled a 631 for top team game, while Bette Solomon with 192 and Barb Varada with 174, Nancy Runde with 182, Ginger Bradley with 174 and Barb Conroy with 171 had the high individual games.

Big Ten impressive

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes ranks No. 4 on the all-time coaches list for most victories with 222 in 27 years of collegiate coaching. Still ahead of Hayes are Amos Alonzo Stagg (314), Glenn (Pop) Warner (313) and Paul (Bear) Bryant (262).

The 10 largest college-football crowds in the 29 seasons that official national attendance records have been maintained have all been at the University of Michigan Stadium. The largest is the 105,543 that saw the 1975 classic between Ohio State and Michigan which the Buckeyes won 21-14. In the other nine games, the Wolverines have won seven and tied two.

Palatine man captures Herald football contest

Anderson correctly chose the winners in 17 of 20 weekend high school, junior college, college and professional football games.

"I SENT IN several blanks," Anderson said. "I tried to find some games that I would keep the same on every blank, while others I switched.

"Last year, I entered every week and tied the winner one week, but lost in the tie-breaker."

Anderson wins a Thermos Sports Kit and becomes eligible for the Grand Prize trip for two to the 1978 Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. The Grand Prize winner is chosen by drawing from among the 11 winners this season.

This week's selections contained the usual number of upsets, several of which Anderson predicted. His only mistakes were saying Elk Grove would beat Barrington, Elgin Larkin would top Glenbard South and Minnesota would stop Dallas.

BARRINGTON beat Elk Grove 7-0, Glenbard South won 6-0 over Larkin and Dallas edged Minnesota 16-10 in overtime.

Bob Anderson

The rest of the week's high school selections and final scores were: Elgin 56, Joliet West 6; Forest View 14, Hersey 8; Wheeling 8, Schaumburg 3; Fremd 24, Hoffman Estates 0; Prospect 21, Palatine 7; Conant 15, Arlington 8; Maine West 13, Niles North 6; Stevenson 35, Grayslake 7; St. Viator 21, Chicago Weber 10; and Crystal Lake 13, Lake Park 7.

College scores were: Illinois Valley 27, Harper 7; Arizona State 35, Northwestern 3; and Illinois 11, Missouri 7. Professional scores were: Green Bay 24, New Orleans 10; New England 21, Kansas City 17; and Chicago 30, Detroit 20.
